Drudgery, Harsh Word.
Very Old Crocodile.
Russia, Two Views.
Happy Aga Khan.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

RAISED by his own effort from humble workman to British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald gives advice for success that will not attract modern youth.

"Accustom yourself to drudgery.

"Get your heart into your work, whatever it may be, for work without heart is dead.

"Discipline yourself to drudgery, for by that you gain a mastery both over yourself and the world."

THAT word "drudgery" has a harsh sound. But without drudgery there is no great success, even for genius. Edison's definition of genius, "ten per cent inspiration, 90 per cent perspiration," applies to every form of genius, from Phidias to Michael Angelo, from Michael Angelo to Pasteur.

Sons of great men rarely make a mark in the world. Their fathers' success enables them to escape drudgery.

THE American Museum of Natural History includes in treasures recently acquired the fossil skeleton of a crocodile said by scientists to be fifty million years old.

It seems strange to think of a day 49,988,000 years before the late stone age of man when that crocodile, with long mouth, low forehead, sluggish movements, was perhaps the most intelligent being on earth.

AFTER trying to digest that, you read in Eddington's "Nature of the Physical World" that matter on the constellation of Sirius weighs about 2,000 pounds to the cubic inch.

The high temperature, if you wish an explanation, breaks up (ionizes) the outer electron systems of the atoms, so that fragments can be packed more closely together.

IT is as though our solar system were packed full of suns or planets, instead of having them scattered far apart. The system would weigh more.

Fifty-million-year-old crocodiles and crowded atoms make you feel that pure science must be meant for the few.

RUSSIA agrees to withdraw from India propaganda apostles preaching Communism to Hindus.

Britain renews full diplomatic and commercial relations, and will lend Russia $60,000,000 to start business going, which is common sense.

OUR government thinks it is our duty to regulate Russia's government and refuses to recognize Russia.

American big business is wiser. The General Electric Company, of which Gerard Swope is president and Mr. Young chairman of the board, gives Russia credit for more than twenty millions as a start, sells to Russia vast quantities of machinery, including machinery for generating electricty by water power, biggest of its kind ever made.

HENRY FORD sends his best engineers abroad to help the Russians organize tractor factories, and gives Russia extensive credits. General Electric and Ford report that Russia is good pay.

It is fortunate that our big business has the common sense that our big government seems to lack.

THE Aga Khan is a most intelligent, enormously rich Asiatic gentleman. Millions of Mohammedans in India recognize him as their religious chief and send him millions of dollars in tribute.

WHILE they turn their faces toward the East and Mecca in prayer, the Aga Khan turns his face toward London and Paris, where he keeps fine racing stables and enjoys life thoroughly.

THE Aga Khan is about to marry for the second time; his first wife is dead. The second wife, a Christian, like the first, is a French girl, formerly worker in a candy store, and will not change her religion.

India's Mohammedans will not like that, but their faith keeps them loyal to the Khan.

What Mohammed would say about two racing stables, two Christian wives, art galleries full of pictures, and well-filled cellars is easy to imagine.

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT begins well, as governor of Porto Rico, by seeking to abolish the barefoot habit among natives. Dr. Pabst, learned dermatologist, says going barefoot is especially dangerous in a tropical country, and unwise anywhere.

HOOKWORM and lock-jaw come from walking bare foot, and 40 per cent of adults in this country have "ring worm foot," from the same habit.

Children's feet should be protected by sandals or some other covering, even in the hottest weather, and when bathing.

POLITICAL campaigning is made easy by talking pictures. Mayor Walker, life size, talks at different places in New York's streets, dwelling upon his record, in a clear voice, with appropriate gestures, preceded by loud music that draws the crowd.

And the real Mayor Walker may be slaving in his office, or possibly farther uptown, while Mr. William Fox's movietone enables him to talk to a dozen crowds at the same time.

This new campaigning has many advantages. One speech becomes a thousand speeches. No sore throat and you say exactly what you mean.

SENATE DRY BILL HITS BUYER

Sheppard Offers Amendment To Volstead Act Making Purchase Felony Like Sale

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A bill to make the buyer of liquor equally guilty of a felony with the seller was introduced in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Morris Sheppard (Dem.), Texas, so-called "father of the Eighteenth amendment."

Sheppard sponsored his bill as an amendment to the Volstead act.

He said the amendment was necessary because of a recent court decision which held that the purchaser was held not liable in connection with an act of transportation.

The Texan said he had been under the impression that the purchaser of liquor for beverage purposes was punishable in connection with an act of transportation, but that the decision made it advisable to definitely prohibit purchase by the terms of the Volstead act.

ACTION FACES DELAY

The Sheppard resolution goes to the judiciary committee with little prospect of action at the special session.

Last winter the Jones law, making severer penalties for prohibition violators, was passed, but Republican leaders have given notice that no legislation aside from the pending tariff bill will be undertaken during the extra session.

When the regular term opens in December, President Hoover is expected to forward recommendations for reorganization of the prohibition service and there is a possibility at that time that the Texas Senator's proposal will receive consideration.

HINT GIRL SLAIN AS SACRIFICE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Documents of a strange religious cult were examined by the police here today in an effort to determine whether the life of Villa Rhoads, 16-year-old "high priestess" of the organization, whose body was found in a specially-made casket beneath the floor of her foster parent's home here, was sacrificed as a part of a ritual of the organization.

The foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rhoads, were held as material witnesses yesterday after the officers unearthed the casket containing the girl's body and another in which were the bodies of seven dogs.

Mrs. Rhoads tearfully admitted that the girl died more than four years ago and that her body had been kept for more than a year in hope she would be resurrected through the powers of the cult. For more than a year after Miss Rhodes' death on January 1, 1925, the corpse had been preserved in ice, the foster mother said.

BELIEVED SACRIFICE

Although preliminary examination failed to produce anything indicating the girl had met a violent death, Capt. B. W. Thomason, of the police "bunco" squad, voiced the theory that her life had been sacrificed in the operations of the cult.

Police suspicion was directed to

SCHOOL TAX TO ADVANCE WITH PAY

12-Mill Rate for 1930 Held Likely, Adding 50 Cents to Each $1,000 Assessment

For the first time in eight years, Pittsburgh is facing an increased school tax. The rate for 1930 will probably be 12 mills, an increase of one-half mill over 1929.

The 1930 rate cannot be less than 11¾ mills, N. R. Criss, chairman of the Board of Education finance committee, announced today, explaining that the boost is necessitated by the salary increase granted school teachers. The board will meet on October 22 to consider the budget.

UNCHANGED SINCE 1922

The present tax rate of 11.5 mills has stood, Mr. Criss said, since 1922, notwithstanding the fact that in that period the Board of Education has spent $21,022,960 for new buildings and grounds.

If the board decides to fix the millage at 12 mills it will mean that taxpayers will pay 50 cents additional on each $1,000 of assessed value.

3,000 SCHOOL TEACHERS

Pittsburgh has approximately 3,000 school teachers. Elementary teachers now receiving $2,000 a year as a maximum for eight years' service will receive $2,100, and those who have served longer than eight years will automatically receive a maximum of $2,200. Junior high school teachers will receive a similar increase.

In discussing reasons for the Board of Public Education being able to spend so much money for improvements without increasing taxation over the period, Mr. Criss said the board has been able each year to carry over a balance. This, together with increased property assessments, has enabled the board to carry out its program of expansion without raising taxation.

EXACT RATE UNCERTAIN

For 1929 a total of $14,525,000 was appropriated for all purposes, 7 mills going for salaries, 2 mills for interest and sinking fund charges and 2½ mills for other purposes. The State Legislature, however, has passed a law requiring the board to levy 2¾ to 3¼ mills for other purposes, the minimum being ¼ mill more than has heretofore been used for the purpose.

Graham Nomination Goes to Committee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—The nomination of Louis E. Graham to be district attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, was referred to a sub-committee of the Senate Judiciary Committee today. Senators Gillett, Massachusetts, and Hastings, Delaware, Republicans, and Overman, North Carolina, Democrat, will consider the nomination. This is the regular procedure.

JOHN COOLIDGE BACK ON JOB

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Maj. John Coolidge, back from his honeymoon at Moosehead Lake, took up the prosaic duties of a railroad clerk in the operating offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad today.

His wife remained at the home of her parents, Gov. and Mrs. John H. Trumbull, at Plainville, where the couple spent last night in their return from their honeymoon trip to the summer camp of the Governor in Maine.

The apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge in Fountain street had been made ready for their occupancy, but it will be necessary for the bride to arrange the furniture and fittings.

STEAMER SINKS, MANY DEAD

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(INS.)—A terrible sea tragedy is believed to have taken place early today off the coast of Norway where the Norwegian steamship Haakon VII sank while carrying from 80 to 100 passengers.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen stated that the Haakon VII foundered off Floroe, Norway, at midnight. It added that 57 persons, including the captain of the ship, were reported to have been saved.

The London office of the owners of the liner confirmed the news, saying the ship had sunk "with many casualties."

Lady Heath Recovers, To Attend Luncheon

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Lady Mary Heath, Irish aviatrix who is recovering from serious injuries sustained five weeks ago in a plane crash during the National Air Races here, tomorrow will make her first public appearance since the accident. She plans to attend a luncheon in observance of air mail week here.

Congress Recesses To Be Continued

Hatchet Buried By Armstrong And Malone

The political hatchet has been buried, unless signs fail.

Councilman James F. Malone, last in the three-cornered fight in Republican ranks for the mayoralty nomination, and Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, who backed Mayor Charles H. Kline, winner, held a gabfest in the commissioner's office.

"Just discussing things," said Malone, smiling, as he left the conference.

"There's no man in the city I have a higher regard for than Jim Malone," voiced Armstrong, answering a question as to the political significance of the meeting.

All Americans Should Support Ramsay MacDonald's High Purpose

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald is a very great prime minister for England and a very valuable influence for the whole world at this time.

He understands the new conditions which have prevailed throughout the world since the great war.

He not only understands those condtions, he is a product of them.

He does not come from CLASSES who send people to war. He comes from the MASSES who are sent to war.

He realizes perfectly that those masses do not want any more war, that they will not tolerate any more war, and that they have the power to prevent any more war, or to punish those who make war.

He appreciates the obvious, obtrusive fact that if there should be another great war, with its sacrifice of more than ten million men and its destruction of the achievements of centuries, all responsible governments and all established orders and all existing systems would go down in one tremendous crash, and there would be red anarchy in every country in Europe, and doubtless in America, too.

He realizes, too, that in the growing light of civilization, war is going the way of slavery and other dark and dreadful institutions of utter savagery.

Stanley Baldwin was an entirely different kind of a premier. He was a Bourbon who had forgotten nothing from before the war, and learned nothing since the war.

His conservatism was due primarily to confirmed political myopia, to lack of clear vision to see and comprehend new conditions, and lack of imagination to look forward to future developments.

Mr. Baldwin could properly, if not politely, be likened to a man who rides backward in a train and who never sees anything until it is past—except for the plain and painful fact that Mr. Baldwin never saw anything even after it was past.

Mr. Baldwin took absolutely no cognizance of new conditions created by the great war.

He picked up political situations and diplomatic relations, not where the great war had left them, but where the great war had found them.

He instituted again the same secret diplomacy, the same militaristic policy, the same balance of power fallacy which had existed before the war and had caused the war, and would just as surely cause another and a greater war.

He made combinations for war and alliances which contemplated nothing but war, without the slightest realization that the peoples of the world were in sullen revolt against war, that civilization could not endure another war, and that England of all nations could least AFFORD another war.

England's fleet no longer defends her. The historic iron wall of battleships, behind which she has rested securely for centuries, no longer protects her. The great navy which in times past had destroyed all rival sea powers, and which had defied even the military genius of Napoleon, is no longer of the least avail, That mighty fleet is now merely a magnificent but meaningless gesture.

The next war will not be fought on the surface of the sea. It will be fought in the air and under the sea.

London can be as easily destroyed by airplane attack as Paris or Berlin, and all the British Isles can be reduced to starvation and submission in a few months of modern submarine blockade. England is not merely as vulnerable now as any European power. She is ten times more vulnerable.

In another war the British empire might have to transfer its capital to Canada, as Portugal during the Napoleonic wars transferred its capital to Brazil. The British Isles might be utterly devastated. The British empire would, of course, survive and perhaps triumph, and in any case England would be restored, but would never completely recover.

Ramsay MacDonald BELIEVES in peace and he KNOWS what peace means to society, to his country and to the world. He has taken the best means, and perhaps the only immediate means of securing peace, by promoting an understanding between the two most powerful and most peaceful nations on the earth.

Such an agreement distinctly does NOT contemplate war. It contemplates peace, and it COMMANDS peace. It does not contemplate nor confer ANYTHING BUT PEACE.

There are no secret combinations, no devious diplomacies, no hidden purposes, no machinations against other nations, no antagonisms against other peoples.

There will be military and naval and airplane forces in ample and adequate strength, each nation not so much equaling as supplementing the other.

But these armed establishments will be not for purposes of destruction, but for purposes of protection; not to prosecute hostilities against other nations, but to insure and confirm these great peoples in peaceful possession of their lives, in peaceful attainment of their ambitions and ideals for the advancement of civilization and the progress and prosperity of all peoples, and the happiness of humanity throughout the world.

Ramsay MacDonald has had the courage and the conviction, and the devotion to high principle, to come across the sea to endeavor to perform the greatest accomplishment that has ever been achieved by human beings, and to strive to realize the inspiring and exalting ideal of peace on earth and good will to men, which Christ preached nearly two thousand years ago upon the shores of Galilee.

Let us all as good Americans, as good Christians, as civilized people, unite in thought and deed with the people of England and with all the peace-loving peoples of the earth, to bring this majestic mission, this universal benefaction, to a successful issue.

WAR SPIRIT DENIED BY PREMIER

Gallery Applauds at Historic Utterance—Mission To End Misunderstanidng

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—For the first time in history, a British Prime Minister addressed the American Senate today when Ramsay MacDonald, fresh from concluding an agreement with President Hoover concerning the calling of a London disarmament conference, set forth his aims for international peace from the dais beside the Vice President.

The Premier, in a ringing, vibrating tone, pledged cooperation between Great Britain and the United States, asserted that his country would never enter another alliance with any other country and declared that there could never be any war between the two great English-speaking nations.

NEVER ANOTHER WAR

"There can never be another war between Great Britain and the United States," MacDonald said, while the Senate and gallery applauded wildly. "Such a a war is absolutely impossible."

The Premier in his precedent-shattering address declared that international alliances were the very spirit of war and that "this spirit must be extirpated."

"You would not and neither would we enter any alliance directed against the interests or welfare of any other nation or any other group of nations on the face of the earth," said MacDonald.

The premier's statement in the Senate followed the issuance of the first official communique to emerge from the conferences between him and President Hoover, just after their return from the President's camp.

Jointly issued by the President and the Prime Minister, it said:

"We have frankly reviewed what might give rise to friction between our peoples. Gratifying progress has been made and the conversations are continuing."

CARAWAY HEADS SENATE INQUIRY OF CAPITAL LOBBYING

FIVE NAMED ON NORRIS' BOARD

Borah, Blaine, Robinson and Walsh Are Others Picked; Fireworks Loom in Quiz

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The far-reaching investigation into lobbying activities in Washington, voted last week by the Senate, is to be conducted by a committee of five members of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Senator T. H. Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas, who sponsored the resolution directing it, will be chairman, and the other members are Senators Borah, (Rep.), of Idaho; Blaine, (Rep.), of Wisconsin; Robinson, (Rep.), of Indiana, and Walsh, (Dem.), of Montana.

OROUGH QUIZ LOOMS

The sub-committee was named today by Senator Norris, (Rep.), of Nebraska, chairman of the judiciary committee.

Caraway had previously declined the chairmanship of the investigation, but reconsidered when pressed by Norris.

The inclusion of two such outstanding Senate figures as Borah and Walsh on the committee promises to make the probe very thorough.

TARIFF LOBBY FIRST

Reported lobbying activities in connection with the pending tariff bill measure are expected to receive first attention.

Inquiry into these reports undoubtedly would include the work of the Senate Finance Committee, which drafted the tariff bill. A number of independent Republicans recently have expressed dissatisfaction over the Republican membership of the committee, contending it has been made up of regular Republicans.

ORGANIZE AT ONCE

Caraway will call the committee together at once to organize it. Norris recommended it employ counsel and promised to obtain authority for this from the Senate.

The Arkansas Senator said he favored going first into the activities of those who have been seeking to influence the tariff legislation. He has singled out the Southern Tariff League and Joseph R. Grundy, Washington representative of the American Tariff League, as among those to be called.

He said he had been informed the industries of Pennsylvania had been assessed from $75 up to pay the expenses of a tariff lobby.

"I am indfinitely more concerned," he added, "In where the dollar finally rests than where it came from. That's what we will try to find out."

The Arkansan said he would not be disposed to call any members of the Senate before the committee.

SUITOR KILLS RIVAL, SELF

MT. PLEASANT, Pa., Oct. 7.—Two young men are dead today, the result of the jealous rage of a rejected suitor. Milton Ross, 23, alleged slayer of Maurice Armbrust, 19, turned the revolver on himself and inflicted injuries which caused his death in Mt. Pleasant Hospital Sunday. The double shooting occurred Saturday night in Armbrust, where both resided, after Armbrust had escorted Rachel Miller, 20 to her home.

Miss Miller and Armbrust were talking in front of the girl's home. Rose drove past in his automobile a short time later and fired two shots.

Armbrust was shot in the chest, dying instantly, and Rose, as he fired, was said to have remarked to the effect that Armbrust "couldn't steal my girl."

Rose than drove a short distance down the road and shot himself in the head.

the Rhoads home after two other members of the cult, Mrs. Otis Blackburn, the "High Priestess," and her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Angelina Weiland Rizzio, had been held on charges of embezzling about $50,000 from persons who had contributed to the organization, which bore the name of "The Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Seal."

The dogs had been pets of the dead girl and, according to the story told by Mrs. Rhoads, represented the seven tones of Gabriel's trumpet, which the cultists expected to proclaim "resurrection morn."

The investigation was started at the request of Clifford R. Dabney, wealthy Venice, Cal., oil operator, who charges that after becoming a member of the cult he advanced approximately $340,000 to Mrs. Blackburn pending the completion of a book she was writing, to be known as "The Sixth Seal," and upon which the colony based its beliefs. Mrs. Blackburn's arrest on an embezzlement charge disclosed activities of the cult, which brought revelations leading to the discovery of the girl's body.

BAKED IN OVEN, CLAIM

Police said "healing rites," described by Dabney as being performed over Miss Rhoads when she fell ill with diphtheria, included a "baking" process in an oven. The girl, Dabney was quoted as saying, was taken to the Santa Susane hills near here and placed in an oven. Each member of the organization placed a hot brick against her body. She was left there until morning, the informant said, when they were told the girl was healed and had gone away.

Her husband standing silently by, Mrs. Rhoads told investigators that her stepdaughter had died of diphtheria January 1, 1925. Believing she would be resurrected, the body was placed in a copper-lined casket made by Mr. Rhoads, packed in ice and for more than a year transported from one dwelling to another as the family changed residences. Despairing of the resurrection that never came, Mrs. Rhoads told officers that the burial took place February 10, 1926.

Mitten Leaves Millions To Labor Cause

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—The estate of Thomas E. Mitten, traction magnate who drowned last week, variously estimated from $3,000,000 to $10,000,000, has been left in trust for "the promotion and advancement of the cause of co-operation between capital and labor and the furtherance and continuance of the 'Mitten Plan.'"

The Mitten plan, in operation here between the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company and its employes and the International Railway Company of Buffalo and its employes, is described as "providing opportunity for participation in increased earnings made possible by the increased effort of the employes, and to encourage the investment of this added compensation in such a way as to make the employes owners as well as workers."

The Philadelphia and Buffalo lines are operated by Mitten Management, Inc., of which Mitten was the head. Employes under the Mitten plan have equal representation in the affairs of the street car company here.

Dr. Arthur A. Mitten, only son of Mitten, and who was last week elected head of Mitten Management, gave out a statement that the provision leaving the bulk of the estate for the advance of the relations of capital and labor was void under state law, which provides that no charitable bequests made within 30 days of the death of the testator are legal.

The son announced he would not permit this prohibition to defeat his father's purposes, which, the son said, are equally his own.

The voiding of the provision, the son stated, leaves the estate to him as his heir, but it is his intention to erect out of the estate coming into his hands "a continuing trust to be known as "the Mitten Foundation" to further the cause of co-operation between capital and labor pursuant to the policies developed" by his father.

'Chute Lines Snarl, Girl Saves Self, Wins Contest

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Plunging head-first toward the ground with a parachute whose lines had become snarled, Arveta Rogner, 17-year-old Hempstead High School girl, succeeded in disentangling them after a breath-taking dive of 1,500 feet.

The girl, entered in a parachute jumping contest, launched herself from a plane at a height of 2,000 feet. As she did so, her left foot became tangled in the lines and the parachute failed to open fully.

While 10,000 shuddered, she pulled the lines on the side of the parachute which had opened until she equalized the pressure on both sides. Then she was able to jerk her foot loose. The parachute opened fully and she floated to earth, coming closer to the target than either of two other girls entered in the contest.

9 Chemistry Students To Start Experiment

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—An unprecedented five-year experiment of national scope, the schooling of nine "ambassadors of progress in chemistry," will begin officially Friday at Johns Hopkins University.

The fellowships were given by 11 industrial concerns, two foundations, and three individuals. Each appointee will receive $1,000 a year throughout the training period and will be free at the end to enter upon a teaching or industrial career. Friday's event will be marked by the dedication of the Francis P. Garvan chair of chemical education.

FORD FLIERS AT PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 7.—Reuben Wagner, Omaha, in a Boeing, and Steve Lacey in a Cessna, were the first of the entries in the 1929 air tour to cross the finish line here shortly before noon today, after a flight from Montreal.

George W. Haldeman, who piloted Ruth Elder in her trans-Atlantic attempt, followed in a Bellanca a few seconds later. Russell Young in a Ryan monoplane was fourth to arrive.

Mrs. Keith Miller, one of the three women contestants, was the twentieth to arrive. The first 20 planes all landed within 30 minutes after Wagner.

The 29 planes taking part in the 1929 national air tour and the accompanying planes with officials and press representatives, had taken off from St. Hubert airport, Montreal, the first plane leaving at 10:15 and the others taking to the air at short intervals.

Leaving Montreal, John Livingston, flying a Waco, occupied the lead in the race for the Edsel Ford cup and its $20,000 in prize money. Livingston had 2,884 points to his credit. Art Davis, in another Waco, had 2,582, with the others in the lineup of the first five, as follows: M. E. Zeller, Ford tri-motor, 2,491; D. Morgan Hackman, Fairchild, 2,451,, and Earl Rowland, Cessna 2,135.

TRIANGLE SITES DEBATED FOR TOWN HALL

Pennsylvania Railroad's Engineers Lent Board For Study of Locations.

The Allegheny County Town Hall Association announced today that the Pennsylvania Railroad is co-operating with the association in the study of three posible downtown locations for the proposed $6,000,000 public auditorium.

The announcement followed a meeting of the County Planning Commission, held in the old City Hall, during which architects and others were heard.

Although advocating no particular location, according to former Mayor William A. Magee, counsel for the Town Hall Association, the railroad is aiding the association by lending its engineers for a joint study of the possible locations, 33 of which have been submitted.

ONE SITE NEAR STATION

One of the proposed downtown locations is near the new Pennsylvania passenger terminal. The others would be in the vicinity of the Point.

Magee pointed out to the association today that details of any arrangement would require some time for working out and asked for a few weeks' leeway. On motion of S. K. Robison, member of the commission, 60 days' extension was granted.

A site bounded by Grant street, Water street, Smithfield and Second avenue was recommended to the commission by Frank Sullivan, attorney for Mrs. Otto F. Felix, and by architects who had prepared a plan covering this site.

LAND COST ESTIMATED

While no definite cost figures are available, Magee told the members at the meeting, he said the assessed valuation of properties in this area exceeded $2,300,000.

Charles Geisler, an architect, also was heard by the commission in support of a plan for building the Town Hall on the old Pittsburgh Exposition site near the Point. Geisler's plan would tie up the municipal auditorium project into the building of a long-projected river boulevard following the general lines of Water street and Duquesne way.

This arrangement, in turn, would be a part of the major thoroughfare system, Geisler said, advocated by city planners as one of the principal means of relieving traffic congestion in the downtown district.

COSTE'S FLIGHT WORLD RECORD

TOKIO, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, who had been missing a week, today were safe in Manchuria after establishing a new world's non-stop flight record and after a series of hazardous adventures, including their arrests at the hands of Chinese soldiery, who thought they were Russians.

Advices received in Tokio today placed the French fliers near Tsitsihar, northwest of Harbin, Manchuria, where they had landed Sunday, September 29. They had flown for 52 hours and had covered between 5,500 and 6,000 miles from Le Bourget, France. The former record of 4,358 miles was held by the Italian fliers, Ferrarin and Delprete.

Fragmentary accounts received by the Rengo News Agency from Harbin stated that the men had landed because of a shortage of fuel in a village north of Tsitsihar.

TO MARRY NEGRO STAR

EDITH MARGARET OEDELSCHOFF

Miss Oedelschoff, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Oedelschoff, Weehawken, N. J. Sometime this week she'll marry Aaron Edwards, 24-year-old Negro athlete at New York University.

NEGRO PLANS TO WED WHITE GIRL

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Phil Edwards, Negro half-mile star of the New York University track team, yesterday announced that he would be married some time this week to Miss Edith Margaret Oedelschoff, 19, white, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Oedelschoff, of Weehawken, N. J.

Edwards, who is American intercollegiate half-mile champion, said Miss Oedelschoff's parents at first objected to the marriage because they did not believe she was old enough, but that they had since given their consent.

Miss Oedelschoff, whose mother is French and her father German, met Edwards in Berlin last summer when he went there to enter the Olympic games. Later the Oedelschoff family came to the United States on the same boat with Edwards. He is 22 and captain of the New York University track team.

Illinois Miners, Lewis Near Break

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Relations between Illinois mine union officials and United Mine Workers of America were brought near the breaking point when un ultimatum from John L. Lewis, international president, was answered with virtually open defiance voiced by state officials through their district executive board. Both moves were precipitated by a $250,000 libel suit filed against Lewis by the state union.

16 IN RAIDS DISCHARGED

Of the 25 persons arrested in four raids by North Side police, 16 were discharged in Morals Court Sunday. The four places were raided as disorderly houses.

When police raided the apartment of Alice Campbell, at 208 East Ohio street and arrested her, one other woman and three men, she protested that the complaint had come from neighbors, Sadie and John Zuer, who she charged sold liquor.

Police arrested the Zuers, but they were promptly discharged in Morals Court. Miss Campbell was fined $50. Visitors at the Campbell place were discharged.

John Karis, 35, of 17 West Park way, and three couples were discharged after Karis had testified they were "just holding a private party."

Mrs. Ella Fastre, of 115 East Ohio, fined $100 as the keeper of a disorderly house, went to jail when she couldn't post the fine. Three of the 10 visitors were discharged. The others were fined $10 each.

EYNON BURIED AT SEA

David L. Eynon, of 5646 Callowhill street, president of the Pittsburgh Rolls Corporation, who died Saturday aboard the SS. Olympic during a heart attack, was buried at sea, radiograms received here today said.

Mrs. Eynon, a son, Attorney George Eynon, of Pittsburgh, and a son-in-law, G. E. Hanna, of Cleveland, were with him when he died. They were returning from abroad.

Mr. Eynon was a member of the First Baptist Church, the George W. Guthrie Lodge No. 691, F. & A. M.; Duquesne Commandery No. 72, Knights Templar; Pennsylvania Consistory, Duquesne Club, Keystone Athletic Club, Pittsburgh Athletic Association and the Alcoma Country Club.

Besides his wife and son, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Hanna, another son, John S. Eynon, of Ridley Park, Pa., and two sisters.

Conductor Crushed Against Car, Dies

MARTINS FERRY, O., Oct. 7.—A car on a Baltimore and Ohio switch too close to the main track was held responsible for the death of Joseph A. Emblen, 30, conductor, of Wheeling, who was riding on the platform of a caboose that struck the car.

FLIER'S WIFE WINS RACE WITH DEATH

Dormont Pilot Killed While Testing Plane; Woman, in Auto, Rushes to Bedside

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Frank Datin, of Dormont, won a race against death here last night, arriving an hour before the demise of her husband, a Pittsburgh air-mail pilot, who crashed in a plane while stunting before a crowd of 8,000 over the Keystone Airport at Ebensburg yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Datin, notified of the crash by attaches of the Clifford Ball air-mail office at Pittsburgh, raced to the bedside of her unconscious husband by automobile and was with him when he died. He did not regain consciousness.

CRASHES IN SWAMP

The crash occurred about 1,000 feet from the airport, according to witnesses, who said Datin went into a barrel roll at an altitude of about 200 feet. A tailspin resulted, and the plane landed in a swamp. The pilot, his body badly crushed, was extricated from the wreckage and brought to Mercy Hospital here, where he died.

Datin, a pilot with many hours in the air to his credit, had been flying day and night schedules over the Pittsburgh-Cleveland mail route. He had operated over the route for several months, going to Pitsburgh from Indiana.

Frank Datin, local air-mail pilot, killed at Ebensburg yesterday, lived in the Charles apartments in Academy avenue, Mt. Lebanon.

Recently, it was said at the Bettis airport, Datin had been placed on the reserve list, and was devoting part of his time to exhibition and passenger flying at nearby fields. He was preparing to carry passengers from the Ebensburg field yesterday afternoon and had taken the three-place sport Eaglerock biplane off for a short test flight before taking passengers aboard when the crash occurred.

FORCED DOWN, DAWSON SAFE

Forced to land when his motor "cut out" yesterday near Bettis Airport while pacing participants in an exhibition race at the Homeville firmen's day celebration, Joe Dawson, former Pirate pitcher, brought his little low-winged sport monoplane to a safe landing on a hillside about three miles from the field without injury to himself.

The mishap was the only one to mar the day's otherwise perfect program. Stunt flying, a balloon bursting contest and the race around a 10-mile course featured the day's festivities. Dick Laughlin, chief instruction pilot for the Pittsburgh School of Aviation, led the field in the various events, capturing first place in both the balloon straling and the race for OX-5 motors.

Bleachers Built for Poultry War Trials

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Bleachers like those in a baseball park have been erected in the Federal Building to seat 87 men who go on trial tomorrow on charges of conspiracy to violate the anti-trust laws by dominating the $50,000,000 live poultry market of the metropolitan area. The defendants, comprising poultry dealers, slaughterers, labor union officials, marketmen, truck drivers and alleged "strong arm" men, were indicted by a federal grand jury last January.

Steamer and Rescue Ship Both Aground

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(INS.)—Two German vessels are aground near Ceylon, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Colombo stated today. The first ship to encounter trouble was the liner Hochst, which went aground on a reef off Minicoy Island. The steamship Lauterfels, speeding to the other's assistance, fouled another reef and went aground. According to wireless reports, the Lauterfels is leaking badly and her condition is perilous.

Lindbergh Plans Second Flight Over Jungles

MERIDA, Yucatan, Mexico, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife, who came to Yucatan after making a flight over British Honduras jungles to photograph ancient Indian ruins, were lavishly entertained by Mexican officials here over the week end. They were guests of the municipality and of the Mexican state.

Lindbergh planned to make Merida his headquarters for another flight over the jungle of this region. He said that he expected to fly over ruins of buildings constructed by the Maya Indians.

Flying yesterday over the once broad empire of the ancient Mayas, Lindbergh disc[illegible]dications of a large ruined city, hitherto unknown to science.

The ruins were located in an area in which no human habitation was seen, where there was no open water, and where for many miles on any side were to be found only impenetrable jungle populated by ferocious beasts, boa constrictors and poisonous insects.

FALL, ILL, CARRIED TO COURT AS OIL GRAFT TRIAL OPENS

FOUR WOMEN SELECTED ON JURY

Doheny on Hand as Former Harding Aid Faces Judge in Naval Reserve Lease Case

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Supported into the courtroom by his physician and his daughter, and apparently so weak he had to be lifted into an easy chair, Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, went on trial today charged with having accepted a bribe of $100,000 from E. L. Doheny in the lease of Elks Hills Naval Oil Reserve.

Abandoning their plan to ask for a postponement because of Falls' illness, attorneys announced their willingness to proceed.

SQUASH MOTION DENIED

Justice William Hitz denied the motion made last week for dismissal of the indictment.

A jury of four women and eight men was selected quickly.

Doheny, although not a party to the present trial, was in the courtroom as the selection of the jury began. He came in soon after court opened, took a seat beside Mrs. Fall and glanced sympathetically at "the old friend" to whom, he contends, he loaned the $100,00 as a matter of personal friendship.

It was an obviously sick man who sat in the big easy chair and watched the preliminaries of his trial. Since the days when Washington first knew Fall, as a Senator and later as an officer in the Harding cabinet, his full frame has shrunk noticeably, and there is a droop to his mustache, expressive of the decline in his fortunes.

NOTICEABLY AGED

His face is colorless and his hair has noticeably thinned and whitened in the six years that have elapsed since, as Secretary of the Interior, he negotiated the leases of the naval oil reserves which landed Harry F. Sinclair in prison, and himself and E. L. Doheny in almost endless criminal litigation.

The government's case against Fall, the familiar recital of the $100,000, carried and delivered to Fall "in a little black bag" by Doheny's son, was recited to the prospective jurors by Owen D. Roberts, who with ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, constitute the forefront of the prosecution.

GUNS FOUND IN RAZED PRISON

Possibility of New Outbreak; Ex-Convict Charges Guards Abetted Smuggling Ring

CANON CITY, Col., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Fear hovered over the Colorado state penitentiary again today, bringing a tense anxiety to the routine of rehabilitating the battle-scarred institution, which only last Friday was in the throes of a bloody mutiny.

Coincident with committment of a second convict to solitary confinement officials discovered two revolvers hidden in a coal pile. One official said he was certain five convicts in the prison were armed.

The noose today dangled close to three heads as a result of investigation of last week's mutiny, in which 12 lives were lost in battle, by massacre and by suicide.

TWO IN SOLITARY

Charles Davis was ordered placed in solitary confinement. Soon after this action the two revolvers were found and Leo W. McGenty, 25, Denver gunman, was ordered confined. Both of these men, Warden F. E. Crawford said, were in possession of weapons when the mutiny in the prison broke out. Identity of the third convict suspected was not made known.

The weapons believed to be still in possession of convicts include a shot gun, a .30-30 rifle and three revolvers.

Fifty men have been examined. Out of hatred for others, the fear of "stool pigeons" or fear of being called that, prisoners tell many and conflicting stories.

Eddie Ives, Denver slayer, sentenced to go to the gallows this week, may win a temporary suspension of sentence until the situation at the prison quiets and becomes more settled. An execution with the atmosphere of the prison surcharged as it is might result in serious consequences, officials believe.

CHARGES SMUGGLING RING

DENVER, Col., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—An ex-convict of the Colorado State Penitentiary, formerly a Denver business man, told the Rocky Mountain News today he was willing to expose an alleged "booze and dope smuggling ring in the state penitentiary" if his witnesses would be guaranteed protection by Gov. W. H. Adams and the state board of corrections.

The News today said this man asserted, "it is possible to smuggle a threshing machine into that place. Guns, dope, booze, anything can be had in that pen if a man's got enough money to pay for them."

Some of the guards killed by the mutinous convicts were marked because they were not members of a "ring," the News quotes him as saying.

Four Guns Found Hidden Near Kansas State Prison

LANSING, Kan., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—An extensive investigation was under way in the Kansas State Penitentiary here today as the result of discovery by two boys of three automatic pistols and a revolver, with about 100 rounds of ammunition, hidden in a culvert near the penitentiary.

Warden M. F. Amrine said he attached little importance to the find but instituted an investigation to ascertain whether an escape had been planned.

NAVAL PARLEY CALL ISSUED

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON
International News Service.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Hailed here as one of the greatest events since the armistice, the British government today takes a long step forward on the road to disarmament in issuing invitations to the United States, France, Italy and Japan to participate in a five-power conference designed to reduce sea-going machines of war.

The invitations are being dispatched as a result of the conferences between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and President Hoover. News that the two statesmen had progressed sufficiently far in their conversations to proceed with the invitations caused profound satisfaction in official circles.

Text of the invitations will not be made public until Wednesday, but it is known they will ask the representatives of the powers concerned to meet in London the third week of January.

Accompanying the invitation, it is understood, will be a resume of the agreements reached between Premier MacDonald and American Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, and confirmed during the Prime Minister's conversations with President Hoover. It will be pointed out, it is understood, the conference is to consider the entire naval armament position, not only the cruiser problems which occupied so much of the MacDonald-Dawes conferences.

The conference is expected to last from four to six weeks.

ISHBEL VISITS CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—A special place in the ladies' gallery was reserved for Ishbel MacDonald, Lady Isabella Howard, and Miss Rosa Rosenberg, secretary to Premier MacDonald, at today's session of the Senate where Premier MacDonald was an invited guest.

The visit to Congress was crowded into a full schedule which included luncheon with Mrs. Herbert Hoover and the state dinner at the White House tonight.

Tomorrow she will be a luncheon guest at the Canadian legation and at the dinner and reception at the British embassy.

On Wednesday, when her father will be luncheon guest of the overseas writers, she will be honored at a luncheon by Miss Grace Abbott, of the Children's Bureau, and Miss Mary Anderson, of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor. There she will meet leading professional and industrial women of Washington. She will dine with Lady Howard at the British embassy Wednesday night.

BONDS ASKED AT MT. OLIVER

Mt. Oliver is confronted by the necessity of a bond issue, to care for its share of the construction of the Saw Mill Run trunk line sewer. The amount is $33,150, or one-fourth of the entire cost, this agreement having been reached by the municipalities interested some time ago.

An effort will be made to adjust the question at a meeting of the borough officials, township commissioners and the city of Pittsburgh. The bond issue cannot be voted on at the November election because of lack of time. It is probable, therefore, that the question will be submitted to the citizens at a special election, the date for which will be fixed later.

Kansas City Milk Producers Strike

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Kansas City's milk strike began today, but to what extent the supply was affected was not known this morning. The 1,200 producers, who joined in the strike, said thousands of homes would be without their morning milk, while health department officials said an ample emergency supply had been obtained.

Only users of pasteurized milk were affected, as the strike is aimed at pasteurization plants rather than the consumer.

WOMAN HELD AS DOPE SUSPECT

William T. Duffy, head of government narcotic agents here, today at the Allegheny General Hospital will question Mildred Hostetter, believed to be from Columbia, Pa., who was captured and turned over to the government Saturday, when she is alleged to have tried to pass a forged narcotic prescription in Squirrel Hill.

Government agents believe she is a member of a ring which has been passing numerous forged prescriptions here recently. A man and another woman are being sought. The prisoner was taken to the hospital late Saturday after she had showed signs of illness.

The woman's arrest was caused by Herman Lowenthal, a drug clerk in a store at Forbes street and Shady avenue.

She was turned over to Narcotic Agents Joseph L. Colebob and E. W. Rouse.

TUNNEY'S WIFE NEARLY WELL

BERLIN, Oct. 7. — (AP.) — Mrs. Gene Tunney is speedily recovering from yesterday's appendicitis operation, according to Miss Helen Ufford, the former heavyweight champion's secretary.

"She has rallied so rapidly that even her doctor was surprised," Miss Ufford said, adding that the former Polly Lauder was expected to leave the clinic at the end of this week.

Mrs. Tunney was said already to be able to sit up and read. Gene remained with her throughout the day except two hours this morning when he attend the funeral of the late Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann.

PATROL SINKS RUM RUNNER

RARITAN, N. J., Oct. 7.—(INS.)—A coast guard patrol boat, manned by a sheriff and two coast guardsmen, today engaged in a pitched gun battle with three rum runners, sinking one and capturing another with 400 bags of choice liquor.

The third rum runner rescued the crew of the craft that was sunk.

In reporting the battle, Deputy Surveyor of Customs John McGill said coast guard boats in the future would be equipped with machine guns.

DANVILLE, Ky., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Three federal prohibition officers today engaged in a gun battle with three alleged rum runners on a highway near here, the battle resulting in the death of an alleged runner and serious wounding of one of his companions. The other escaped.

The officers, headed by E. B. Henson, reported that three Negroes in a powerful automobile deliberately wrecked the smaller car in which Henson and his companions were riding and then opened fire.

Weather Conditions.

There is considerable cloudiness in the lake region, the Middle Atlantic states and New England states, and light showers occurred in the lake region. There is also a cloudy and showery area in the Middle Rocky Mountain section. Throughout the central portion of the country the skies are mostly clear and moderately cold. Light to heavy frost occurred over the northern and central plains, where the temperatures range from 32 to 45 degrees. There is a low pressure area in the St. Lawrence valley, moving rapidly towards the Atlantic, and another center in the far Southwest. High barometer, centered over Montana and the Dakotas, covers the entire country between the Appalachian and the Rocky Mountains, and from Northern Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

TRANSFER ARMY ENGINEERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—(AP.)—A realignment of Army engineers designed to carry out President Hoover's plan of decentralizing the vast river, harbor and flood control work throughout the country, was announced today by Secretary Good.

Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Jackson, president of the Mississippi River Commission, has been placed in charge of the development of the lower Mississippi with headquarters at Vicksburg, Miss.

Lieut. Col. George R. Spalding, district engineer at Louisville, Ky., has been placed in charge of the development of the navigable waters of the Upper Mississippi and tributaries, with headquarters at St. Louis.

Col. Edward M. Markham has been ordered from Fort Humphreys, Va., to Cleveland, O., to take charge of the development of the Great Lakes Waterways.

The reorganization was outlined by the President at the time he appointed Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown chief of engineers.

Tokio Naval Expert On Way to Capital

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Carrying with him the plans for Japan's participation in the world naval parley announced yesterday by President Hoover, Commander T. Yamagushi, of the imperial Japanese navy, boarded a train here for Washington, D. C.

Commander Yamagushi arrived in Vancouver, B. C., from Japan just in time to make connections with the Great Northern train here. He indicated that unofficial invitations had been out for some time and that the conference will be held in London the third week in January.

$350,000 in Gems On Jeanne Eagels At Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Jeanne Eagles, stage and screen star, wore jewels valued at $350,000 at the time of her death last Thursday, a checkup of her effects revealed.

After Miss Eagels died at a Park avenue hospital, the property she had with her at the time was placed in the hands of the police, to be turned over in turn to the public administrator.

When the police made their checkup they listed the following articles: a six-carat diamond ring, valued at $20,000; pearl ring, $250,000 to $200,000; a wedding ring set with seven diamonds, a white gold guard ring and two strands of pearls.

American Flag Fired Upon by Chinese

HANKOW, China, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—The Yangtse Rapids Steamship Company's Hing, flying an American flag, was fired upon October 3, 210 miles above Hankow. Although the vessel was struck six times there were no casualties. A complaint has been made to the United States consul at Hankow.

Mystery shrouds the whereabouts of the "Ironsides" revolting regiment, but they are said to be retreating.

Characters Picked For Passion Play

OBERAMERGAU, Germany, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Alois Lang, 38-year-old wood carver and beekeeper, today was elected to play the Christus role in the cast of the 1930 Passion Play, succeeding Anton Lang, who was elected speaker of the prologue. The two men are not relations. Anton Lang, who visited the United States several years ago, was no longer equal to the physical strain of the role. Anmi Rutz was elected to play the role of Mary.

A. F. L. SESSIONS OPEN TODAY

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Unionization of the textile workers in the South is described as "an outstanding labor development of the year" in the annual report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

The report was drafted by William Greene, president of the federation, for submission to the fourth annual convention of the organization, opening today.

Extension of the five-day working week, unemployment resulting from introduction of machinery and old age retirement are mentioned in the report as features of the federation's program for the next year.

Authorization of an "effective federal employment service" and the establishment of municipal employment bureaus are sugestged as means of attacking the unemployment problem.

The co-operation of social students is asked in the study of the problem of old age retirement for employes in private industry.

The report recommends further restriction in immigration from Europe and restriction of immigration from Mexico and Central and South America "to a minimum."

Membership in the federation for 1929 was placed at 2,933,545. In 1928 is was 2,896,063. The highest mark in federation membership was attained in 1920, when it reached 4,078,740.

Tornado Sweeps South Africa Towns

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—A tornado of unprecedented violence struck the suburbs of Turffontein and Kenilworth yesterday. Roofs were blown off hundreds of houses. The storm damaged Solly Joel's stables sheltering a number of valuable English horses. Two sustained broken legs and had to be killed. Two others were injured.

WAR WITH U. S. IMPOSSIBLE—MACDONALD

come to an understanding and sounded the call for peace. The invitations for a five-nation round table conference on naval disarmament are to be sent from London today to France, Italy and Japan.

In the Senate the Prime Miniseter explained that his mission in coming to the United States in person was "to wipe out all misunderstandings."

"So long as we conduct negotiations by correspondence across 3,000 miles of water we will never understand each other at all," he declared.

"In these democratic days when the heart speaks to the heart, when the mind speaks to the mind and silence talkes to silence, as when your President and I spoke over this week end, such things are as important as anything else in laying the foundation for enduring peace all over the world."

MacDonald said that he had not come here as the Labor Prime Minister, but as the national head of the House of Commons.

MISUNDERSTANDINGS SMALL

"Deep down in my heart there is a conviction that nothing will ever remove the many little misunderstandings like a personal visit," MacDonald asserted.

"These misunderstandings are small, but so deplorably effective. They do not belong to the substance of things, but to the appearances of the substance of things."

"I come in good faith to reduce the appearances and the substance so that the misunderstandings may be completely cleared away."

Then the silver-haired Labor Premier paid tribute to the late Chancellor Gustav Stresemann, of Germany.

"He was my personal friend," said MacDonald. "He was honest, wise and honorable and played a perfectly straight game."

And then as one sportsman to another, the Prime Minister added:

"I lay a wreath on his tomb."

The British Premier went to the House at noon, appropriately enough choosing the House first because it is representative of the people, as is his own House of Comons.

Escorted to the Speaker's rostrum, and facing a Chamber crowded with those anxious to witness the historic and unprecedented spectacle of a British Prime Minister addressing Congress, MacDonlad spoke briefly of the kinship between the English-speaking peoples and expressed the hope for ever closer relations between them.

"I feel that I might almost address you as fellow Members of Parliament," he said smiling.

AWAKENS MEMORIES

"You do me a very great honor in allowing me to stand here and address you for a moment or two. For it awakens memories of other visits to Washington, but, more than that, it makes me feel when I look into your faces how much alike are our great democratic institutions, and how much akin we are in our devotion to democratic principles.

"I am sure you will regard me as the representative of my country, and you wish me, when I return to my own House of Commons, to tell them how very generous, how very kind, and how very hospitable you have been to me, and I pledge myself to do it."

There followed a general reception on the floor, in which the Prime Minister shook hands with scores of members who clustered about the speaker's rostrum.

MacDonald was escorted into the chamber by Rep. Porter, (R.) of Pittsburgh, and Rep. Linthicum, (D.), of Maryland, chairman and ranking minority member of the foreign relations committee. There was a tumult of applause from both floor and gallery as he came in and then silence as the house chaplain, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, prayed for divine guidance for both countries.

Former Guardsman Gets Year for Theft

Earl Birch, 30, formerly a member of Twenty-eighth Signal Corps, Pennsylvania National Guard, pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to stealing equipment of the corps and was sentenced to one year in Atlanta Penitentiary.

Birch was charged, along with Joseph Costella, with taking 22 revolvers, cartridges and holsters from the armory at Penn avenue and Station street, July 22. Costella is being held in Indianapolis on another charge. Judge Nelson McVicar was informed.

Mystery Cloaks Aged Woman In Hospital

Officials of Presbyterian Hospital and the Missing Persons Bureau today were trying to find relatives of an aged woman who says she is Mary Allerton. Hospital attaches have been unable to learn where she resides.

She went to the institution Friday and was admitted for treatment. Then she said she and a brother had been en route from St. Louis to Buffalo to visit relatives, but that when the train reached here her brother ordered her to leave it.

Hospital authorities have investigated numerous addresses and telephone numbers given by the woman, but have been unable to find anyone who knows her.

BANDITS ROB TWO STORES

Holdups of a drug store, a chain grocery and two pedestrians reported to detectives late Saturday night and yesterday were being investigated today.

For the second time within two weeks, bandits invaded the Harvard Pharmacy, at 216 North Negley avenue, yesterday, and escaped with $6 in cash after holding the proprietor at bay with a revolver.

The armed pair ordered Oscar Finkelpearl, the owner, to throw up his hands, and while one covered him with a pistol his accomplice emptied the cash register. They escaped in a truck which they had parked near the store.

PEDESTRIAN HELD UP

A holdup man robbed N. E. Coleman, of 276 Sebring avenue, of $51 while he was on his way to work yesterday morning. Coleman told police that the thug accosted him near his home and, after asking for a match, thrust a pistol into his face.

The attempt of a robber to hold up Morris Gearing, of 2431 Westmawr street, was frustrated early yesterday by a pedestrian who ran to Gearing's aid. The robber stopped Gearing on the Superior Avenue Bridge, but fled.

Two armed bandits entered a chain grocery store at 424 Collins avenue late Saturday night and, after forcing the manager, Anthony Brocanto, of Bridge street, Etna, and his clerks into a rear room, scooped up $250 from the cash register and escaped in an automobile, detectives were told.

DOCTOR LOSES KIT

Dr. C. A. Duffy, of 262 McKee place, reported to detectives yesterday that a kit containing doctor's instruments was stolen from his automobile, which was parked in front of his home.

A Negro purse-snatcher robbed Sarah Haley, of 2230 Ridgway street, of her purse while she was walking near her home early yesterday. The Negro fled down Ridgway street after obtaining the Haley woman's purse.

Farmer Dies After Mysterious Attack

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 7.—His skull crushed, when beaten about the head with a hatchet and the butt of a revolver, Bert Jones, 45, an employe of Mrs. Clara Lockhart, who lives near Claysville, died in the Washington Hospital. On Thursday evening Jones left the Lockhart home. A few minutes later Mrs. Lockhart heard a shot and cries. Neighbors she summoned found Jones unconscious. There is no clue to his assailant.

YOU'LL LIKE BOTH TASTE AND RESULTS

"At first," said one of the younger set noted for the flashing beauty of her teeth, "I didn't like the taste of Pebeco tooth paste. But it worked so well with so many friends that I stuck to it a whole week. Now I like it both because of results and because of its taste,—its salty tang and refreshing after-flavor somehow convince me that Pebeco is keeping my teeth clean and lovely."

CONFISCATED RUM BOATS FIND HAVEN ON HOLLYWOOD MOVIE STAGES

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—

MR. VOLSTEAD'S bottle act has directly made it possible to make pretty good buys in confiscated rum boats. I must look into this when the first half million is in the bank.

Be that as it may, there's a boat—the technical word is tender—called Juan B. It was captured a month ago rum running between our Volsteadian shores and Mexico. And when M. G. M., which has "The Ship from Shanghai" settled in Catalina making oceanic scenes, needed another boat for the—er—flotilla, the Juan B leaped from rum running into the celluloid limelight. Price, beaucoup cheep cheep.

Conrad Nagel

Yet another confiscated boat is used in the picture. This 'un was confiscated in Seattle by ye government. It's a sailing vessel that smuggled arms into Nicaragua during the recent revolution.

Capt. William Collins heard about the sailing vessel and investigated to find it darn good tub. He interested the M. G. M.-ites in it and they agreed to buy it from him if he could purchase it. Capt. Collins traipsed back to Seattle and discovered to buy the sailing vessel he would have to take out Nicaraugan master papers. Which he did. Subsequently, M. G. M. annexed the ship and it will be a highlight in "The Ship From Shanghai," along with Kay Johnson and Conrad Nagel.

An amusing confusion has resulted from the sale insofar as Capt. Collins is concerned. Because of his Nicaraguan master papers, he wasn't allowed to vote during the election. The government is still investigating his status to decide whether he is an American or a Nicaraguan citizen.

Walter Catlett Tells a Story

WALTER CATLETT tells the yarn about the blustering Englishman who button-holed every one he could at the Lambs Club and started telling them about his mother and what a lovely drawing-room she had. His victims, however, always shoved him aside at this point and meandered on their way.

Will Rogers

One day, however, an innocent listened to the blustering and rather tipsy Englishman.

"Oh, I say, old chap," blurred the loquacious one. "We English doncha know, take our home life so seriously. Yes, now my mother has a drawing-room —"

"What about it?" prompted the patient listener.

The Englishman stared indignantly. "Why," he exploded, "my mother wouldn't permit you in her drawing-room for a hundred pounds!"

Hollywood is divided into factions over the number of sticks of gum Will Rogers chews at once. Half claims he chews a whole package. The other half, that he chews only three pieces. Both factions, however, admit that he chews silently, though his jaw movement is astounding.

Eva Tanguay May Try Films

JACK WARNER, espied at ye Brown Derby lunching with Ricardo Cortez, Frank Fay and others. Jack says his trip to Europe is off. Big business keeps him ter hum. He denies, however, that Warner's and First National will merge with the Brown Derby.

SCREENALITIES: A whisper from across ye yawning Atlantic declares that the former Mrs. Norman Kerry and Allan Forrest are married. Forrest was once married to Lottie Pickford . . . Donald Ogden Stewart, W. K. humorist writer and actor, has departed for Philadelphia, where he will open in "Holiday." He just finished an amusing role in Marion Davies' outloud "Dulcy." . . . George Jessell is eastbound. He stops off at Chicago to see a world's series game or two. Then on to New York and a round of shows. Later, back to ye Gold Coast and another flick . . . Priscilla Dean and her husband, Les Arnold, dining with Mr. and Mrs. George Converse (Anita Stewart), at the Chateau Elysee . . . Eva Tanguay, the grand old "I-Don't-Care" girl, is in town. Miss Tanguay owns quite a bit of property hereabouts and is living in one of her own houses, I understand that M. G. M. is flirting with her in an effort to induce her to appear in a picture. She expects to voodvil soon, regardless . . . Another hearsay of interest is that Greta Garbo will be starred in that best seller, "Ex-Wife," when she finishes doing right by "Anna Christie." . . . and—that's all.

Little Girl Dies When Hit by Truck

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 7.—Betty Ann Close, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Close, died yesterday from injuries sustained when struck by a motor truck. B. C. Roberts, driver of the truck, was exonerated by police.

Lillian Gish Gets First Talking Film Role

Production of Lillian Gish's first all-talking picture, "The Swan," will be begun October 15 at the United Artists Studio in Hollywood.

"The Swan," Ferencz Molnar's play, will come to the screen with Miss Gish in the role portrayed on the stage by Eva LaGellienne. Conrad Nagel and Rod LaRocque will play in the film the characters enacted on the stage by Basil Rathbone and Philip Merivale.

Melville Baker, who translated the play, has adapted it to films and is now in Hollywood, working with Paul Stein, who will direct Miss Gish. Stein acted for Max Reinhardt in Berlin. He has just directed Ann Harding in "Her Private Affairs."

A new Lillian Gish, far removed from the fluttering heroine of Griffith films, will be revealed in "The Swan"; an emotional actress, possessed of an excellent voice, and now acting in a modern and romantic tale, it is pointed out.

Takes to Air

Jack Holt portrays a hard-boiled sergeant in "Flight," screen drama of the air, coming to the Harris and Sheridan Square Saturday.

Love and War

Marion Davies, as she appears in "Marianne," her new talking picture, in which she meets with love and war.

LYRIC PLAYS IN PROGRAMS TONIGHT

"Luckee Girl," musical-comedy, in which the rotund Billy House makes merry, opens its Pittsburgh engagement this evening in Syria Mosque. Tomorrow evening it moves to the Shubert Alvin, where it will play during the remainder of the week.

Opening tonight, Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee," a musical comedy, will be presented in the Nixon.

This week's attraction in the Shubert Pitt, home of the George Sharp Players, will be a domestic comedy, "What Anne Brought Home," opening tonight and playing Thursday and Saturday matinees.

Next week, opening Monday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, the Alvin will offer "Broadway Nights," with a cast headed by Texas Guinan, "queen of the cabarets," who brings her famous Gang, also a large band.

Beginning Monday night, October 14, "Blackbirds" will be the attraction in the Nixon. This organization of fast stepping comedians, singers and dancers, kept Broadway in a good humor over a long run. After its local engagement "Blackbirds" goes direct to Chicago.

"Danger," the mystery thriller by Tom Barry, will be presented by the George Sharp Players in the Shubert Pitt Theater during the week of October 14. Although it combines all the thrills and chills of the usual mystery play, it also tells a logical story, it is claimed.

Humphreys Named Irak Commissioner

LONDON, Oct. 7. — (AP.) — Sir Francis Humphreys has been appointed high commissioners for Irak, replacing the late Sir Gilbert Clayton. Sir Francis previously was minister to Afghanistan.

Sir Francis had an adventurous career as the first minister of Great Britain at Kabul. During the severe fighting in that capital last February his legation, although under fire, become a refuge for most of the foreign colony. He directed the evacuation of foreign residents by transport airplanes from India and was credited with saving the lives of former King Amanullah and his court.

Prince Otto Selects Louvain University

LOUVAIN. — (INS.) — This celebrated city, which was so hard hit by the last war, will soon have a distinguished student at the University in the young person of Archduke Francis Joseph Otto, pretender to the Hungarian throne, eldest son of former Empress Zita.

He has been studying in Belgium for the past two years and completed his gymnasium training last June. He will study law this winter, thus continuing his preparation for kingship, if ever he happens to reach the throne.

Jean Arthur Cast As Heroine for Buddy Rogers

America's boy friends has a new girl friend. Jean Arthur is to be Charles Buddy Rogers' leading woman in his next starring picture, "Here Comes the Bandwagon."

It will be the first time that Rogers and Miss Arthur have appeared together in a picture, although each has been under contract to Paramount for some time.

The production will be directed by George Abbott, the Broadway playwright and stage maestro, who directed the Two Black Crows, Moran and Mack, in "Why Bring That Up?"

Miss Arthur has just finished the part of Clara Bow's sister in the "It" girl's latest all-talking film, "The Saturday Night Kid." Prior to that she had the feminine leads in "The Greene Murder Case" and "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu."

The new role will give her an opportunity to return to a romantic and sympathetic characterization. She and Rogers will be seen as performers in a carnival troupe.

SAILING ALONG

George Bancroft, one of the screen's leading champions of rough-neck roles, and his wife are sailing along over the Atlantic bound for France. George said he's going to check up and see if the real Paris is anything like the Paris so often depicted in the movies.

Campaign Launched For Denison Campus

NEWARK, O., Oct. 7.—Mrs. T. C. Heisey was chosen associate chairman of the Newark district in the campaign to raise $3,300,000 with which to rehabilitate Denison University with an adminstraion building, biological building, conservatory of music auditorium, women's dormitory and other extensions on the campus. C. H. Spencer is chairman for this district.

Two Horses Killed When Hit by Bus

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 7.—Two work horses were killed on the Waynesburg-Morgantown highway when struck by a Pittsburgh bound bus which was returning from Morgantown with football fans who had attended the West Virginia-Duquesne University football game. The horses were owned by Brice Gordon, farmer.

According to a police report they had strayed on the highway.

WHEELED STAGE OPENS IN PARIS

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The opening of the new Rothschild Theater Pigalle launched the winter's social and theatrical season last night. It also introduced to Paris mechanized drama which eliminates 20-minute waits between acts.

Four electrically controlled stages moving on vertical and horizontal steel tracks presented a play of 15 acts. The production, written by Sacha Guitry especially for the inauguration of the Rothschild Theater, was elected to demonstrate the lighting posibilities and technical perfection of the new theater.

Two operators can run the show, it is claimed, one controlling the switchboard and the other manipulating the stage shifting gear.

The play, entitled "Histories of France," so fully covered its subject and there was such an aray of talent in the cast that the performance lasted until after 1 a. m., notwithstanding the machinery.

Sleeping Sickness Fatal After 5 Days

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Rose Veccione, 57, died yesterday, five days after she was stricken with sleeping sickness. She had lived for 25 years in Niles, Trumbull County.

Warner Brothers To Build Theater

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 7.—Warner Bros. have developed plans for a new theater here. Work is to start in the spring and will involve an expenditure of $1,000,000. Youngstown is the home of the Warner Brothers.

Burglar Hides in Closet, Leaves With Cash

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 7.—A thief who robbed the Harry B. Worthington home, Charleroi, of $35 in cash and jewelry worth $200 to $300, hid in a closet and waited until members of the household retired. The thief was surprised by their return from a vacation trip, but escaped.

3 GIRLS ESCAPE HOME HERE

Missing Persons Bureau operatives and city police today were asked to search for three girls who late yesterday escaped from the Home of the Good Shepherd. Officials of the home said the girls climbed over the fence.

The fugitives are Katherine Younger, 17; Kathleen Hartsell, 18; and Alice Irwin, 20. Police had no addresses for them.

Venango to Ballot On Voting Machines

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 7.—With a rider attached to it, calling for a bond issue of $100,000, the voting machine proposition will be submitted to Venango County in November. County commissioners indicated that they are opposed to the machines.

ILLNESS HALTS ANNIVERSARY

Illness of the Rev. Dr. John Dows Hills, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany, Bellevue, caused postponement of services commemorating the twentieth anniversary of his pastorate.

Special services scheduled for yesterday and a reception tonight in honor of Dr. Hills, Mrs. Hills and their daughter, Miss Adrianna Hills, were canceled when the veteran clergyman was stricken ill.

At his residence in South Home avenue, Avalon, today it was said that Dr. Hills was recovering slowly from nervous exhaustion which had affected his heart.

Youth Killed By Chum's Bullet

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 7.—Gisto Pucchi, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pucchi, of Muse, is dead from a bullet fired by Tony Babia, 16, a chum. Pucchi was picking coal. Babia, who had just purchased a rifle, fired at a bird. The bullet struck Pucchi in the chest.

Automobile Upset Fatal for Youth

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 7.—Harry Hedglin, 22, of Mine No. 5, died in a hospital from injuries received when his car overturned on the Mercer-Grove City road.

STRIKE TIES UP N. Y. PRODUCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—The city was threatened with a shortage of fresh vegetables and fruits today as a strike of 3,000 union market truckmen paralyzed movement of produce from rail terminals and docks.

Over the week-end 3,000 carloads of food, valued at $6,000,000, accumulated in railroad yards, with additional arrivals increasing the congestion hourly.

The strike was called by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs for an eight-hour day and time and one-half for overtime.

A detail of 200 police was sent into the market district on the lower West Side to guard garages, docks and warehouses. Authorities in Jersey City, Weehawken, Hoboken and Cruxton on the New Jersey side of the river took similar precautions.

The produce, market men estimated, was depreciating at the rate of 1 per cent an hour.

T. R. JR., SWORN AS GOVERNOR

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—With his hand resting on the same Bible with which his father took oath as Presdent of the United States, Col. Theodore Roosevelt today swore to uphold the laws of Porto Rico and the Constitution of the United States as Governor of the island.

The Governor arrived an hour late, owing to headwinds, and the actual inaugural ceremony took place partly in a heavy rain.

Mrs. Roosevelt sat nearby while the colonel was speaking.

MacDonald Lauded In Dr. Kerr's Talk

Ramsay MacDonald, British premier visiting the United States, yesterday was lauded as "an ambassador of peace and good-will" by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, speaking on "Supposing Him to Be the Gardener," at the vesper services.

"He comes as the representative of the motherland of all-English-speaking people," he said. "It is an epoch-making event, of which the churches throughout the world should take cognizance."

Franklin Suburb Gets More Water

FRANKLIN, Oct. 7.—Strides toward providing Rocky Grove, Franklin's most populous suburb, with improved water supply before winter comes, were taken over the week-end, as city council announced purchase of the lines and properties belonging to the Rocky Grove Water Company. The improvements will mean installation of fire plugs, larger mains and higher pressure.

WORLD SERIES FEATURE ON AIR; SOUSA RETURNS

'Mickey' Cochrane to Talk On Baseball Classic

By DARRELL V. MARTIN.
Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

FOUR bands, a taffy pull at Tompkins Corners and the views of "Mickey" Cochrane, Athletics' catcher, on the pending World Series, stand out as unusual attractions on the radio tonight.

The world's greatest bandmaster, John Philip Sousa, will bring "The Thunderer" and other martial music at 9:30 p. m. on the General Motors Family Party, which will last one hour, beginning this evening.

Other bands include the Fleet Wing Band, KDKA, at 6:30; the U. S. Army Band, WJAS, at 8, and Dick Powell's Enright State Band, WCAE, at 11:30 p. m.

After seeing and hearing George Frame Browne at the Radio Show last week we will have a greater appreciation for Real Folks, which already has firmly established itself as a favorite entertainment among Pittsburgh listeners. Mayor Matt Tompkins and the folk at Tompkins Corners will engage in a taffy pull, KDKA, at 9:30.

On the eve of the World Series between the Athletics and the Cubs, "Mickey" Cochrane, star receiver for the Athletics, will give his views of the combat, WJAS, at 10, during the Burns Panatelas.

WORLD SERIES TOMORROW

Three Pittsburgh stations will carry a play-by-play account of the world series games from Chicago tomorrow at 2 o'clock. Graham McNamee, "Sen" Kaney and George Hicks will observe for the NBC account to be heard through KDKA and WCAE. Ted Husing, whose voice is familiar to listeners of the Old Gold Hour, will handle the description for Columbia and WJAS.

Tomorrow's game will be broadcast from Wrigley Park, Chicago. Wednesday's game between the Athletics and Cubs will come from this location also, after which the teams move east to Shibe Park, Philadelphia, where the games will be put on the air beginning Friday.

We Now Present

It's all over and maybe some boys aren't happy, including your author.

Jim Simpson will leave for Los Angeles in the near future to discuss a Radio Show with promoters out west.

One hundred and eighteen thousand persons saw the Pittsburgh Radio Show in Duquesne Garden.

Don't you enjoy the ambiguous remarks made by the gruffian in "Sunday at Seth Parker's?" Last night when Seth proposed a "good deed offering" to replace the coin contributions and remarked that every person present should have a good deed on the tip of his fingers, this odd character interposed with "I've got a wart on the end of my thumb."

Fans never tire of the religious meetings at Jonesport, Me. Hundreds of Pittsburghers sit up until 10:45 for this feature alone. We would say that Jim Simpson missed his one big bet by not bringing Phillips H. Lord to the Pittsburgh Radio Show. The author of "Seth Parker" would have packed them in.

Incidentally Mr. Lord is the author of "The Song Story," given over WCAE every Monday night at 7:45 by Virginia Harmon, soprano, and Moss Clarke.

"The Singing School,' which we expect to hear from WCAE soon, is another Phillips Lord creation.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

Here is how Billy Jones, NBC comedian, almost ruined a song by Milton Cross, when they were guests at an out-of-town broadcasting station.

Cross stepped to the microphone, and in a dignified manner said: "I shall now sing "I Looked Into Your Garden.' "

Jones leaned close to the microphone and added:

"But I didn't see any vegetables."

RADIO WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Additional winners in the Warner Brothers-Keps Electric contest to determine the favorite Warner movie stars in Pittsburgh were announced today.

William P. Linn, of the East Liberty Y. M. C. A., and Bertha Weisner, of 820 Greenfield avenue, won first and second prizes, a Temple Highboy and a Temple Lowboy.

Dolores Costello was chosen the favorite star in the first week's balloting.

Martha Teckmeyer, 1327 Point View street, won third prize, a $50 Warner Brothers merchandise credit, applicable to the purchase of any Temple radio.

Mary Mercurio, 160 Winslow street; Leopold Weiss, 246 Dinwiddie street; Jeanette Schwartz, 1919 Webster avenue; Mrs. Ella Bryant, 1353 Diana street; Helen Bradley, 5823 Rural avenue; Nellie R. Sharp, 4820 Main street, Homestead; L. R. Gurge, 523 North Beatty street, and George Weinel, 1116 Twelfth street, McKees Rocks.

Seventy-one other winners will receive passes to the Stanley, Grand or Enright. These winners will be notified by mail. The Warner Brothers Merchandise Credits also will be mailed to the winners.

All votes for the second contest which is now running, must be in the hands of the judges not later than Wednesday midnight. This is necessary because of the huge proportions the contest has achieved.

Klan to Oppose Gov. Cooper's Candidacy

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 7.—Attorney Clyde W. Osborne, former head of the Ku Klux Klan in Ohio, announced that he intends to oppose Gov. Myers Y. Cooper for renomination and re-election next year, and will throw his strength to Congressman James T. Begg, of Sandusky. Begg was a candidate last year against Cooper and gave him a close race. Osborne says he intends to bring Klan strength to bear in the race.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 7.—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, New York, will address a Good Will dinner on November 11, to be attended by 1,000 representative men.

HAVANA PLANS HUGE STADIUM

HAVANA, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—A $2,000,000 stadium, with a seating capacity of 50,000, will be built within a short distance of Havana's downtown district, and is to open February, 1930. A concession was signed by the Cuban sanitation department. The stadium will be built and operated by private interests, but after 20 years it is to become the property of the government.

Reports that the concession had been signed brought protests from Mrs. Maude Barlow, wife of Joseph E. Barlow, American resident of Havana, to the American embassy. Barlow asserts his title to the Manglar property, where the stadium will be built, in a $9,000,000 claim against the Cuban government now before the State Department.

Brokers' Loans Less — Harbison-Walker Gains

BROKERS' LOANS CUT, SAYS BANKER

Invisible Items Offset Increased Totals Reserve Bank Has Made Public

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Brokers' loan reports of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York have run so contrary to popular expectations in recent weeks that there is a wide-spread disposition to question the validity of the statistics.

Of course, the cynical suggestion that the figures have been deliberately manipulated may be dismissed as patently absurd. And yet the total of brokers' loans reported does not accurately reflect the aggregate amount of credit tied up in security speculation. In addition, bank loans against security collateral to their own customers must be considered. But there are additional invisible items, which elude the statistician, because they do not go through regular reporting channels.

ACTUAL DECLINE

Accordingly, the senior officer of one of the great New York banks believes that, contrary to the reported loan totals, which showed advances in brokers' loans to an unprecedented peak, brokers' loans have actually been declining in the last fortnight. This banker admits that the visible items have increased, but contends that his familiarity with the inside of bank operations convinces him that this increase has been more than offset by a decrease in invisible items.

The invisible items include loans made directly to investment banking houses, which are not connected with the Federal Reserve system, by foreign banking firms. These foreign advances have been heavily depleted in recent weeks. With the reduction of these invisible loans, there has been a shifting to visible reported loans. The flatry incident in London was perhaps more serious than generally realized on this side, and resulted in the calling back of funds.

It also precipitated heavy London selling of American securities, and was perhaps the immediate cause of the drastic liquidation at the New York Stock Exchange. Besides, there was withdrawal of some funds by Continental lenders. France has heavy deposits in New York, and with evidence of a tightening of the Parisian money market has been calling in some funds from abroad.

DIRECT LOANS

There are domestic invisible items also in the total of brokers' loans. Not a few corporations and capitalists have been making loans directly to brokers, instead of making them through banks, and paying the banks a substantial fee for the service. The New York Clearing House Association, in order to discourage bootleg lending by non-banking lenders, raised the fees and stipulated that no sums under $100,000 be lent by members of the association for customers. To evade these restrictions, some bootleg lenders have cut out the middleman, and have dealt directly with brokers. These loans are not included in the weekly figures reported by the Federal Reserve Bank.

In well-informed banking quarters, the belief was expressed that the necessitous foreign liquidation of American securities had already been accomplished.

The marked improvement in railroad earnings has stimulated railroad buying of equipment and supplies. The new efficiency with which the railroads are run, has, however, retarded the rate of wearing out old equipment. The president of one of the largest transcontinental trunk lines, in a message to this column, points out:

NEWER PURCHASES

"While there has been some stimulation in the purchase of equipment and cars on account of increased earnings, it is a fact that through improved maintenance the railroads are holding their equipment in fine condition, and as there has been a surplus at all times I doubt whether we have ahead of us any material increase in equipment and power purchases over what has obtained for a number of years, purchasers tending rather to larger capacity and increased efficiency.

"I think this also applies to rail. As a general thing railroads have kept fully apace with regard to rail replacements and have not stinted in this respect."

In the light of last week's panicky selling, it is reassuring to know that there is no credit shortage in this country. Such tightness as exists results from banking policy, rather than from a shortage of reserves. The Federal Reserve is still deliberately immobilizing gold through encouraging the circulation of gold certificates. The Federal Reserve has sought to restrain the expansion of the speculative bubble, which it knew at length would burst. It has tried for many months to put on the brakes. To change the figure of speech, it knew the patient was feverish, and sought through banking remedies to massage down the patient, who seemed likely to burn up from overexcitement.

The technique of the Federal Reserve may have been faulty, but its aim was commendable. In Wall street, there has been a feeling that the system lacked powerful leadership since the passing of Benjamin Strong.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS.

Stocks Advance — Lone Star Gas Active

FURTHER GAINS RECORDED ON 'BIG BOARD'

Several Soft Spots Show Up as Shares Bought to Support Market Are Sold

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Stock prices made further recovery in today's market, but several soft spots developed as shares bought for supporting purposes last week were thrown back into the market.

Scores of issues were marked up 2 to 10 points, and Columbian Carbon scored 35¾ to a new high record at 335½. Trading was in fairly heavy volume, with the ticker showing an average delay of about 20 minutes during the morning.

The rise in the Chemical shares was based on predictions of unusually favorable 1929 earnings. Commercial Solvents, Allied Chemical, Air Reduction and U. S. Industrial Alcohol all sold 7 to 10 points higher. National Biscuit ran up 6¼ to a new high record at 223¾. Case Threshing, American and Foreign Power, Otis Elevator, Westinghouse Electric, Atchison, Missouri Pacific, Gillette Safety Razor, St. Louis Southwestern and General Railway Signal sold 5 to 6 points higher.

While most observers were agreed that last week's shake-out, one of the most drastic on record, had materially improved the market's position, opinion was still widely divided as to the future course of prices. A renewal of liquidation was looked for in some quarters within the next week, while in others it was felt that last Friday's lows would stand for some time to come.

CREDIT EASIER

Credit conditions were somewhat easier. Call money dropped from 6½ to 6 per cent, and the time money market displayed an easier undertone. The weekly Federal Reserve broker's loan statement is awaited with considerable interest in the hope that it will throw some light on the extent of real liquidation in last week's break. New financing, which has been held up by the recent decline in prices, is again making its appearance on a large scale, the $60,00,000 Marine Midland Corporation issue being advertised this morning, with all the stock reported as sold.

TOBACCO SHARES OFF

Rubber shares were quiet despite private London advices that Dutch producers had been asked to withhold 10 to 20 per cent of rubber production from the market in an attempt to obtain higher prices. Tobacco shares, which soared in spectacular fashion on Saturday as a result of the increase in cigaret prices, ran into heavy profit taking. American Tobacco issues broke about 10 points each, and some of the others yielded 2 points or more.

Steels also showed traces of heaviness. United States Steel common, Bethlehem, Colorado Fuel and Vanadium sold down 2 points or more, and met stock on all rallies.

WALL STREET HEARS

That recent buying of Remington Rand has been based on high current earnings.

That brokers closely identified with the Whelan interests were heavy purchasers of tobacco stocks on Saturday.

That copper producers expect to sell 400,000,000 pounds of the red metal to foreign and domestic consumers in the last quarter of the year.

Consolidated Gas Earns $5.72 Share

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7. — Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company, of Baltimore, reports for 12 months to August 31, net income $7,065,173 after fixed charges equal after preferred dividends to $5.72 a share on common versus $5,760,980 in 1928 period of $4.57 on common.

Spanish Peseta Under Pressure

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Spanish pesetas after opening at 32.74 to the pound declined to 32.82. Exchange brokers report the slump is due to heavy continental selling and are puzzled at the lack of any official support from Spanish exchange committee.

California Crude Production Gains

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—Daily crude production in California for the week ended October 5 totaled 883,000 barrels against 878,500 barrels for the week previous, up 4,500 barrels.

Fisher's Commodity Index Number Off

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 7.—Prof Irving Fisher's index number of commodity prices for the past week was 94.7 against 95.8 a week ago and 96.3 a year ago.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The raw sugar market was quiet and unchanged early today at 4.08c for spots, duty paid, with no sales reported.

Raw futures unchanged to 1 point lower under liquidation and some selling by houses with European connections, influenced by the inappointing showing of the London market over our week-end adjournment. The offerings were not aggressive, however, and a steadier tone developed in the late forenoon and all losses were recovered with the list at midday net unchanged to 1 point higher. Business was light and buying was believed to be for trade account and covering of hedges against recent sales in the spot market.

Refined was unchanged at 5.50c for fine granulated with a fair withdrawal demand, but no new business reported.

Money Market.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Bar silver, 23½d per ounce; money, 5½ per cent; discount rates—short bills, 6⅛@6¼ per cent. Three months, 6¼@6 5-16 per cent.

Speculation and Psychology Warning Justified

—By B. C. FORBES—

PRESIDENT WILSON once declared "prosperity is psychological." Speculation is more so.

Just as "Wall Street" acted without rhyme or reason while the bull market was raging, so it may act without rhyme or reason when prices go the other way. Ten per cent call money couldn't stop the bull movement; nor could five per cent call money stop Friday's collapse.

HAVING gone to sensational extremes in one direction, there is no guarantee that the stock market will not go equally far in the opposite direction regardless of justification or lack of justification. When the will to sell supplants the will to buy, quotations crumble no matter how good business may be or how cheap money may become. Sentiment always sways speculation; we have never had a more striking demonstration of this than during the current year.

Certainly there was no sudden transformation in the condition of American industry, American agriculture, American monetary conditions, American trade last week. Yet see what happened on the New York Stock Exchange. A strong market on Wednesday was followed by a demoralized market on Thursday and Friday, while Saturday brought a brisk recovery.

There you have psychology, sentiment at work—fear alternating with hope.

IT HAS been widely declared that the chief sufferers have been little speculators who couldn't meet demands for additional margin. Unquestionably there was considerable such selling on Friday, when the total turnover was the heaviest since the fateful 8,000,000 share day of March, 1928.

But don't imagine for a moment that the big fellows were not hit hard. Look at how the highest-priced stocks slumped during Friday's turmoil:

WHAT happens in Wall street is of more concern to the nation now than it used to be because of the enormous increase in the number of citizens owning shares. Our total of security owners today is equivalent to two out of every three families in the land. American Telephone and Telegraph alone has 550,000 stockholders, Cities Service more than 500,000, the Pennsylvania Railroad 157,000, General Motors upwards of 140,000, Steel Corporation 170,000, to specify only a few. A list of upwards of 100,000 stockholders is becoming quite common for large utility, railway and industrial corporations.

You will thus see that disturbing events in security markets are more liable than ever before to have a disturbing influence upon prosperity — upon consumption, upon forward buying, upon new enterprise, upon commodity prices, upon new building, upon travel, upon employment.

THE view repeatedly expressed here has been that it was the highest interest of the American people that the orgy of stock speculation should be discouraged instead of stimulated and that the retreat to sanity be conducted gradually, orderly, not precipitately. But all such cautionary counsel was ridiculed. A new era, we were glibly told, had been born, and the unique child could not be understood by old fogies but only by the new generation.

Last week's happenings on the New York Stock Exchange and on other exchanges throughout the country should have created no astonishment—except astonishment that they had so long been warded off.

WHAT of the outlook now? The rally which was started on Saturday may conceivably be developed into a rather impressive recovery. But that the year's peaks will again be reached by boomed stocks is most unlikely.

If another violent sinking spell attacks the market toward the end of the year, it may last much more than two days and may go very much farther.

LET us hope that swift and drastic reduction in brokers' loans will bring much lower money rates and that these will have a helpful influence upon industry and business.

Our economic position, outside of the stock market, is essentially sound.

It is entirely natural that an abnormally active summer should be followed by a less active fall. All indications still show that 1929 trade totals will afford very favorable comparisons with other prosperous years.

Boatner Succeeds Howard on C., G. W.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Col. N. L. Howard, president of the Chicago, Great Western railroad for the last four years, resigned today. He was succeeded by V. V. Boatner, president of the Peoria and Pekin Union Railway. Mr. Boatner will assume entire direction of the Great Western operations immediately, under the guidance of the executive committee. Ill-health was given as Col. Howard's reason for retirement.

Building Outlook For Quarter Good

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Building construction is swinging into the fourth quarter of the year under favorable auspices, says a nation-wide survey today by the Indiana Limestone Company.

"Despite a sluggish condition in many of the districts, the final quarter is entered with confidence that the year as a whole will be one of sustained, normal activity," says Vice President Thomas J. Vernia.

"Prosperity is reflected in the large volume of commercial and industrial construction so far this year. This type of building exceeds that of the first nine months of last year by approximately 25 per cent. Although this has been somewhat offset by the decline in residential construction, the entire industry is progressing in a stable, orderly way.

"New building in America for the first nine months of the year approximates $5,125,000,000. This figure, based on preliminary reports from several hundred cities and towns, shows about an 8½ per cent recession from the same period last year."

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 5 points in response to relatively steady cables. Three more private crop reports were published. One of which made the condition of the crop 54.1 and the indicated yield 15,025,000 bales while another made the condition 54.5 and the indicated yield 14,971,000 bales. The third, however, placed the condition at only 51.4 and the indicated crop at 14,494,000 bales, and seemed to offset the effects of the larger figure on local sentiment.

Trading was moderately active and the market held fairly steady during the first half hour. The active months showed net advances of about 3 to 5 points on covering and trade buying. Liverpool cables reported that hedging and covering had been absorbed by continental and Bombay buying but said the demand for cotton cloths in Manchester was limited.

The market was quiet later in the morning. Southern selling continued, but there was enough covering or trade buying to absorb it on moderate setbacks and the market showed a generally steady tone.

Prices at midday were 2 to 5 points net higher with December selling around 18.85c and March 19.17c.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 7.—Cotton, spot, good business done; prices steady; American strict good middling, 11.15; good middling, 10.76; strict middling, 10.56; middling, 10.36; strict low middling, 10.21; low middling, 9.96; strict good ordinary, 9.56; good ordinary, 9.16. Sales, 8,000 bales including 5,400 American. Receipts, 1,000, American nil. Futures closed quiet: October, 9.98; December, 10.01; January 10.04; March, 10.10; May, 10.16; July, 10.15.

Atchison Railway Profits Up Sharply

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Atchison Railway net income for eight months ended August 31 was $35,876,301 after charges and taxes, against $20,273,165 in the 1928 period, an increase of 77 per cent.

Atchison net is equal to $13.13 a share on common against $6.67 a share in same period in 1928. The August net income was $8,543,670 after taxes and charges against $6,543,677 in 1928.

Rapid Transit Fare Suit Is Postponed

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Trial of suit of the Transit Commission against the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to enforce the five-cent fare under its contracts with the city of New York was postponed until October 16 by mutual consent.

World Wheat Yield Shows Big Decline

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The 1929 wheat production in 30 countries has been reported to the Department of Agriculture at 2,865,246,000 bushels, against 3,245,881,000 bushels in the same countries in 1928.

Lorillard Boosts Price of Cigarets

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—P. Lorillard has advanced list price of cigarets 30 cents per thousand to $6.40. The advance of 30 cents to $6.40 brings Lorillard price to same basis as American Tobacco, R. J. Reynolds and Liggett & Myers.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Trading was resumed on the curb exchange at the beginning of the new week today in highly uncertain and confusing fashion. The market opened moderately higher, encountered a heavy wave of profit taking on Saturday's sharp advances before mid-day, but by early afternoon was once more headed upward. Stock bought for support purposes late last week appeared to be under liquidation and traders were somewhat nervous over the possibility of a sharp secondary reaction. Call money again renewed at 6½ per cent and monetary conditions were regarded as fairly satisfactory for the moment. Time money displayed a somewhat easier undertone. High priced issues fluctuated widely.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

MINER SHOOTS WIFE, SELF

BRIDGEPORT, O., Oct. 7.—The revolver shots fired in Cleveland Saturday night by Robert Farmer, 60, former vice president of the Eastern Ohio subdistrict, United Mine Workers of America, when he killed his wife, Janet Farmer, 56, and then took his own life, awakened echoes of another shooting affray which led to Farmer being acquitted of a murder charge growing out of the 1922 strike in an attack which cost the life of John I. Major, of Henrysburg, and resulted in wounding of two other men as they were en route to a New Lafferty strip mine.

Farmer was in charge of a meeting called for an hour when the strip mine workers would be passing New Lafferty. The strip mine employes, led by Major, a Panama Canal steam shovel operator, were persuaded to return home. As their cars were turned, they were shot in the back.

Two men were sent to the penitentiary, one of whom was later freed to return to Europe. Farmer was the central figure in a trial in Belmont County.

Farmer and his wife were estranged. He sought constantly to persuade his wife to return to him, but failed. His plea Saturday night rejected, his daughter, Mary, 20, saw her father draw a gun, fire three times at the mother and then kill himself.

"FOR 15 YEARS I SUFFERED; THEN KONJOLA CAME!"

Pittsburgh Lady Had Spent Hundreds of Dollars Seeking Escape From Various Ills

How much better to try Konjola in the first place! Quit experimenting—quit groping as if in the dark. Put your faith in this new and different medicine as tens of thousands have to their everlasting joy.

MRS. F. J. GYENES

Remarkable, indeed, are many of the recoveries brought about by this modern medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs. So remarkable, indeed, that they might challenge belief were the facts not known and verified. Consider, as such an experience, that of Mrs. F. J. Gyenes, 3144 West Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, who suffered for fifteen years before she found the medicine she needed; the medicine she should have had in the first place—Konjola.

Would you know what Konjola may mean to you? Would you hear what it has done for tens of thousands, many of whom had well-nigh abandoned hope of ever being well again? Meet the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. He is here, not with promises and pledges, but with the true story of Konjola and the amazing record it has made wherever given the chance to prove its merits.

After all, what could be wiser than to be guided by the experiences of those who found in Konjola the right medicine? Read, then, the statement of Mrs. Gyenes, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"For fifteen years I suffered, and then Konjola came, bringing with it blessed relief from terrible anguish from rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness, dizzy spells and constipation. I spent hundreds of dollars taking treatments; I spent hundreds more in hospital bills, and the best I ever got was temporary relief, and very temporary at that. I suffered so that I felt that life was not worth living. The outlook was dark, for had not everything I tried failed? I need not try to describe the pangs and pains of rheumatism. All who have endured these dread ailments know what they mean. I was disheartened and discouraged beyond words.

"This was my condition when Konjola was recommended to me. I started on this new medicine merely hoping that it might do for me what I heard and read it had done for others. But I had little confidence. Imagine, then, my surprise and delight when I felt Konjola helping me. The very first bottle helped me, and as the weeks passed the improvement in my condition became more marked. To make a long story short, I took eight bottles, and in eight weeks I was like another person. Today I am feeling simply great; life is worth living, and I am enjoying health I never expected to have again. It is easy for me to understand why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends. If all who suffer knew about Konjola what I do it would have a billion friends."

So it goes; the same splendid story of results when Konjola is put to the test. Here is a pure, powerful medicine; effective in the most stubborn cases of the aged, yet it may be given to the youngest infant.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting the public, and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

A Velvet Revue

TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

11:30 to 12:30 O'Clock

A unique exhibit, devoted entirely to sumptuous velvet apparel, of such importance this season . . . to be presented on our Fourth Floor, where every phase of the mode in Velvet will be featured in displays of luxurious ensembles, evening gowns and wraps, hostess gowns and boudoir apparel . . . also of Velvets by the yard.

MANNEQUINS —from the Velvet Revue, now playing in the Penn Theater, will promenade in our gown section, Fourth Floor, wearing authentic Velvet modes.

NEW INQUIRY INTO VOTE FRAUDS BEGINS

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

MONUMENT HILL, overlooking Pittsburgh's North Side, is crumbling at the command of batteries of modern steam shovels, this being one of the twentieth century's ways of treating antiquity. Monument Hill, geologists will tell you, is 300 million years old. Prof. Henry Leighton, of Pitt, thus estimates the age of the hill, disagreeing with some of us who thought the hill was only 299 million years old.

Havey J. Boyle

In discussing the passing of the relic from the days when pre-historic monsters waddled along Fifth avenue, turned into Wood street, and slipped into the Monongahela River, Prof. Leighton says one of the layers near the base of Monument Hill clearly shows such ancient signs as corals, shell animals, and seaweeds. Creatures that we see now only in nightmares crawled to Monument Hill to die. But enough of pre-historic speculation about the local landmark. Let's come to Hecuba.

OF late Monument Hill, in an artistic and romantic way, had fallen into disuse and neglect. In recent years it was a hill with a tradition, visited but little and then only by men and women trying to recapture sentiments of 25 years ago, and more.

Because it dominated the whole of Allegheny, the hill was selected as a place for erection of the monument to commemorate the heroism of the Civil War. For a long time it was a show place, a trysting grounds, and an observation point for Pittsburghers and visitors.

BOYS who didn't have the admission to see the Pittsburghs play baseball at Exposition Park moved up the hill and from a distance watched the boys with the black mustaches toss the ball around.

Boys and girls, who now have gray hair, walked arm in arm with the moonlight bathing Monument Hill, and there, on a bench or on the steps of the monument, whispered sweet nothings of the beauty of life and the splendor of the stars and of the moon-streaks on the water. And once in awhile a side wheeler blew its whistle and the sound wafted up to Monument Hill.

BELOW, the hill, too, was a remnant of country life in youngish Pittsburgh. It was a replica of the county fair, with exhibitions of prize cattle, a midway, and horse racing at Exposition Park.

On fete days, such as the Fourth of July, the city fathers of Allegheny, yet to be enveloped by Greater Pittsburgh, arranged for a fireworks display which could be seen from many points in the city.

WITH the crumbling of the hill, another reminder of the horse and buggy age is passing out.

PAYING RESPECTS TO MEMORY OF GEN. CASIMIR PULASKI, POLISH HERO

CITY HONORS PULASKI

Pittsburgh yesterday paid homage to Brig. Gen. Casimir Pulaski, Polish Revolutionary War hero, who died in action at the battle of Savannah, October 1, 1779.

The celebration opened with a memorial mass on Flagstaff Hill, Schenley Park, in the morning, followed by a parade at noon through the Schenley district, along Fifth avenue and the downtown district, and to the North Side, where the procession disbanded. Special services were held in Memorial Hall last night, in which patriotic and Polish societies took part.

AMBASSADOR HERE

Guests of honor at the celebration were Titus Filipowicz, Polish ambassador to the United States; Waclaw Sieroszewski, Polish novelist; Col. P. Glogomsky, personal representative of Gen. Pilsudski, commander of the Polish army, and Robert von Moschzisker, chief justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, who spoke at the evening meeting.

Several thousand persons attended the memorial mass, celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. S. Gorzynski, pastor of St. Adalbert's Church, South Fifteenth street. He was assisted by the Rev. F. A. Retka, chaplain of Holy Family Orphan Asylum, and the Rev. S. Zmijewski, pastor of the Guardian Angels' Church, West End. The Rev. J. L. Pudlo, chaplain of the Felican Sisters Convent, McKeesport, was master of ceremonies. Music was furnished by the Pittsburgh Polyphonic Choir, directed by the Rev. E. Rossini.

LED BY VETERAN

The parade followed the mass, led by Col. T. A. Starzynski, president of the Polish Falcons, and a World War veteran. In line were Veterans of Foreign Wars, Spanish War Veterans, American Legion posts, Polish World War veterans, the One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Field Artillery, One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery, One Hundred and Third Signal Corps and cavalry, Polish Falcons, St. Joseph's Union, Polish Women's Alliance, Polish National Alliance, and the Polish Roman Catholic Union.

Following the parade a dinner was given in honor of visiting officials. Those attending were J. Podowski, secretary of the Polish legion; A. M. Ocepkiewicz, Polish consul; J. Kubisz, vice-consul; James F. Malone, president of city council; County Commissioner E. V. Babcock; Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute; Dr. B. G. Graham, assistant superintendent of the Pittsburgh board of education; John L. Walker, president of the Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the Revolution; W. R. Dunlap, commander of the One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Field Artillery; State Assemblyman M. A. Musmanno and Dr. Carlo Schizano, member of the Italian Legion and American Legion Post No. 5.

COL. CHURCH PRESIDES

At the evening meeting F. A. Piekarski, a member of the Pennsylvania Pulaski sesquicentennial commission, introduced Col. Church as chairman. Speakers were Mrs. William D. Hamilton, president of the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; T. L. Walker, Col. Dunlap, John W. Collins, liasion officer of the Veterans of the Spanish-American war, and Edward Crump, Jr., chairman of the Allegheny County committee of the American Legion.

The Pittsburgh Polyphonic choir sang two Palestrine selections and some Polish school children sang national songs.

'MOUNTAIN DAY' HELD AT P. C. W.

Pennsylvania College for Women students took Parish Hill, North Park, by force of numbers Saturday and staged their annual mountain day.

Mountain Day to P. C. W. girls is no unimportant event, for it is on that day that studies are forgotten; the faculty becomes democratic; every mode of dress is smart and shrieks replace the accepted conversational tone.

Sports events, consisting of potato perambulating, 50-yard dash for the male members of the faculty, dash for women teachers and students, an egg race, opened the frenzy. The girls insisted that all entrants of the faculty races should not exceed 500 pounds in weight or fall below the 50 pound mark. J. S. Kinder, head professor of the education department, threw a surprise to the students by winning the 50-yard dash in the best of form. As a reward for his athletic prowess the girls crowned him with a wreath of olive leaves.

"He looks just like the Greek god he tells us about," remarked one of Prof. Kinder's pupils.

Dr. H. C. Skinner, of the sociology department, came through in the egg race. A wooden duck in an impressive looking package was his reward for the tedious performance.

Mail Clerk Dies From Scratch On Hand

Pneumonia, said to have developed from an infection in the hand, early today caused the death of Charles Hegerle, 26, of 266 Church avenue, Mt. Oliver, according to a morgue report.

The report said that Hegerle had been employed as a clerk in the Mt. Oliver substation of the postoffice, and that he scratched his hand while sorting mail a week ago.

APPOINT AGENT AT SEWICKLEY

Charles S. Bower has been named agent at the Sewickley station by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, succeeding E. H. Steel, who has been transferred to Weirton, W. Va. Mr. Bower formerly was agent at Bridgeville and for some time has been listed as special agent. Since the first of the year he has been acting as agent at Rochester, Pa.

The new passenger station is rapidly nearing completion and it is expected will be ready for use by patrons of the road by October 20.

Traders to Dine At Squirrel Hill

The Squirrel Hill Board of Trade will meet tonight in the dining room of the Asbury Methodist Church instead of its regular meeting place. A dinner will precede the business session. The question of a new school building for the district will be considered.

DUKE STUDENTS CELEBRATE

Despite the drizzling rain that fell during the forenoon, the Duquesne University student body, jubilant over the football squad's tie score in the clash with West Virginia Saturday, celebrated today about a huge bonfire on the campus.

Members of the team, decked out in colorful replicas of those hats peculiar to dukes, were piled into an antique spring wagon and ridden around the athletic field. Lowly plebes furnished the motive power.

And the co-eds, unmindful of their finery, were numerous. They took part in the fire dances, snake dances and in the "pep" demonstrations. They also took their turn in piling wood on the fire. The program was completed in the gym when faculty members decided the inclement weather might endanger the health of the students.

SCHAD FIRST WITNESS CALLED

Registration Board Hearing Bar Committee Protest Against Questioned Lists

An unidentified person left a tax receipt at his home, Stephen J. Galliant, 113 First avenue, testified today before the Board of Registration Commissioners.

Galliant was one of the first witnesses called in connection with the petition of the elections committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association to remove thousands of names from the registration lists.

"I don't know who paid it," testified Galliant, "it was left for me while I was at work."

NUMBERS DIFFER

Examination of the registration books showed that the receipt produced by Galliant had a different number from the one listed in the books. The witness insisted he had used the one he produced today.

"It's the only one I have," he said.

The names the elections committee is seeking to purge from the lists are those who registered on tax receipts secured on assessments in books B to Z. These assessments were declared invalid by Judges Patterson, Gray and Moore in Common pleas Court the day before the primary election. An appeal to the Supreme Court is pending.

CHRISTY, SCHAD TESTIFY

Delinquent Tax Collector Walter J. Christy and George J. Schad, chairman of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, were among the first witnesses both telling of the procedure in their offices. The testimony of Schad, first to take the stand, was interrupted until he could secure counsel. It was to be resumed later today.

Asked by William H. McNaugher, of the bar's committee, if he had received any notice of the court's decision in the case of Books B to Z, Christy said he had read it.

"No tax receipts have been issued on these books since then," he said.

FLANIGAN IN LIST

Among the names in the books is that of Alderman Thomas Flanigan, of the First Ward, Christy's testimony developed.

The cases being heard today are in the First District of the First Ward. Fifty-three registrations are in question, according to the testimony of Miss Martha Hutson, a clerk for the bar committee, including one receipt which, she said, was used for two registrations.

John Hennigan, 243 Third avenue, said he had been given his receipt by a "Mr. Earle." He had given Earle a written order and intended to pay him, he said.

Henry Hammer, who said he had lived at 243 Third avenue for 16 years, said he had received his receipt from Hennigan.

William Newell, of the same address, also testified getting a receipt from Hennigan. He signed an order for it, he said, and intended to pay. It developed that Newell is a telegraph operator, although he is assessed as a laborer.

DETROIT BUS LINE PAYS DIVIDENDS ON DIME FARE

HALF MILLION PROFITS IN YEAR

System Has 15-Mile Haul Against Seven for This City, With 25-Cent Tax

Ten-cent bus service in other cities is a paying proposition in spite of the claims by officials of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company that it is impossible to operate at such a low rate.

The Detroit Motor Bus Company, which carries passengers for a dime, reported that 1928 was the best year in its history. This organiaztion started operations with only eight buses in 1920 and has since expanded its fleet to over 400.

HALF MILLION PROFIT

Last year it earned 15.2 per cent on its invested capital and surplus. Profits amounted to $541,047.

The company's latest equipment is fully equal to the buses claimed to be in the luxury class in this city. Among the recent additions to the fleet are buses carrying 16 passengers powered by eight-cylinder Cadillac motors.

15 MILE ROUTE

The longest Detroit line covers 15 miles, while the biggest ride in Pittsburgh at a 25-cent fare is only 7 miles. The average line in Detroit is nine miles long, and transfers are issued.

The Detroit company has been profitable since its organization and has an unbroken dividend record, starting in 1921. The payments include numerous extra cash disbursements and several melons in the form of stock dividends.

DIME ADEQUATE

Officials of the company have stated that they thought the 10-cent fare was adequate where lines are operated by an efficient management.

When told that 25 cents is charged in Pittsburgh, one Detroit bus man asked, "How do they get away with it?"

THREE WOMEN, 2 BOYS HURT BY AUTOS

Youth Thrown From Car, Dragged on South Side; Trio Injured in Collision

Three women, two boys and a man were injured in automobile accidents today and yesterday.

Steve Haluschak, 9, of 1111 Bingham street, was seriously injured when dragged several hundred feet after being thrown from an automobile when it collided with a parked machine, and crashed into a wall at the South Side Market House. He is in St. Joseph's Hospital.

According to a report at South Side Police Station, Paul Sexton, 35, of 51 Roanoke street, got into a machine owned by W. W. Roddant, of Coraopolis, which was parked in front of 1115 Bingham street, and drove it east on Bingham street. He crashed into a parked automobile of Mathew Corthese, of 2326 Arlington avenue, but kept on going, police said, and collided with the wall of the Market House at South Twelfth and Bingham streets.

BOY DRAGGED

The boy, a witness said, was on the running board of the automobile washing the side window, when Sexton drove the car away. He was thrown and dragged when the car struck the parked machine. Sexton as charged with being a suspicious person.

Frank J. Bornschener, 26, of 2026 South Eighteenth street, suffered severe lacerations when his auto collided with a Butler interurban car at Federal street and River avenue at 8 a. m. today. None of the passengers on the street car was injured.

Mrs. Theresa Haser, 55; her son, Robert Haser, 16, and Eva Ebatable, 22, all of Allison Park, were cut and bruised when an automobile in which they were riding, collided with another at Millvale avenue and Cypress street. All were taken to West Penn Hospital.

DRIVER HELD

They were occupants in a car driven by Fred Haser, 22, of Allison Park, who, with Leo Zaleski, 23, of Parnassus, driver of the other car, was arrested, according to police.

When a motorcycle on which she was riding was struck by an automobile in Renton, Mary Bowler, 19, of 7115 Lemington avenue, suffered a fractured left leg and body bruises authorities at the Citizens General Hospital said.

HUGE TONNAGE MOVED BY RIVERS

Committee in Charge of Celebration Here Gets War Department Data

The general committee of the Ohio River celebration to be held here October 17 and 18, to celebrate the completion by the War Department of the nine-foot stage between Pittsburgh and Cairo, Ill., was to hold a luncheon meeting in the Chamber of Commerce at noon today.

Alexander W. Dann, chairman of the committee, will preside. The other officers are William B. Rodgers, vice chairman; W. S. Linderman, treasurer, and J. Frank Tilley, secretary. Committee members include representatives of the city government and business and industrial corporations.

Figures turned over to Chairman Dann by the War Department give some idea of the tremendous tonnage carried by the three rivers of Pittsburgh for the last two years. Comparison indicate the increasing use of the river by industrial corporations.

The Monongahela River, the figures show, led all streams for tonnage in 1927 and 1928. In 1927 the Monongahela carried 25,873,029 tons; last year, the tonnage was 27,412,143. The Ohio, which has been more developed than the Allegheny, had a tonnage of 20,128,518, in 1927. Last year, the tonnage was 20,938,267. The Allegheny carried 3,762,887 tons in 1927 and increased to 3,477,927 tons last year.

The tonnage carried by the tributaries of the Ohio amounted to 6,004,259 in 1927, and to 5,999,524 in 1928.

To Pittsburghers, the completion of the locks and dams, the work of over a half century, means that this city is connected to the sea the year around by its navigable rivers.

NEW VOTE LIST INQUIRY OPENS

CHANGE IN RESULT LIKELY

Apparent evidence of fraud in marking of 39 ballots in the First District of Wilmerding, unearthed by the special recount board today, may change the Republican nomination for tax collector in that borough.

The board set aside the 39 ballots when they found double markings. On each ballot a cross had been marked opposite the name of James F. Richards for tax collector. Another cross had been placed beside the name of his opponent, C. R. Shiring, but later erased.

SEVEN VOTE MARGIN

Richards won the nomination with a total vote of 1,030, against 998 for Shiring, according to compilation by the official returning board. If the 39 ballots originally listed for Richards are thrown out, Shiring will be the winner by seven votes.

The presentment returned to court Saturday by the grand jury considering the vote list fraud charges must be taken either as an attempted whitewash of election corruption or a confession that the courts are impotent and that court procedure is too cumbersome to provide adequate remedy, Attorney E. Lowry Humes declared today.

Attorney Humes, a former member of the elections committee of the Allegheny Bar Association, assailed the presentment in an open letter sent to the committee.

Humes is campaign manager for Thomas A. Dunn, Democratic candidate for mayor.

Salvation Army Canvass Half Way to Goal

The halfway mark in the Salvation Army appeal for $110,000 was expected to be reached today. Reports for the five days of last week brought subscriptions to $50,423. Several hundred women workers are in the field in behalf of the army, canvassing residents in all parts of the county. Mrs. A. G. H. Frazier is in charge of the women's teams.

Good results is being obtained in the industrial plants and factories in the county. The railroads as well are sending in large amount which their employes have contributed.

POST SHOWS ACTIVITY

Homewood Post No. 351, American Legion this week will complete one of the most successful years in the history of the organization. R. S. Hoer, commander for two years will retire Thursday night when the newly elected officers will be installed. Great activity has been shown by the Post officials, the adjutant and finance officials turning their salaries back into the Post building fund.

Some of the outstanding acts of the Post for the last year are: Observance of the death of Marshall Foch, national commanders' banquet at William Penn Hotel, awarding of first distinguished service certificate, revision of by-laws, post uniform adopted, forming of medal holders' alumni, the first organization of its kind in history; compiling post history for 10 years, Flag Day celebration, emergency relief fund sent to national organization, largest membership in history of the organization, street fair by drum and bugle corps and tenth anniversary.

NEGRO FLEEING POLICE SHOT

A Negro was shot and his two companions escaped under a hail of bullets after they had been caught by police in a stolen automobile in East Main street, Carnegie, late last night.

The wounded man, Walter McDowell, 20, of Run street, Carnegie, was shot in the back by Motorcycle Patrolman Charles Skirpan, after he and two companions fled from an automobile which had been reported stolen from the North Side an hour before. McDowell was taken to Allegheny General Hospital, where his condition was regarded as critical.

The machine, Carnegie police said, was stolen from Mrs. Jennie Liberto, of 549 Chautauqua street. It had been parked in front of her home.

Riding his motorcycle, Patrolman Skirpan observed the trio driving in East Main street, and ordered them to halt. The Negroes complied and the policeman upon learning that the car was a stolen one, ordered them to drive to the police station.

They drove the machine several blocks with Skirpan behind them, then suddenly swerved into a curb. The trio fled down the street with Skirpan in pursuit. In the chase the policeman fired several shots, one of which lodged in McDowell's back.

Germs of decay are glued to teeth—do this

Remove FILM daily. Ordinary brushing methods fail. Employ this special way

WHAT causes decay? Germs. Germs, with tartar, are held to be a chief cause of pyorrhea—and of virtually every common tooth and gum disorder known.

Germs on the teeth—and there are millions—are difficult to reach. A dingy, glue-like film envelops them and holds them in contact with the tooth's enamel.

This film coat gets into crevices and stays. It clings so stubbornly that only the special film-removing tooth paste can remove it satisfactorily. That tooth paste is the scientific formula called Pepsodent. Utterly different from every other you have ever known, as you will notice instantly when it touches your teeth.

First Pepsodent curdles film, then removes it with complete safety to the enamel. No pumice, no harmful grit. No crude abrasive, but a creamy paste so gentle that it is recommended for children's teeth and for tender gums.

Safeguard your teeth by this scientific tooth paste. Give them the dazzling whiteness Pepsodent alone can bring. Do not delay. Write for free 10-day tube to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

BETTIS FIELD ANNOUNCES MILLION IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

GLASS TOWER FOR RADIO TO BE FEATURE

Officials' Inspection Reveals Great Scope of Work on Cross-Country Airway Link

A glass-enclosed radio tower, fitted also with telegraph and telephone instruments for the operations of Bettis airport; a new electrically-operated signal system controlling lights along the boundaries of runways according to the direction of the wind and an ultra modern passenger and freight terminal are some of the advanced features incorporated in the million-dollar improvement program underway at Pittsburgh's new Curtiss airport.

This was revealed today with announcement from New York of the start of a coast-to-coast inspection tour by Curtiss executives.

Pittsburgh is the first stop on the inspection itinerary which includes visits to St. Louis, Houston, Los Angeles, Alameda, San Francisco, San Mateo, Chicago, Milwaukee and Cleveland, with a view toward the establishment of transcontinental airways out of New York via Pittsburgh.

BUILD PERMANENTLY

Members of the inspection party, which leaves New York tonight, are: Col. G. W. Goethals, William F. Carey, president of Curtiss Airports Corporation; David Visel, vice president in charge of business operations; B. R. Waite, chief engineer; Jack F. Tuyls, field engineer; H. W. Kroyer, treasurer, and Walter S. Marvin, chairman of the board, Curtiss Airports.

The party is scheduled to arrive here Tuesday in a special car on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The executives probably will remain here over night.

J. W. Donahey, manager of Bettis airport, in speaking of the improvements underway at the field, said:

"While it will require several months to carry out our plans, we feel the terminal will profit by a better realization of its many services and its increased value to the community due to thorough planning and permanent building."

SCIENTIFIC EQUIPMENT

The glass field tower, a new note in airport operations, will be equipped with the latest scientific instruments pertaining to weather observations and radio communication with planes overhead. Observers will be in constant touch with incoming as well as outgoing ships and will be able at all times to accurately regulate traffic.

The lighting system is being installed after exhaustive research along aeronautical lines. Ground and aerial beacons of the latest type are to be installed, together with a new invention which indicates wind direction at night by lighting runways in the wind.

In addition to the new hangars and administration buildings to be set up, a large passenger and freight terminal of elaborate design, shops, storage facilities for privately-owned planes and many other new features intended for the comfort and safety of fliers and passengers are to be included.

NEW CALVARY CHURCH OPENS

Many charter members yesterday took part in the dedication of the new Calvary Presbyterian Church, Hill avenue and Swissvale street, Wilkinsburg, recently completed at a cost of $150,000.

The annual fall meeting of the Pittsburgh Presbytery will be held in the new building tomorrow.

The Rev. Albert C. Busch, pastor, and the Rev. Dr. F. Dean Miller, of Bradford, a former pastor, had charge of the morning services. Albert E. Logan, president of the board of trustees, and John McKay Smith, of the property committee, made the presentation of the keys. The dedicatory address was given by Mr. Miller and the Rev. Dr. F. W. Snyder, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Presbytery, extended greetings.

At the afternoon services, when the new organ was dedicated, the Rev. Dr. Thomas D. Edgar, of the Second United Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, presided. John H. Bell, organist of the First Presbyterian Church, of Pittsburgh, spoke. Dr. Miller delivered the evening sermon.

Merchants Will Nominate Officers

Nominations of officers for the coming year will take place at the regular meeting of the Mt. Oliver-Knoxville Business Association, to be held Wednesday night. The merchants also will lay plans for the fall and winter months.

STILL IS FOUND AFTER HOME BURNS

House in Carrick Wrecked By Blaze, Widower Who Lived There Alone Flees

A copper still, moonshine, corn sugar and other paraphernalia used in the manufacture of illicit whisky, were found, Carrick police said, in the ruins of the three-story frame dwelling of Giusseppe Semoni, 230 Copperfield street, Carrick, yesterday afternoon after fire had wrecked the home.

The fire started on the third floor and burned through the roof, floors and walls. Firemen of Engine Company No. 23 said they discovered a 75-gallon copper still on the second floor of the home and notified the police. After a search of the building, police said, they found a can of moonshine, 30 barrels of mash and four sacks of corn sugar.

Valuable papers and a wrist watch were found by Battalion Chief William H. Kuhlman, who turned them over to police for safe keeping. Chief Kuhlman estimated the damage at $1,500.

Semoni, according to the police, fled during the fire and a policeman was stationed at the home awaiting his return. He lived alone. His wife and two children recently were killed in an automobile accident.

Bible School Hears Its New Minister

More than 300 persons yesterday attended services of the Callender Bible School in Malta Hall, Wilkinsburg, when the Rev. Parke B. Kurtz, formerly of the United Brethren Congregation, Harrisburg, preached his first sermon as head of the Wilkinsburg church. The services were featured by music by a chorus choir, with Mrs. Alfred W. Dunkle as soloist.

After prayer meeting Wednesday the new minister and his family will be honor guests at a reception.

Trafford Man Takes Wife To Game; Disappears

Missing since Saturday, William H. West, 47, of 518 Edgewood avenue, Trafford City, was the object of police search today.

West, a pattern-shop operator and real estate man, disappeared after taking his wife to a football game at the Trafford athletic field, police said. He then told his wife that he had a business engagement at his office in Cavitt avenue.

In his office a note directing his nephew and employe, Harry Erhardt, of 516 Edgewood avenue, "to take all his things up home," was found, according to police.

Alice Runs Away With Neal And Leota Returns With Troubles

CHAPTER XLV.

ANN MARIE stood in the upper hall, looking thoughtfully at the closed door of Alice's room. . . Suppose she went in and asked Alice just how things were between her and Neal. . . Wouldn't that be the wise thing to do?

"We can't all go on this way," she thought. "If Alice is just playing around with Neal she's got to stop it. And if he loves her—why, I'll just have to give him up. That's all."

She crossed the space that lay between her and Alice's door.

She turned the doorknob and stepped into the room . . .

Alice was not in it!

Moreover she had not slept in it last night! . . . The candle-wick bedspread was smooth and white and the pillows had not been touched. They were like smooth little drifts of snow against the back of the bed.

But the rest of the room was in wild disorder.

The top drawer of the dresser was on the floor, and there was nothing in it but a pair of soiled stockings. Perfume and powder and brushes were all gone from the dresser itself. Three or four dresses lay in a heap on the floor of the closet where they had fallen.

Even the drawers of Alice's writing desk had been pulled out and shoved only part of the way in again . . . And on the top of the desk lay a white envelope. Across it Alice had written "For Dad" in her fine dashing handwriting.

Ann Marie picked it up. It was not sealed.

"For Dad," she said aloud, reading the words that were written on the envelope.

But she knew that the message in it would be for her . . . Just as if someone had told her about it beforehand she knew what that message would be. She knew that Alice had run away with Neal—

Little things that Alice had said about him from time to time came back to her as she went slowly down the stairs once more.

"He certainly is the best-LOOKING thing that ever wore suspenders—"

"He surely does dance wonderfully, doesn't he, Ann Marie?" . . .

"I wonder if you and Neal are suited to each other, Ann Marie"—

That was the sort of things she had said about him lately.

Why, she had been crazy about him all along!

"She probably would have landed him before now—only she was engaged to Johnny Lawler and his, money," thought Ann Marie, and laid the envelope down upon the dining-room table in front of her father.

She read the note with her chin on his shoulder, while Mrs. Leezy looked over his other shoulder and read it, too:

"Dear Dad — Mrs. Leezy will probably give you this note in the morning when she finds it on my desk. When you get it please tell Ann Marie, as gently as you can, that I have gone away with Neal Forsythe to be married to him. Tell her not to blame him. It's all my fault. I have never meant to take him away from her, in the beginning, but Neal and I were just made for each other."

"They sure was!" declared Mrs. Leezy, coming to the end of the note. "If ever there was a lazy good-for-nothing pair, them two was it!—They set around this house all one day when I was in the basement doing the washing, and, do you know, they was too lazy to get theirself a bite of lunch?—I come upstairs at three o'clock, and they sings out at me to know wasn't we ever going to have any lunch that day!—Them two never should spoil two houses! Ann Marie, you should be glad and relieved to lose such a blatherskite as that Forsythe! Everybody in town says he lives off of his widowed mother—and borrows from the Lawlers besides!"

But Ann Marie was neither glad nor sorry. She simply felt numb . . . Her face wore the dazed look of a person who has had a piece of news that he only half understands.

"I was engaged to him—I'm glad nobody knows it," she said finally. "I would hate every one to know that a man had—turned me down."

On Monday the story of the elopement was printed in the newspaper.

And on Monday night Leota Ingram, in all the glory of her New York clothes, came pounding along Pleasant street on her three-inch heels and turned in at the Macys' front walk.

"I want to see your old man!" she said insolently to Ann Marie, who was sitting in the hammock-couch on the front porch. "I got a bone to pick with this family, just leave me to tell you!—You tell your old man I want to see him!"

"You mean my father?" asked Ann Marie.

"I mean your old man!" Leota answered. "You heard me the first time!—And don't you start acting snooty with me, Ann Marie Macy, or you're goin' to regret it! I'm going to make this family pay through the nose for all the things it's done to me!"

Ann Marie found her father in the side yard, where he was puttering around among his flowerbeds with a watering can in his hand.

He was a fine gardener and had always known more about growing flowers than he knew about making money.

"Someone walked all over my nasturtium bed the other day at the wedding," he said in his mildly complaining way. "Dear me, dear me!"

"Something worse than that has happened to you!" Ann Marie answered him grimly. "Leota Ingram has come to see you, and she certainly is on the war-path about something. She's out on the front porch waiting for you."

Mr. Macy set down his watering can and wiped his wet earth-stained hands on his handkerchief.

"Leota Ingram," he repeated. "Isn't that the girl that Howdy used to like when he was a kid?"

Ann Marie nodded. "Yes—and you gave him a thrashing once for taking her to a party. Remember?—I think he always ran around with her, though, until just before he met Stella and married her."

She was trying to prepare her father for the story that she knew Leota was going to tell him. Trying to soften the blow before it fell.

Leota was sitting in the hammock couch, swinging herself back and forth and smoking a cigaret in full view of sedate Pleasant Street.

"How do you do?" she asked Mr. Macy coldly when he came up the steps of the porch. "I guess you know who I am. I come here to talk business with you tonight.

She crossed one silken knee over the other and made herself more comfortable in the swing.

"First of all," she said, "I want to tell you what your family has done to me the last coupla months."

"My family?" Mr. Macy echoed, staring at her in mild astonishment from over his glasses. He sat down in his favorite porch-rocker and laid his hands over the shiny knees of his trousers. "What has my family to do with you—or you with my family?"

"Plenty!" Leota shot the word at him. "Plenty!—Take your wonderful son, firs' of all. You didn't know he was engaged to marry me when he left town, did ya? No, I guess not!—But HE knew it, and so did I. That's why he left town—and that's why he sent Ann Marie to me to buy me off! 'Cause he got cold feet all of a sudden and didn't want to go through with it and marry me!"

Mr. Macy stared at her silently. But Ann Marie saw that his thin hands were trembling on his knees, and his face wore the look of one who has been stricken to the heart.

"If I'd used my head I'd stayed right here and made him marry me!" Leota's hard voice rang through the peaceful stillness like the clang of metal. "But I let Ann Marie talk me into taking some money and clearing out of town. She promised me $200—but she gave me only about half of it! And do you suppose I can get the rest of it out of her? Not a chance!—She's a double-crosser just like the rest of your family!"

"I've promised it to you, though," Ann Marie cut in, but Leota went right on talking, drowning her out.

"But I kept my part of the bargain. I got out of town and went up to New York—and there I met another man and fell in love with him. He asked me to marry him. And along about that time Ann Marie and Alice blows into town and takes a flat right next door to him."

She paused to light another cigaret.

"You know who the man was, don't ya?"

But poor Mr. Macy shook his head.

"How would I know?" he asked in his meek and gentle way.

"All right—I'll tell ya, then, if you're so dumb you can't figger it out for yourself," said Leota. "It was your daughter Alice's new husband—Neal Forsythe! That's who it was!"

Mr. Macy's forehead knotted in a troubled frown.

"I see—I see," he answered, "and I can understand why you feel this way."

"Wait a minute! You haven't heard how I feel yet!" Leota cried shrilly. "I was just gettin' to that . . . You admit I've had a dirty deal all around from your kids, don't ya?"

Then Ann Marie spoke up. "You don't tell your story straight, Leota!" she said. "You didn't care whether Howdy married you or not . . . You just got that money from us because you wanted to go to New York, where Neal Forsythe was! You met him at Christmas-time—long before you and Howdy had your trouble—"

Leota sent her a scornful look through the dusk.

"Rave on—but it ain't gonna do you a bit of good," she said and stood up, teetering on her high pointed heels. "I just come from a lawyer's office, folks, and he tells me I oughta sue Forsythe for breach of promise, and drag the whole story into the courts and the newspapers. He says the whole family has persecuted me—and he's right. You all have."

She threw the end of her cigaret over the railing into Mr. Macy's bed of mariposa lilies.

"But I don't want a scandal no more'n you folks want one," she finished. "So I come here to tell you that if you'll give me a coupla thousand to take me to Hollywood, we'll call it square."

PETTING PATTY — They Just Can't Be Chummy — By Machamer

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Princess Olina Arrives at the Farm House.

IT WAS Princess Olina's voice which had floated up to us from the hall below. There was no mistaking those musical tones. Nor, I thought, could any other woman of our acquaintance have put just that note of delicate imperiousness into them.

Involuntarily I looked toward Prince Georges as Olina's demand to see him immediately came up to us. Did I imagine it, or was there a wish for Mary's departure in the swift involuntay glance he sent her. If there were he did not have to wait for her acquiescence. She was at the door almost before Princess Olina had finished speaking. With a finger upon her lips and a mischievous, provocative look in her eyes, she turned in the doorway, nodded brightly to him, and dashed noiselessly past me to the shelter of my room where she had been taken when the man with the facial scar like a comma had tried to enter hers.

As I turned to follow her, Katherine spoke with the finality of the trained nurse who is absolutely sure of herself.

"Make her understand that she cannot come up here," she said. "My patient has had enough excitement for one day."

"But I am not tired," Prince Georges began, a slightly worried look in his eyes. He did not finish his protest, for Katherine interrupted him ruthlessly.

"Neither 'but' nor 'and,'" she told him with a smile. "I stretched my judgment when I let you see Mary. Anybody else will have to wait."

He looked at her steadily for an instant, then shrugged his shoulders in protesting acceptance of her ultimatum, and turned his eyes toward me.

"Better not—" he began, then stopped abruptly, while his face suddenly reddened.

"I won't tell her that anyone else has seen you," I said in a low tone. "Then she can't be offended."

"Oh! I didn't mean—" The words followed me faintly in to the hall, and I wondered if Olina could hear them. Then Katherine shut the door softly but decisively, and noting that Mary had closed the door of my room after her, I went swiftly to the stairs to meet Princess Olina coming up, preceded by Lillian and followed by Noel carrying several pieces of smart luggage. Lillian's expression was distinctly quizzical, but her tone was elaborately casual, when she followed my warm welcome of my guest with a question—

"Which room are you planning for Miss Lincoln, Mary's or Marion's?"

"I think on the whole, Marion's will be better," I said. "It is not as large as Mary's but—I think it will be pleasanter," I finished lamely, fighting shy of the real reason for keeping Mary's room taboo. "And Marion's things are all packed away, so there will be no need of disturbing her. If you will just come this way, Miss Lincoln."

I gave her no time to voice any request or do anything save follow me to Marion's room which Katie had prepared for her. But once inside it, when Noel had gone downstairs and Lillian, with a base desertion of me, had slipped away with an inadequate excuse, Princess Olina repeated the demand I had overheard upon her entrance.

"Mrs. Graham, I must see Georges immediately."

"I am so sorry," I said regretfully, "but I am afraid it is impossible today. Mrs. Bickett says that he must not be disturbed and her rules are distinctly Median. Perhaps tomorrow."

"Tomorrow will not do," she returned decisively. "I must tell him something which I do not wish him to find out from anyone else, and which he cannot help finding out if we are all staying in the same house. I simply must see him."

I looked at her for an instant with the same gaze which I had used to turn upon refractory girl pupils.

"My dear child," I said, "you must know very little of the discretion of trained nurses, and of Mrs Bickett in particular. You may be very sure that Prince Georges will hear nothing but commonplaces from her, and no one else save perhaps myself—to help Mrs. Bickett—will see him before you do. And I give you my word that I shall say nothing to him which could refer to you in any way beyond an assurance to him that you have not suffered at the hands of the miscreants who have been pursuing him. So you may rest assured that whatever you wish to tell him will do just as well tomorrow as today."

Her head raised itself defiantly as I finished, and I wondered what the imperious young princess would say to my ultimatum.

Reptile skin is insinuating its way into the fall mode in any number of smart shoe models. Lizard and watersnake are the pets of this menagerie. They step fearlessly below the longer skirts of both sport and informal costume.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN.

Good Note Paper

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

For a small, informal home wedding, what kind of invitations should be sent and should one be sent to every member of the family?

2. Would an informal note written by the bride be sufficient announcement to friends not present at the ceremony?

3. Is this paper correct?

J. S.

FOR such an informal wedding either the bride's mother or the bride would write notes of invitation. And this is in excellent form. When such invitations are written the one note can state that it invites all the members of the family. For instance, write a note to the mother, the hostess of the home, and in the note say that you would like to have Mr. Hastings and Mildred and Jack come, too."

2. Yes. Although if the list of friends is large you will find it vastly more convenient to have engraved announcements.

3. Your paper is not especially good looking—not quite nice enough, I think, for such important invitations and announcements. Do you like the one-sheet paper? I believe that if you buy the conventional double sheet, and get paper of a bit better texture, you will be happier about writing your "significant" notes.

A Hint to One Who Needs It.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I would appreciate it if you would have this printed in large letters so this man can see, as he would barely notice the part for correct manners, although he does read the page it appears on!

My people and I visit old friends of ours often and this woman's husband always stretches his arms out at the table, and does this often. It is so disgusting. He should know that stretching at the dinner table is not proper and we cannot even hint to him. It is just sickening—yet at every meal it is a habit with him to have two or three good stretches. He has another bad habit—that of pushing the food on his fork with his fingers.

READER.

I HAVE IT—I'll ask the artist to draw a picture of these disgusting habits, or of one at least, and see if we can't get this man's attention!

And then, to make it more of a talkie, I'll add that I appreciate just how you feel about these disagreeable table habits. "To see themselves as others see them" is certainly not the custom of boorish people who persist in eating with barnyard manners that disgust people who have the misfortune of having to look at them. I think that, as unpleasant as the first habit is, the second one is more repulsive.

"Shall I Stand?"

DEAR MRS. BEEKMAN:

I understand, when visiting a friend and her mother enters the room, it is proper for me to rise, but if she shows no intention of being seated, must I remain standing until she leaves the room?

2. If she is seated must I rise with her when she leaves the room?

3. If she appears the second time would it be necessary for me to rise again?

4. If a young man is with me should I rise when he does or remain seated?

5. When being introduced to a young man, should I rise to shake hands with him?

6. If a lady enters alone I would rise, but if she was accompanied by a man, should I?

BETTY.

YES, you stand until she leaves the room. For you to be seated would distinctly call attention to a breach of good manners.

2. Yes.

3. Yes.

4. Rise when he rises.

5. No. (And by the way, the gentleman is introduced to the lady, not the lady to the gentleman.)

6. This depends on the circumstances. Will you write me again explicitly what you mean?

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, October 8.

A CHAIN of conflicting planetary influences may precipitate a day of complications and uncertainties, according to the portents. While there are excellent auguries for success, advancement and substantial recognition for labor and perseverance, yet there are also signs of obstruction, fluctuating finances, inharmony and enmities. With good judgment and awareness the benefit aspects may win out.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a very lively year in which their best judgment and acumen may win over obstacle, envy, friction and complications. There are really good prospects to be wrested from difficulty by wise manipulation.

A child born on this day may be many-sided, clever and ambitious, but should be given an education to enable him to meet possible obstacles and undermining circumstances in life. He should do well in employment, especially of a literary character.

I have no fear. What is in store for me shall find me ready, undismayed.—E. J. Appleton.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Longevity a Matter of Sense—Not Luck!

THERE are many ways of looking at long life and its significance. As a rule it may be attributed to excellent heredity, the enjoyment of good health and the avoidance of those habits which are known to shorten life.

DR. COPELAND

The accomplishments of those who have lived more than the prescribed three-score-years-and-ten are interesting. Edison, at 82, is still active in all his enterprises, and still startles the world at intervals with something new and wonderful. My friend, Captain Dollar, at 86, takes an active part in the operation of his great steamship enterprise. My own father, at 92, is still most active. There are many other men whom I could name that are equally fit in spite of 90 years or more.

Is it because they are lucky that these men and women live to a great old age? It is not. It is because they live the normal life. They expect the human machine to do its full duty, but they do not ask of it the impossible. If Captain Dollar has a steamship which makes 18 knots an hour, he does not try to force it to do 24 knots. So it should be with your health.

Good food eaten at regular intervals, sufficient number of hours of rest, the avoidance of habits and excesses of all kinds which undermine the health, exercise, relaxation and change of environment are some of the determining factors in favor of long life.

You cannot abuse your body and mind or neglect them until you are 30 or 40 and then expect, by observing the rules of good health to restore your body to normal. Nature will not permit this.

There are, of course, many persons who have a predisposition to disease or some unfavorable hereditary condition. These less fortunate ones even do not need to die an early death. By proper observance of the things which affect them, they can do much to improve any defect and to overcome uncomfortable obstacles.

Among the causes of ill health, none are more common than the focal infections. These may be of the teeth, tonsils, nasal sinuses or the intestines. Constant absorption of pus undermines the health and will break down the strongest body.

If you would live long in the world God has given you, you must observe the simple rules dictated by kindly Nature. To do so means length of days and peace of mind.

DON'T TRIFLE WITH CONSTIPATION

Rid Your System of Its Disease-causing Poisons With ALL-BRAN

Constipation gets its grip on a person almost unawares. It starts with such little things. Headaches, listlessness. Bad complexions. Unpleasant breath.

If allowed to continue, constipation often leads to serious results. It poisons the whole system. Steals the charm and beauty of women. Robs men of their vitality and ambition.

Don't trifle with constipation. Rid your system of it by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a delicious cereal. It is guaranteed to bring relief — to prevent constipation. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100% bran. It works as nature works. Serve it with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking—there are delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell ALL-BRAN. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars serve it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

SEWER COSTS ADJUSTED

The dispute of long standing existing between Castle Shannon and Baldwin township over the payment of the Weyman Run trunk line sewer has been amicably adjusted by the township commissioners agreeing to pay Castle Shannon one-half of the entire costs of the construction. The commissioners also agreed to pay the various municipalities for the cost of the township's share of the Saw Mill Run trunk sewer.

National City Bank In German Merger

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—The possibility of some sort of combine between the National City Bank of New York and the "Darmstaedter und National Bank," the largest in Germany, was hinted in financial circles today.

President Charles E. Mitchell, of the National City Bank, has already had conversations with President Jacob Goldschmidt, of the German bank and the board members have been invited to Berlin for an important meeting tomorrow to be followed by a dinner in honor of Mr. Mitchell.

Fast Train Derailed, Passengers Injured

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Seven Pullman cars of a Pennsylvania Railroad Norfolk-New York express were derailed on the Delaware division near here. Some of the passengers, most of whom were asleep at the time of the accident, were slightly cut and bruised.

The cars left the track in a deep cut and came to a halt after tearing up more than 100 yards of track. The locomotive, the first three cars and the last car remained on the track. A spreading rail was believed to have caused the accident.

STATE URGES AIR-MARKING

By MAX HENRICI

The Sun-Telegraph's campaign to get every town in the Pittsburgh district air-marked for the guidance of airplane pilots has now been taken up vigorously by the commonwealth. Witness the following, just received by Mayor Charles H. Kline, from Frank J. Gorman, secretary to Gov. John S. Fisher:

"The governor directs me to send you a copy of his recent statement appealing for the identification of cities, boroughs and towns by roof marking, as a guide to air transportation, with the hope that you will co-operate in every way possible to effect the proper marking of your community."

It is understood communcations of like import have gone from the governor's office to municipal executives throughout the state.

Leo Lehman informs the Sun-Telegraph his friend, Joseph H. Ruben, contemplates putting an aerial marker on the roof of a barn on his farm, several miles east of Uniontown.

Vann E. Ohl, superintendent of streets and public improvements in Clairton, writes that that city's air-mark on the dancing pavilion roof in the city park is being retouched and improved.

Suggestions as to how air-marks should be painted may be obtained by applying to the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, which is cooperating with the Sun-Telegraph in the campaign.

West Carson Street Closed to Traffic

Closing of traffic on West Carson street, between Steuben and Corliss streets, was announced today by contractors tearing up the street in preparation to repaving and widening the thoroughfare. With the exception of street car traffic to McKees Rocks and beyond, which will be directed over a single track, traffic will be detoured via Steuben street, Chartiers avenue and Corliss street, through the Corliss tunnel.

Protest Elimination Of 'Avalon Express'

Elimination of the "Avalon Express," a train leaving Pennsylvania station at 5:35 p. m. and making its first stop at Avalon, has called forth a protest from residents of that borough. A petition is being circulated asking that the train be restored. They now have to be content with a train leaving the station at 5:40 p. m., which makes all stops.

Anna B. Kerr To Be Much Feted

WITH more and more trees donning their yellow and scarlet gowns and with the chrysanthemums growing more and more proudly luxuriant, fall brides are having an ideal setting for their marriages. And October's bright blue weather will serve as a benediction at more than one wedding! Never has the month been so popular with brides-to-be, I do believe.

There's a suppressed excitement, too, these wedding days, for in addition to the wedding ceremony itself, there are innumerable entertainments being given for the bridal parties.

DURING the coming days many hostesses will honor Anna Boggs Kerr, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Thomson Kerr, of Amberson avenue, who'll wed Dr. John Watson Harmeier, son of the Charles A. Harmeiers, of Reynolds street, on Monday, October 14.

The ceremony, by the way, will take place in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church at 5 o'clock with the bride-elect's father performing the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Alexander S. Kerr, of Toronto, Anna's uncle.

The rehearsal dinner will be given on Saturday, with Mrs. Alfred E. Hunt, of Amberson place, as hostess in her home. And the wedding breakfast, on next Monday, of course, will be given by the E. E. Hunts, of Norfolk, Tenn., in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

On Friday the John R. Chisletts, of Wightman street, will give an informal buffet supper in their home, and on Thursday Mrs. William A. Renshaw will be hostess in her home, Morewood avenue, at a luncheon.

Anna will have two matrons of honor, Mrs. John Haynes Follansbee and Mrs. Edmond E. Hunt; and as bridesmaids her fiance's sister, Jane; Dorothy Kerr, of Toronto, Canada; Dorothy Barber, of North Adams, Mass., and Katherine Stone, of Chicago.

Charles Harmeier will be his brother's best man, and Dr. Robert Garvin, Dr. John Day Garvin, Dr. Samuel Mercer, John Haynes Follansbee, George W. Aufderheide, Charles A. Witt, Arthur F. Volmrich, Hugh Thomson Kerr, Jr.; Edmond E. Hunt, of Memphis, and Dr. William J. Kerr, of Toronto, will be ushers.

AND while we're still talking about weddings, I wonder if you know that the marriage of Eloise Lowndes Roman, youngest daughter of Capt. and Mrs. J. Philip Roman, of Cumberland, Md., and Hilary Kenelm Binns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hussey Binns, of Woodland road, will take place on November 9? The ceremony will be performed in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Cumberland. Their engagement was made known last month.

AND now Henrietta Wittmer, daughter of the junior George Wittmers, of Oak Hill Farms, Wildwood, has named her bridal party. Her marriage, you know, will take place Saturday, and her fiance is Thomas P. Trimble, Jr., son of Judge and Mrs. Thomas P. Trimble, of Fifth avenue.

Mrs. Frank H. Hunter will be her sister's matron of honor, and Frances and Euphemia Trimble, sisters of the bridegroom-elect, and Alice Wiese, of Cleveland, will be bridesmaids.

Frank H. Hunter will be best man, and Dr. Paul Wilson, of New Castle; Douglass McIntyre, of Sharon, and Henry Wittmer, Henrietta's brother, will be ushers.

And the Rev. Robert S. Young, of the Glenshaw Presbyterian Church, will perform the ceremony at 5:30 o'clock in the Wittmer home, assisted by the Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson, of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church.

ON Friday evening in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, Miss Mary Virginia Church, Miss Mary Virginia Flood, daughter of M. B. Flood, of Forbes street, was married to Robert R. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Reed, of Washington avenue, Edgewood, by the Rev. Dr. A. Steel, Mr. and Mrs. Reed went to Cleveland on their honeymoon.

TODAY, at 12 o'clock, in the Bellefield Presbyterian Church, the marriage of Miss Emma Catherine Brown, of South Lang avenue, and Harold J. Peck, of Washington, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Peck, of Geneva, N. Y., is to be solemnized by the Rev. Dr. Robert MacGowan.

White satin and a veil of tulle fashion the bridal costume, and white roses and lilies of the valley, the bridal bouquet. Miss Frances Brown and Miss Mary Jane Brown, her sisters, who attend her, are wearing frocks in shades of rose and are carrying fall flowers. Earl Tatum, of Ellwood City, is best man, and Allen Brecht, Alton Rechert and Allen Langord, of Pittsburgh, and Charles Peck, of Buffalo, ushers.

A breakfast in Webster Hall is to follow the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Beck will take an eastern motor trip, and later will reside in Washington, Pa. The bride is a University of Pittsburgh graduate.

MISS MARJORIE SUMNER MARCY, daughter of Dr. Alexander Marcy, Jr., was married to James Gardiner Crowell, of Philadelphia, son of James Gardiner Crowell, and the late Sarah Yarnell Keen, on Saturday at 10 o'clock in the old St. David's Episcopal Church, Radner, Pa. The matron of honor was Mrs. Hannah Marcy Rogers, a sister of the bride, and Dr. William Osler Abbott, of Philadelphia served as best man. Orange georgette fashioned the bridal gown, and the bride carried a sheaf of red and yellow roses. Mrs. Rogers wore a gown of red georgette crepe, with tan felt hat, and carried dahlias and thistles. Mr. and Mrs. Crowell will reside in Paoli, Pa., after returning from an extensive wedding trip cruise off Cape Cod.

THE marriage of Miss Frances Mary Wiehagen, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Wiehagen of North Braddock, to John Robert Kingsley, also of North Braddock, son of Mrs. M. C. Kingsley, of Crafton, was solemnized on Tuesday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic Church by the Rev. F. J. Eger.

MISS SARAH ELIZABETH SMITH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smith, of West View, was married to Clement Stevenson, son of Mrs. Ethel Stevenson, of Oakland, in the First Presbyterian Church of West View, September 25, by the Rev. A. A. Cully. The bride was attended by Violet Smith, her sister. George Stevenson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson will be at home in Stanton avenue, East End.

AN entertainment was given in honor of Mrs. J. Linwood Powell, formerly Miss Katherine E. Dahlem, of Homewood, on Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Florence M. Maley. The decorations were pink and yellow. Mrs. J. Linwood Powell, since returning from her honeymoon, is living in Lincoln avenue, East Liberty.

THE members of the St. Mary's Frauenbund will hold their next monthly card party in the St. Mary's School on Wednesday evening at 8:30.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH P. VANCE, of Forbes street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Ursula Vance, to George Tchirkow, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Tchirkow, of Beeler street. The wedding is expected to take place in November.

THE W. Luella Jackson Chapter No. 416, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a card party at Oppenheim-Collins' Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Emma Golliffe will be in charge.

HAROLD NEY PROTHERO, JR., entertained at dinner Saturday in the University Club. After dinner his guests attended the club dance.

* * *

MRS. CARL M. DEAKIN, of Detroit, formerly Miss Amelia Lee, of Pittsburgh, is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lee, of North Negley avenue.

NEWEST HATS FEATURE GLYCERINED OSTRICH AND AIGRETTE BRUSHES

Sketched in Paris

Satin Popular For Afternoon And Evening

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—A feather in the cap of the designer responsible for the revival of such trimming, is the increasing number of models shown embellished with feathered fancies. Glycerined ostrich and aigrette brushes are the two most popular touches to be found in the newest hats. And due precaution has been taken to avoid any evidence of overtrimming. Birds of a feather do not nest on hats anymore—just a few feathery fronds are sufficient for decorative purposes. Earlier in the season, hats with glycerined plumes were shown, but they did not attract many buyers. There are of course, a number of women who have remained faithful to the plumed hat, and they would be at a loss without the soft plume that finds its way over the brim down to the chin. But the note of coquettry is not the expression of the mode of today. Grace, dignity and subtle distinction are more salient points in our sartorial armor.

DESPITE the many new and delightful fabrics shown this season, one notes the prevalence of satin, both full and lustrous, and every collection featured satin for both daytime and evening wear. One of the most delightful afternoon dresses from the House of Worth is of satin, both brilliant and heavy of texture. It combines so many of the established features of the new mode that it should be studied with due attention. Noted are the close-fitting bodice, natural waistline, irregular hem and the touch of fur, which, in this case, is found in the ermine tabs finishing the collar. The circular godets are placed on the skirt in an original arrangement of box-pleats at the top of each tube-like fold.

AS a novel complement to the mode for feathered hat trimming, we show an amusing little toque, made not of fronds, but feather stems. It excited much comment at Le Monnier's recent "opening," for it is not only original, but amazingly chic. The feathers, presumably ostrich, are stripped of all their fronds (one finds these woven into dress goods nowadays in the same manner as angora) and the long midribs or stems are used for the hat. In this model they are sewn in closely arranged and swirling lines upon a net foundation or skull cap. The interesting pattern evolves itself into amusing little swirls and curls, and a decidedly alluring effect is to be obtained by the addition of a jeweled pin or ornament.

State Federation Music Club to Hold Annual Session Tomorrow

THE Pittsburgh District of the State Federation of Music Clubs will meet in annual session tomorrow at 10 o'clock in the University Club. Mrs. F. F. Rohrer, district president, will be in the chair and the Manuscript Club of Pittsburgh will be the hostess organization. Assembly singing, greetings from the state president, Mrs. W. C. Dierks, reports and election will take up the morning hours and after luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty will speak. Then will follow a program consisting of piano numbers by Othelia Averman Vogel, Foster melodies by the Foster Singers in costume and a reading of Essex Dane's "The Wasp," by Mary Jones Sherrill.

THE Book and Play Club, the Beaver two-year-old, will have its second meeting of the season Thursday when Mrs. Roy McCready will review "The Magic Island" and current events will be given. Mrs. James W. Shields is hostess. The women have chosen their program topics from various countries and, in addition to discussion of the selected books and plays, will feature music and reading at several sessions. The club opened its season last month with a president's day and will close with the annual luncheon on May 15.

THE child study department of the Dormont Mothers' Club will meet Tuesday night with Mrs. W. F. Fuhs, Biltmore avenue. Miss Adella Schreiner is to speak on kindergartens and Miss Minerva Inskeep will furnish the music. The club extension committee is arranging for a benefit card party Friday afternoon at the South Hills Harris Theater, for which affair Mrs. H. M. Hufnagle and Mrs. J. O. Johnston are taking reservations. The scholarship loan and the child welfare committees are sponsoring a performance of "Danger" at the Pitt Theater the night of October 15. For this Mrs. D. W. Hovey and Mrs. C. R. Hinkley are accepting the reservations.

THE first issue of the Woman's City Club calendar for the season announces, in addition to the annual fashion revue Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon, the initial club luncheon on Saturday, the twenty-sixth. On this occasion George Seibel, literary and dramatic editor of the Sun-Telegraph, will be the speaker and will have as his subject "A Tour of Old Book Shops." The first "club evening" is set for November 1 and will be marked by an informal program.

THE Women's Union Missionary Association of Allegheny County will hold its annual school of missions Wednesday at the Downtown Y. M. C. A., Third avenue and Wood street. Seven instructors representing different denominations will have the classes.

ITS eighth annual donation day and open house will be held tomorrow afternoon by the Woman's Auxiliary to the Curtis Home for Girls, Western avenue. A program of music and readings will be given, Miss Ruth Mingis contributing the latter. Mrs. W. E. Schilpp is the newly-elected head of auxiliary work.

DECEMBER 5 is the date selected for the annual bazar of Trinity Branch, Girls' Friendly Society. Supper will be served and there will be several amusement features at the affair, which is to be known as a "carnival of the seasons."

* * *

THE Daughters of Union Veterans will hold a party in the home of Mrs. Mathilda Schatzman, in Foreland street, on Thursday evening. The president's dinner will be held in the Seventh Avenue Hotel on October 24.

Eastern Stars Plan Masquerade Dance

Eastern Star members of McKees Rocks are preparing a masquerade dance to be held on the evening of October 30. Lunch will be served and a well rounded program is being arranged.

Greater Beauty For Lovely Women

Beauty's first requisite—skin perfection. Thus, the fairest and wisest use MELLO-GLO Face Powder that spreads more smoothly and produces a youthful bloom. Its new French process makes MELLO-GLO stay on longer and bans the shiny nose. Pure! Prevents pastiness, flakiness, irritation and large pores. Use MELLO-GLO.

PRINCESS MARY NOW COUNTESS

HAREWOOD, Eng., Oct. 7.—(AP.)—The Earl of Harewood, father-in-law of Princess Mary, died at his ancestral estate here yesterday. He was 83 years old.

Viscount Lascelles becomes Earl of Harewood and his wife now will bear the title, Princess Mary, Countess of Harewood. Both sons and his daughter were with the Earl when he died but Princess Mary was at her home, Goldsborough Hall, Knaresborough.

The Earl owned about 29,700 acres.

U. P. Christian Union Official Speaks Here

Moses M. Shaw, national secretary of the Young People's Christian Union of the United Presbyterian church, spoke in four churches here yesterday. He is assisting officers of the Monongahela Presbytery in conducting rallies from October 6 to 20. In the morning he spoke in the Swissvale United Presbyterian Church and the Second United Presbyterian Church, and in the evening at the Seventh United Presbyterian and the Fourth United Presbyterian Churches.

Club to Consider School Building

The question of a new public school for East Brookline will hold the attention of the East Brookline Community Club, at its meeting tonight. A card party will be held October 16 at the home of C. J. Bennett, Beverly place, the proceeds to further the work of the club. Mrs. H. H. Atwood is general chairman assisted by Mrs. C. J. Buckley, Mrs. T. T. Quail, F. J. Piverotto, Frank Calazero and J. A. McTighe.

Holy Name Plans Tour to Buffalo

The Holy Name Society of St. Stephen's Church, Hazelwood, is sponsoring a trip to Our Lady of Victory Shrine, Buffalo, N. Y., and Niagara Falls over next Sunday. The train will leave Pittsburgh Saturday night and returning will arrive here early Monday morning. Both men and women are invited to take the trip.

Ladies' Aid Circle Will Serve Supper

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran Church, East McKeesport, will hold a meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. E. Emberg, of Ocala street. The society will serve supper in the basement of the church on election day, November 5, instead of November 12, as previously announced.

Parents-Teachers Elect President

At the first meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association of East McKeesport, Ruth Weston, a teacher in the elementary schools was elected president to succeed Mrs. R. C. Beswick, who resigned because of ill health. The Rev. D. L. Say delivered an address and musical numbers were rendered.

TOUGH TASK FOR A'S LEFT-HANDERS

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—A great city that is said merely to yawn at machine-gun warfare, has been stirred to its boundaries by an impending battle that is to be fought with harmless baseballs. Wrigley Field tomorrow will be the scene of the opening skirmish between the Cubs and the Athletics for world supremacy on the diamond, and the eve of the big struggle finds all Chicago aquiver with excitement.

William Wrigley, Jr.

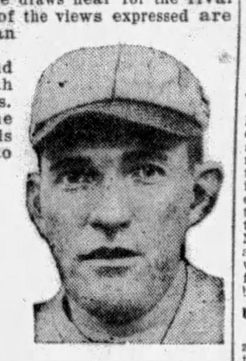
This being a town that holds membership in both major baseball organizations, each league naturally has its partisans here, but, for the present, league allegiance has given way to civic pride and loyalty, and the fans of all districts are massed into one supporting army behind the Bruins. If the issue were between the Cubs and the White Sox, as in 1906, it would be different. The city would be divided in its sympathies. But today it's the Cubs and the Cubs alone. William Wrigley, Jr., whose wealth built up the city's first National League pennant winner since 1918, and Manager Joe McCarthy, who led the club to the championship heights, are the men of the hour, while Rogers Hornsby and the rest of the players constitute, in the eyes of the delirious rooters, the greatest team now wearing spikes.

A WORLD SERIES is nothing new to Chicago. It has seen seven of them in the last 23 seasons. Once, in 1906, it had the whole show in its own backyard, and twice it has participated in the diamond derby for three years in succession—first in 1906, 1907 and 1908, and again in 1917, 1918 and 1919. Between was the affair of 1910.

But that frequently allotted privilege of sitting in at Baildom's annual attraction extraordinary, second only to New York's record share of 12, has not made the Windy City blase. The bad taste left by the Black Sox scandal in the last world series here in 1919 also has been washed out by 10 years of reborn confidence in the honesty of the game, and tomorrow the wildly enthusiastic citizenry will pour through the turnstiles in numbers that will be limited only by the utmost capacity of the Cub park.

OPINION among baseball men as to the probable outcome of the series shows little change as the time draws near for the rival teams to take the field. As usual, most of the views expressed are based upon nothing more substantial than sentiment.

In other words, managers, players and club owners are making predictions with their hearts, rather than with their heads. Every National League man is picking the Cubs, and every American League man is telling the world that there is nothing to it but the A's.



Rogers Hornsby.

ABOUT the only point on which all agree is that the series will not be ended as quickly as in the last two years, when the Yankees wound it up in four straight games at the expense of the Pirates and the Cardinals. Neither the Bruins nor the Athletics can be classed as a great team, as measured by accepted pennant-winning standards, and they appear too evenly matched to make it possible for either club to win the first four contests. The consensus of opinion is that the struggle will be extended to six games, with a possibility of its going the limit.

THE breaks, of course, may be the biggest item, and perhaps the deciding factor, in a short series between clubs that shape up so evenly matched as the 1929 title contenders. But assuming that these will be equally divided between the rivals, and that the fight will be decided on the merits of the teams, the Cubs appear to hold a slgt edge.

For one thing, the base-hit column in the box scores of the majority of their closing games indicated that they had come out of their batting slump, and there is hardly any doubt that the Bruins, when normal, carry a more powerful collective punch than the Macklan troupe. For another thing, Grimm is back at first base, and that means greater confidence and steadiness all around and the plugging of a hole that threatened to cause trouble.

MACK depends mainly upon fast-ball pitching, which happens to be the kind that the winners of the Heydler pennant like best. Only eight left-hand pitchers in the entire National League succeeded in defeating the Chicago array of right-hand swatters during the regular season, and it remains to be seen whether Grove and Walberg can beat that ratio.

On paper they look superior to the southpaws in the senior wheel, but they have yet to prove their case in the real test of a battle against Bruin bats. Earnshaw admittedly will be a tough proposition, if in top form, but one hurler cannot do it all, and unless one of the left-handers, at least, comes through, the advantage will be all on the side of the locals.

Guy Bush.

ON the other hand, McCarthy will be able to hand the A's an assortment of fast-ball, curve-ball and side arm pitching that may be more effective than any that the Mackmen faced in the American League. Cub pitching has been rated as inferior to the Philadelphia standard, but the dope of the regular season does not always hold good in a world series. It is one thing for a hurler to stand out in ordinary every-day games, but standing out in the October classic is sometimes found to be quite a different matter. Not every pitcher is a money pitcher. The world series games involve a greater strain than any others and tax the courage and steadiness of a slab-man more severely because there is more at stake. Some flingers are not equal to the task of carrying the additional burden.

SO it may develop that certain Cub pitchers who have not been conceded an equal ranking with the Philadelphia stars during the year may prove to be their peers in the big clinch. Bush is a problem, in view of his late-season slump after winning 17 of his first 18 games, but the other members of the staff are in good working order.

Malone, in particular, will look like a good bet in any game that he starts, and even if Bush's weary arm does not regain its cunning in time for the series, though there is a fair chance that it will, Root, Blake, and possibly Nehf or Carlson should be able to give Malone all the help that he will need.

THE A's are not fond of side-arm pitching, and they will get plenty of it before the series is over. On their own grounds, in particular, the Cub pitchers are hard to beat, and as the first two games, and four of the seven if the argument goes the limit, are to be played here, an advantage for McCarty's men is indicated.

This applies particularly to the opener, inasmuch as the A's played only six games in the last 14 days of the season and are get-

PANTHERS TOP TRI-STATE ELEVENS

By JESS CARVER.

Back from a brilliant invasion of the South, their first in history, the University of Pittsburgh Panthers, having met and successfully passed their first test of the year, find themselves at the top of the tri-state college heap—a position more or less unenviable.

From now on until the close of the year, all rivals will be gunning for the hides of the Panther horde. In crushing Duke University's Blue Devils, who are blue today and overly devilish, Pitt gave unmistakable proof of possessing terrific football power. The eleven took the South by storm, critics from all parts of the country below the Mason-Dixon line, who watched the Pittsburghers crush Jimmy DeHart's hard fighting team, were unanimous in hailing the Panthers as being the most powerful football machine ever to invade that territory.

UPSETS MARKED

Pitt's triumph and the tie played with West Virginia by the Dukes topped Saturday's card. The week end was not without its upsets, for the defeat of Allegheny by Westminster; the downing of Georgetown by Western Maryland and the setback in pride suffered by Grove City when St. Francis held the Crimson to another 7-7 deadlock, were not exactly expected.

Carnegie Tech, Wash-Jeff, Geneva, Davis-Elkins, Bethany, West Virginia Wesleyan and Waynesburg did about as was expected. St. Vincent's rather shocked the boys by kicking the Edinboro Teachers in the same place they were booted by the Dukes two weeks ago; but much harder. Penn State found Lebanon Valley plenty tough, but chewed out a 15-0 victory.

To Pitt, and those who accompanied the Panthers on the trip to Duke, Southern hospitality will ever be more than a mere expression. Perhaps it was this same Southern hospitality that caused this correspondent to credit Felix Wilps with a touchdown when Schultz should have been given the score, but at the time Hood was flipping the pass that Schultzie caught, Mr. Fred Turbville, the genial director of publicity, was brandishing half a fried fowl in front of these failing eyes.

Even local fans, accustomed to Pitt's style of football and the great exhibitions of interference usually served by the locals, would have risen to their calloused feet to cheer the Panthers Saturday. Duke made it all the easier, for Jimmy DeHart, evidently expecting the Panther attack to be centered between the tackles, played his line in close. Never once did the ends shift out, and as a result, the Pitt halfbacks were able to handle both the defensive tackles and ends single handed.

UANSA IN SPOTLIGHT

While Toby Uansa, with his dazzling sprints of 76 and 78 yards for touchdowns, stole a great deal of the spotlight, almost the entire Pitt team shown with blinding brilliance. Daugherty, knifing through the line, laid enough Duke secondary men low to reach from here to New Oleans by way of Boston. Yes suah!

Jimmy Rooney, acting captain for the greater part of the game, ran like an all-America, played a fine defensive game and got away for two touchdowns. Montgomery, Milligan, DiMeolo, Tully, Babic, Jess Quatsie and the Pitt ends ruled with iron hands. A shift in the defense might have ruined the Duke passing attack, too, but then, the Blue Devils were dedicating their Stadium and had little enough over which to cheer as it was. But just as a tip—watch this guy Rooney from now on.

Duquesne and Westminster win the big credit splashes. It was right noble of the Dukes to tie West Virginia, though the feat will hardly serve to boost the attendance as the Mountaineers meet Pitt in the Stadium. Westminster, the team that was hardly expected to come along until late in the season, outplayed a powerful Allegheny varsity and won, with the result that the United Presbyterians have as good a chance as any of winning the tri-state minor college title this year.

Thiel, the team I liked so well in training camp, evidently has something, for the showing made against Carnegie was admirable. They tell me that the Tartans looked a bit ragged against the Lutheran aerial attack. Don't worry, they'll mend that before many sneezes jar your hat.

W. & J. WINS EASILY

Wash-Jeff enjoyed a field day at the expense of Ashland College. The Presidents haven't scored 66 points against a team for some years and the feat only goes to show that Bill Amos and Ray Ride are going to restore their Alma Mater to their old ranking in the section.

Freddy Pusch scored a touchdown for Grove City in the first period against St. Francis, but after that the Crimson attack was unable to pierce the armor of the Saints, while the latter managed to put on an aerial raid that brought about the second consecutive 7-7 tie played by the two schools in as many years.

Waynesburg didn't look so hot against the Indiana Teachers, winning by the margin of a single

Paid Admissions Record Broken By Cub Fans

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Chicago baseball fans appreciated a National League championship team to the extent of 1,485,000 paid admissions during the regular campaign, a new major league record.

The mark fell somewhat short of the million and one half attendance record President William L. Veeck hoped to set, but w[as] more than 200,000 better than the previous standard set by the 1927 Cubs.

PERLICK TWINS AT GARDEN TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

The appearance of the Perlick twins—Herman and Henry—of Kalamazoo, Mich., in the double windup at Motor Square Garden tonight reminds us of a story. You don't have to listen to it unless you care to, but here it is. It concerns a couple of Irish lads, brothers, former local boxers, who appeared on the same card some years ago. They were redheaded and looked as much alike as the proverbial two peas in the soup.

Marty Silvers

Brother A. boxed the semi-final and took a bad pasting, leaving the ring battered and bloodsmeared. A few minutes later, Brother B. came sauntering down the aisle to do battle in the main bout. As he clambered through the ropes, an old Irishman in the crowd jumped up and orated:

"Well, I'm a full-blown son of a gun if he ain't Irish. He's comin' back for more!"

WORK OUT HERE

They do say, though, that the Perlicks are of the type that do not get mussed up much in the ring. They're in there to muss up the other fellow. This is their first appearance in an Eastern arena, and they showed they mean business by getting in here on Saturday, 48 hours in advance of their battles, and engaging in two spiffy workouts in Flynn's gymnasium, downtown, Saturday and yesterday.

Brother Henry meets Joey Goodman, Jewish lad, of Cleveland, in the top spot and Brother Herman does the honors with Marty Silvers, of Brooklyn, in another 10-rounder. Silvers himself is part of a brother boxing team. Indeed, he even outdoes the Brothers Perlick in this World Series Umpires Are Selected

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—William J. Klem and Charles Moran have been chosen by President John A. Heydler to serve as National League umpires for the world Series. Klem, veteran of a quarter century of National League strife, will be serving in his fourteenth series, and Moran, who has 12 years of big league service behind him, in his second series.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Selection of William Dinneen and Roy Van Graflan as American League umpires for the World Series was announced last night. Dinneen, a former big league pitcher, is a veteran of 20 years of officiating, but Van Graflan has been on the staff only three years, and is making his debut in the championship classic.

WOMEN ON LINKS

PIRATES TRIM BRUINS IN FINALE

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The Pirates are on their way today. Trimming the Cub champions, 8 to 3, yesterday in the season's finale, the runnerup Pittsburghers scattered soon after the contest was finished.

Larry French held the champs to six hits before 27,000 wild rooters. There was nothing at stake in the game, but the fans acted in a manner indicating the Bears were achieving big things in this particular fight, while in effect they were taking a real lacing.

HOLD EDGE FOR SEASON

The Pittsburgh victory emphasized the season's superiority over the new titleholders. In the 22 fights during the season, the Freebooters picked off 14 decisions. Manager McCarthy sent his batting practice pitcher—Hank Grampp—to the slab in the last game of the season. The young man lost his control in the second and the Pirates piled it on with some timely hitting. The upshot of it all was six runs. Marse Joe then began to throw in some of his aces, the idea apparently being to give these first-string men a chance to limber up.

ENS RETURNS

Blake, Carlson and Bush all did a trick on the mound during the progress of the last game. Meantime, French moved along in a fine stride. Larry was a bit off on his control, but he was too much for the famed righthand attack when he kept the ball over the plate.

Manager Ens and the main body the club returned to Pittsburgh.

Duquesne to Plan Football Banquet

Plans for the football banquet in December will be discussed at the weekly luncheon of the Duquesne University Alumni Association at Moore's restaurant, Law and Finance Building, tomorrow.

BIG RACE TODAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—The final rich stake of the Chicago racing season will be decided at Hawthorne today with the second running of the Hawthorne Gold Cup at a mile and a quarter, for a purse of $25,000 in added and a $2,500 gold cup.

M'CARTHY PICKS CHARLEY OVER MALONE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.
Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Charley Root will pitch for the Cubs against the Athletics tomorrow afternoon in the first game of the world series. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph today learned from an indisputable source that Root would be on the slab when the rival champions jump off.

Sometime today an announcement probably will be made naming Root as the first choice for the National League champions. Charley has won the honor over Pat Malone, who is the second choice. Pat is due to face the American Leaguers Wednesday.

Root's selection will be hailed with delight by the Chicago players as well as by Chicago fans. Altoona Pat is regarded as a brilliant pitcher and he was given very serious consideration for the jumpoff game, but after the various elements were weighed, the balance favored the more experienced Root.

ROOT CONSISTENT

Root has been a bit more consistent than Malone through the hot race. It is true that Pat has won 22 games as compared with 19 for Root, but Charley has lost only six games while Pat has dropped nine. Both records are excellent, but Bush is figured as a better bet in starting such a spectacle.

Charley has been used by the Cubs in a lot of big openings. He opened a couple of city series with the White Sox under successful conditions, and he worked the opening game of this season, but Burleigh Grimes took this decision from him.

Pirate players were anxious to see the Cubs start Root as they figure he is a better choice than Malone for the important first battle.

George Earnshaw, another sterling righthander, is the favorite for slab duty for the Mackian band, with the renowned Lefty Grove being hailed as second-choice for the opener.

A'S ARRIVE TODAY

Connie Mack and his champs are due to reach Chicago late this afternoon from New York where yesterday they finished the American League season. Mack probably will make a definite announcement regarding his pitcher after his club arrives.

Chicago is almost daffy over the impending games and tickets for the spectacles are to be had only at a high premium.

The Cubs have made baseball history this season by playing to the greatest home attendance in the history of the National pastime.

Joe McCarthy's colorful club has played to almost one and one-half million people on the home grounds. This beats the best previous record which the Yankees held. The Yanks were out in front on the pulling power of Babe Ruth.

The Bruins went right down the line playing snappy ball after clinching the flag very early. Instead of resting his stars, Marse Joe kept them in the lineup and every man played out the string as though each contest meant something in the National League standing. As a result, the Bears will go into the series with nearly every player moving at a fast stride.

Lefty Grimm will be at his first-base post, according to a statement made today by Boss McCarthy. Grimm's broken wrist of his throwing hand appears to have healed almost entirely and Grimm may be able to show close to his best form.

Leo Hartnett, star catcher who has been out with a sore arm all year, is definitely out of the championship tilts, so far as receiving is concerned. McCarthy today spoke of Hartnett to this effect. Zach Taylor will be the first-string catcher in the impending clashes. The former Brave proved the right man in the right spot after joining the Bears in mid-season.

MACKS LEAVE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Connie Mack and his champion Athletics headed westward last night, fit and eager to battle the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field tomorrow in the opening game of the world series.

The champions, Manager Mack, their 66-year-old pilot, who has developed seven pennant winning baseball outfits, club officials and a number of baseball enthusiasts, boarded a special train at North Philadelphia at 9:30.

Some of the expressions as to the probable outcome of the battle with the Cubs were:

Jimmy Foxx—"I think the series will be very spectacular. We have the advantage in pitching."

George Earnshaw—"For myself, I'm confident of my ability to stop the Cubs. Bring 'em on."

Mickey Cochrane—"It's not going to be any pushover, but we'll give the Cubs a battle. I think we'll beat them, too."

Al Simmons—"We are going to win the series."

Lefty Grove—"Sure the Athletics will win. Who else would?"

Max Bishop—"If we get the kind of pitching we had all season we'll breeze through."

Rube Walberg—"I think we have the better ball club. If we didn't feel that way we would be licked before the series started."

Jimmy Dykes—"My idea is that it will be a six-game series and that we will finish on top."

Cy Perkins—"I think we are going to win."

Bill Shores—"The A's will win the series. I sure would like to get a crack at the Cubs."

SCALPERS' PRICES HIGH

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—World series tickets, a very few of them, still are obtainable in Chicago from scalpers at $35 each or $105 per set of pasteboards for the series. Two sets sell for $210—no reduction for quantity buying.

Speculators have few tickets, obtaining most of what they have from individuals who were lucky in the draw in the Cub office and who would rather take a profit of $55 to $75 for each set than to witness the championship games.

See the World Series games played on the huge electric scoreboard of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Grant street and Strawberry way.

A direct wire from the press box will convey a report of every play and every pitched ball during the series, and they will be flashed instantaneously on the scoreboard.

A World Series extra of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will appear on the street immediately following each game.

CARNEGIE SHOWS POORLY AGAINST THIEL

TARTANS' PLAY IS RAGGED —HARPSTER

By Howard Harpster

All-America Quarterback at Carnegie Tech Last Year, Now Coach at Shady Side Academy.
(Written Exclusively for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.)

Carnegie Tech made its first local appearance of the season at the Stadium Saturday and gave what was probably one of the poorest exhibitions of football that any Tech team has put forward in years. Although the team managed to defeat a fighting Thiel eleven by the none-too-large score of 26-0, the victory was anything but pleasing to the Tartan coaches and the Tech fans. Certainly the raggedness of the play and the lassitude of the attack gave the entire Carnegie horde something to think about.

Howard Harpster

Undoubtedly anyone who read my account of the Pitt debut last week will believe that I am trying to boost Pitt to the skies, while at the same time crying the blues for Carnegie. Such is not the case. It would be a joke to say that the Tech team looked good on Saturday; indeed, to express the views of the fans, it looked terrible.

Of course, the team wasn't expected to be running smoothly and at top speed in its second game, but the general criticism was that Carnegie just wasn't playing football.

POOR OFFENSIVE

On the offense, the line failed to open holes for the backs, primarily because it wasn't charging properly, and the backs who led the interference for the ball-carriers, led it all right, but when they got out in the open, they invariably missed the men they were trying to take out, a most important detail. Defensively, the team looked little better, and, although the tackling was splendid in spots, it was very questionable in others, while the defensive work against passes was not good at all, as is shown by the number of passes Thiel completed. Mitchell, a fast and accurate passer, did most of the throwing for Thiel and certainly did a mighty fine job of it.

Karcis started the game at fullback for Tech, notwithstanding the fact that he had practiced only a few days in the last two weeks. His infected hand did not bother him, but he showed clearly that his absence from practice has retarded both his condition and his playing. Only on one or two occasions did he look like the same Karcis who ripped opposing lines to pieces last fall. The two weeks between now and the W. & J., game should do much toward putting him back into his regular playing form.

McCURDY STARS

McCurdy, at quarterback, continued the fine work he started a week before at Wheeling and was one of the few Carnegie players to show anything above average. Although Mac made a few minor mistakes, which easily can be ironed out in a day or two of drilling, he gave a splendid exhibition of all-round play. His passing was very accurate and accounted for two of Tech's touchdowns. He handled the kicking end of Carnegie's play very well, doing all of the punting and receiving of punts without a slip. Again, McCurdy showed that he is a clever ball-carrier by making several nice runs for substantial gains. He is a real triple-threat man, and, with another game or two under his belt, undoubtedly will prove one of the Plaid's best players.

Aside from McCurdy's play and occasional flashes from Eyth, Armentrout and Slats Flanagan, there is not much to be said in favor of the Tech team's play, and perhaps the less said the better.

Coach Bob Waddell probably will hold some hard and extended sessions with the Tech squad this week and I believe that the team which faces Western Reserve at Cleveland next Saturday will be different looking outfit than the one that failed to impress against Thiel. Regardless of my belief that Carnegie was not up to form, my hat is off to the small Thiel team for the courageous fight it put up throughout the game. As scrappy a small team as ever played at the Stadium was this eleven from Greenville, and the last-minute goal line stand which Thiel made when Tech was within a few yards of the goal must have been pleasing to the Thiel coaches, for it again proved that he has a fighting bunch of ball-players.

W. VA. TOUGH FOE

Pitt had another field day at the expense of Duke University, and seems to have improved, if anything over the way it played against Waynesburg in the opener here. The steam-roller strength of Pitt, as displayed in its first two games, is causing consternation among future opponents, and furnishes added proof of the correctness of the conviction that the Panther team of 1929 is one of the strongest in the land. Next Saturday, Coach Sutherland's boys play West Virginia here and they should experience no difficulty in repeating the conquests of Waynesburg and Duke. It is a well-known fact, though, that the Mountaineers always play good football against Pitt, and they may prove to be the first opponent to give the locals a hard test.

The tie game which Duquesne University played with West Virginia on Saturday only serves to emphasize again the vast improvement that has taken place in football at Duquesne since Elmer Layden took charge two years ago.

Price, Todd Winners In Fort Pitt Shoot

R. G. Todd won the 200 off-hand match of the weekly shoot of the Fort Pitt Rifle Club on its range Saturday, shooting a brilliant 45. E. H. Price won class B honors with a 44, and A. H. Coleman captured third prize money with a 39.

The running deer match was won by E. H. Price, who scored a 49 and came within one shot of having a perfect count. Dr. A. B. French was second with a 45 and Scott Kunkle third, with a 31. Other scores:

Off-hand match—A. B. French, 45; M. R. Coleman, 44; T. C. Beal, 43; W. H. Schmitt, 41; P. C. Bradley, 41; F. C. Noss, 38; C. W. Freehling, 37; R. H. Heilman, 34.

Running deer match—T. C. Beal, 47; W. H. Schmitt, 46; R. G. Todd, 39; P. C. Bradley, 36; Charles Reed, 36; Edwin A. Freehling, 30; R. H. Heilman, 22; C. W. Freehling, 15.

LESSONS IN FOOTBALL

What is the proper way to place the ball for a kick-off?

Answered by

GILMOUR DOBIE

Football Coach, Cornell University.

The best way to place the ball for a kick-off is to stand it on end, perpendicular to the ground with the lace pointing in the direction the ball is to be kicked. One player should hold the ball in position lightly with the tip of his forefinger. When the ball is thus held and is hit by the kicker's foot about three inches from the ground with rather rigid leg and ankle the maximum distance is obtained. When a lower and faster ball is desired the top should be held forward. If a higher and slower ball is desired the top should be held back and the ball hit close to the ground.

touchdown. Bethany came back right manfully, beating Broaddus, while Geneva, unmindful of the tie played with Allegheny, defeated a strong St. Canisus eleven in impressive fashion.

Throughout the country things went about as was to be expected. Notre Dame opened up by beating Indiana, 14 to 0. Western Maryland, with Dick Harlow in charge of a smart and aggressive eleven, gave Lou Little's hopes of an undefeated season a jolt. Andy Kerr, in his first start as coach at Colgate, lost to Wisconsin, 13 to 6. Bo McMillin started right where he left off a year ago and was beaten by Purdue 26 to 14.

Butler gave Northwestern a battle; Penn found Swarthmore tough; Yale gave Vermont a terrific drubbing; Princeton scored but once against doughty Amherst; the Army and Navy won with ease and Pop Warner opened up his college schedule by erasing Oregon from the picture, 33 to 7.

Nebraska, whose scouts were visibly impressed by Pitt's showing, found Southern Methodist a tough nut to crack and was held to a scoreless tie.

Fans' Enthusiasm May Play Big Part In Series—Traynor

By Harold "Pie" Traynor

Captain of Pittsburgh Pirates.
Written Exclusively for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. — The 27,000 Chicagoans who saw the National League race draw to a close here yesterday afternoon have high hopes for their favorites when the new champions of the league enter into the bigger competition with the Athletics.

Pie Traynor

The spectacle of yesterday was a great tribute to the lovers of baseball in Chicago. The place positions were all decided and the day was not ideal for the sport, yet the stands were filled with a howling throng that cheered ordinary fly balls on the part of the home hitters.

This backing on the part of the fans was noted by every member of the Pittsburgh club, who realized it was unusual, and, as Manager Jewel Ens remarked "the cheer leading of the Cubs' backers may play a part in the coming games."

Lefty Grove May Baffle Cubs

Eastern critics who saw Larry French humble the Bruins on six hits began to speculate on what Lefty Grove might do to the Cubs. Grove is admitted to be he fastest southpaw in the game. Therefore, if French can set down the Cubs, what will Grove do? Well, there is baseball for you. Grove may emulate French, and then again, the McCarthy hitters may tee off on the brilliant pitcher.

The first game means a lot to each club and the breaks of this contest might influence the whole series.

The Cubs, by the way, appear to be close to perfect condition. They did not let up a bit as they played out their string. McCarthy appears to have used fine judgment in keeping his regulars moving at top speed.

Powley Signs '30 Contract With Giants

Harry Powley, star pitcher of the Verona Community team of the West Penn League, is back in town after a 30 days' trial with the New York Giants, and the best proof that the upriver boy made good is the fact that he has tucked away in his pocket a signed contract for the 1930 season with the Giants and will report for spring training.

Powley's allaround ability must have impressed Manager McGraw. In his first batting practice Powley hit a couple into the stands.

Powley's new contract shows a considerable amount over the contract tendered by Manager McGraw on September 11, and local fans feel that Powley has the ability to stay in the big show.

Gimbel President Wins Title at Longue Vue

James Hammond, president of the Gimbel Brothers Company, of Pittsburgh, won the Longue Vue Club golf championship yesterday, defeating W. E. McKinney, Jr., defending club champion, 11 and 9, in a 36-hole match in the final match.

In the semi-finals, Hammond defeated John Voditch and McKinney downed R. K. Hanson.

DRURY LEADS ICE INVASION

Herb Drury, veteran hockey star who long has been the idol of local ice fans, has arrived here to get into condition for the 1929-30 campaign. Herb spent the summer in Canada's big outdoors and is in excellent physical trim.

Drury, who visited fellow ice Pirates in the Dominion before coming here, says that Duke McCurry is not in favor of the deal which sent him to the Montreal Maroons in exchange for Toots Holway. Duke will be graduated from the Pitt dental school after another year of study and he will come here to finish his work regardless of the swap.

Frank Frederickson, new manager of the Pirates, and Benny Leonard, owner of the club, are expected here this week to map out the Pirates' training campaign.

respect. He has three other brothers in the ring, Pal, Joey and Babe, and all boast a good fighting reputation.

Some idea of the attractiveness of the Garden's reopening card may be gained from the fact that George Panka, nee Posipanka, the Homestead Hercules, a new heavyweight knockout sensation about whom the fans have been raving for the past month, is in the second bout against K. O. Blackburn, of Louisville, Ky., who fights under the banner of the veteran Jimmy Dunn, of Cleveland, who also handles Goodman. These two big fellows may steal the show away from the act of the twins, just as Panka did that little thing in his two recent appearances in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock. Panka now is a stablemate of Buck McTiernan, having recently signed a contract for three years with Bunny Buntach, manager of Buck.

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, who on occasions has boxed in better positions on Garden cards, meets Young Corsey, a clever hiffer from Canton, O., in the opening number, which is slated for 8:30.

FIRPO AT NEW CASTLE

Henry Firpo, Louisville middleweight, also a protege of Jimmy Dunn, boxes Harry Fuller, of Buffalo, in the 10-round main bout of a good-looking card at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, tonight. Pete Zivic, local featherweight, meets Cecil Payne, of Louisville—it's a big night for the Louisville exponents of the nose-denting profession—at Louisville. Pete left last night for the scene of battle. Al Fay, best of the three fighting Fay brothers, of Charlerol, tangles with Babe Hunt, Oklahoma heavyweight, at Oklahoma City.

Buck McTiernan, who has been on the sidelines several months because of his rheumatiz, is back in active training and will be answering the gong again soon. He is working out daily with George Panka and Bobby Burns, his stablemates.

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, is working on the completion of his card for next Thursday night. He has Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., who recently knocked out Tiger Joe Randall, against Tug Phillips in the 10-round main bout, and Ken Hargreaves, of New Kensington, against Young Angel, of Swissvale, in the semi-final.

GAYETY DICKER ON AGAIN

The Meyers Brothers' dicker for the Gayety Theater as a downtown boxing arena is on again and is said to have a good chance of going through.

An open amateur boxing tournament will be held in City Hall, Wellsville, O., October 28, under the auspices of the Hallowe'en Committee. Boxers in all classes are invited to compete. Entries must be in the hands of R. A. Wade, 555 Main street, Wellsville, O., not later than October 15.

The Foutts Brothers—Ray and Byron—will hold the first of a series of indoor boxing shows at City Hall, Wellsville, O., next Thursday night. They have Battling Gizzy, of Donora, against Frankie Kaeth, of Cleveland, in the eight-round main bout and Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., against Harry DeVore, of Huntingdon, W. Va., in the six-round semi-final. In two four-round preliminaries, Joey Long, of Alliance, O., meets Joe Follins, of Ambridge, and Poison Pizzone, of Wellsville, boxes Eddie Loos, of East Liverpool, O.

CORELLI AT CLARKSBURG

Joe Corelli, local welterweight, meets Frankie Palmo, of Cincinnati, in the 10-round main bout of a show at Clarksburg, W. Va., next Friday night. Joe Marlow boxes Dick Clark in the eight-round semi-final, and Jimmy Malone meets Ray Combs and Eddie Ammon opposes Jimmy Thomas in six-round preliminaries.

Promoter Francis Flynn, of the Moose Temple Boxing Club, announced this morning the signing of Walter Majeske, Saginaw (Mich.) welterweight, to box Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in his main bout next Friday night.

PIRATES WOULD DRAFT PAIR

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The annual meeting of major league club representatives for the drafting of players from minor leagues that have agreed to the draft system in complete or modified form will be held at the Drake Hotel, here, at 8 o'clock tonight, with Commissioner K. M. Landis presiding. Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss, representing the Pittsburgh Club, will attempt the drafting of two men if other clubs do not grab one or both players before the Pirate management gets a chance. The 16 major league clubs draw according to the positions in which they finished, in reveres order, the eighth-place getting first and second choices.

This year the American League gets first chance, and, as the Buccaneers finished second in the National League race, Pittsburgh will get only fourteenth choice on the first round and twenty-eighth choice on the second.

Treasurer Dreyfuss is hoping to get at least one of the men he wants although he has only an outside chance. Last fall the Pittsburgh Club obtained First Baseman Earl Sheely in the draft.

Army-Navy Game Plans Again Fail

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Secretary Good said today that efforts to arrange a post-season football game between West Point and Annapolis for this season had failed.

He added, however, that efforts were being made by himself and Secretary Adams to get the service institutions to resume athletic relations on a basis suitable to them.

He said he and Adams had discussed calling the superintendents of the institutions together to see if they could not work out a satisfactory plan.

Heidelberg, with only eight players in its lineup, defeated the German Sport Club, 2-1, at West View, and Canonsburg defeated Jessop Steel, 2 to 1.

Frisco, Missions Ready for Series

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Baseball fans fought over again today the final games of one of the closest finishes in Pacific Coast League history while the San Francisco Mission Reds and Hollywood Stars mapped out their strategy for a championship play-off beginning here tomorrow.

Winners respectively of the first and second halves of the split season, the Reds and Stars will meet tomorrow in the opening contest of a seven-game series to determine the 1929 pennant. A $6,000 melon from the coffers of the league will be split on a 60-40 basis. The first three games will be played in San Francisco and the next three in Los Angeles, if a seventh contest is necessary its location will be decided later.

BILL KILLEFER TO MANAGE BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—(INS.)—Bill Killefer, former manager of the Chicago Cubs, and who served as assistant manager of the St. Louis Browns during the past season under Dan Howley, today was signed to a three-year contract to manage the Browns.

The signing of Killefer to take the place of Dan Howley, who declared that he would quit the post last week, was made known by Phil Ball, owner of the local American League club.

Ball, president of the Browns, made the announcement in this statement: "We hope we have signed for the next three years a manager who will be loyal and not crucify his employer, whose hend will have control of his tongue, who can say 'yes' or 'no' on a trade and not leave himself an 'out,' and who will enforce the necessary discipline. He is William Killefer, Jr."

AMATEURS WIN

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(INS.)—Mark up another for the amateurs. In an exhibition match here for the war veterans' fund, Cyril Tolley, teamed with Jesse Sweetser, defeated a pro combination of Bobby Cruikshank and Tom Kerrigan, 2 up.

OLYMPICS, FIREMEN IN TIE

WHIPPETS LOSE TO BURNS BY 6-0 SCORE

By TOM BIRKS.

The big independent gridiron battle at Rainbow Gardens yesterday, featuring McKeesport Olympics and the East Pittsburgh Firemen, finished in a scoreless tie with 10,000 fans crowding into the enclosure.

Most of the other battles were hard fought. Burns had a tough time defeating the Charleroi Whippets, 6-0, the Goldberg clan scoring a touchdown in the final quarter with Sharon carrying the ball over. The Port Vue Quakers caught a tartar in the Marshall Tech gridders, a scoreless tie marking this game.

The Pitcairn Reynolds came into town and stopped the W. H. Miller Club by a 12-to-0 score. Arnold won its local battle with Natrona, 7-to-0. Oakland Community staged a sensational finish to nose out the Irwin Mohawks, 6-to-0 and Midland defeated the Monesson Olympics by the same score. The Midlanders getting their score with only a few seconds to go by means of an intercepted forward pass.

MINGO WHIPPED

West View found Mingo easy, running up a 22-to-0 score, with a large crowd on hand.

Much excitement marked the Olympic - Firemen game. When Referee Freizel started the same, it was estimated that the largest crowd that ever watched an independent grid game was on hand. The Olympics lost a good chance, in fact their only chance, to score when the Firemen held them for downs on the two-yard line. Toline fumbled on the play. The Firemen were practically the same. In the last few minutes Zoltac started throwing forward passes which loomed as dangerous, but no score was marked up.

MINNICK STARS

Minnick was the outstanding player in the Olympic line, Peck being in the limelight breaking up forward passes. He seems to have an uncanny knowledge of where pigskin is going to land. The teams will meet at East Pittsburgh, October 20. Next Sunday the Firemen will bring McChesneytown to the Quarry grounds, and this looms as the outstanding battle in the district. The lineups:

Hollywood Wins Second Half Title

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—Trounced twice yesterday in the last games, Hollywood's stars nevertheless coasted to victory in the second half of the Pacific Coast League's split season. The victors nosed out the Mission Reds, first half winners, by the margin of one contest.

Two Great Righthanders

—By HARDIN BURNLEY—

ON THE eve of the world series, scheduled to open in Chicago tomorrow afternoon, a majority of those who have played during 1929 with or against George Earnshaw and Guy Bush pick them as the pitching best bets of the Athletics and Cubs, respectively. At that, such a consensus gives only a shade to Bush over that other Cub righthander, Percy (Pat) Malone.

Many players and baseball critics think Earnshaw will shine brighter than Lefty Grove and Rube Walberg, Athletic mound aces, because the Cubs have been "death on Southpaws" all season. With the exception of Lefty Grimm, Cub regulars are righthand batters, and this, according to the games' orthodoxies, facilitates their ability to hit lefthand deliveries. Grove and Walberg may shoot that Chicago dope about the Cubs being "death on southpaws" for rows of goose eggs, but, until that occurs, the form critics expect most of Earnshaw and other Athletic righthanders.

While apparently off form during the early part of September, Bush is expected to return to his stride and be at his best during the big series. He and Malone are strong favorites among the Cub fans, and it is only a small majority of the players' opinions that gives Guy a slight edge on Pat as the team's best pitcher.

The Cubs purchased Bush from the Greenville (Miss.) team in 1923 for $1,200—one of the best of baseball's bargains. Experts believe he has not yet reached his peak. Guy has about everything—speed, control, curves and change of pace. To fans he's fixed in the mind's eye as the pitcher who all but throws himself down on one knee as the climax to his sweeping windup and delivery.

What a duel is in prospect when, and if, Bush and Earnshaw hook up!

Long's Sport Comment

ting only a long railroad ride from New York as a final warm-up for the initial clash tomorrow.

ONE thing certain is that Chicago will smash all of its previous world series records for attendance, and gate receipts. A comparison of figures shows the remarkable growth of baseball. When the late Frank Chance led his Cubs against the White Sox in the city's first titular contests in 1906, the total attendance at the six games played was only 99,845 and the total receipts only $101,728. The last world series in which this city participated, in 1919, drew 236,928 fans and $722,414. Eight games were played, best-five-out-of-nine being the order that year. The four games played in Chicago were witnessed by a total of 130,798 persons. The largest world series crowd at a single game here was 34,379. That total will be beaten by 10,000 at least tomorrow, and by as many more as can be packed into the park. Owner Wrigley estimates that the receipts of tomorrow's game alone will reach $225,000, more than twice the amount taken in during the entire series of six games in 1906.

Continental Oil to Enlarge Refinery

DENVER, Oct. 7.—Officials of Continental Oil Company have decided to materially increase capacity of refinery at Ponca City, Okla. Work will start immediately to triple capacity of greast plant which will increase output to 1,000,000 pounds a month. It is understood earnings of company are steadily improving and that profits in third-quarter were exceptionally good.

Bureau Explains Bull on Cotton

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP.)—The Census Bureau reported to the Senate today that additional safeguards would be employed hereafter to prevent a recurrence of an error in the last ginning report which fixed Georgia's ginned cotton at 300,000 more bales than actually existed.

The report explained the error occurred when a clerk placed the wrong figure on the state ginning card, and outlined precautions to prevent errors in the future.

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.

By These Idiosyncraies Shall Ye Know 'Em

BETWEEN routines of the new Cotton Club show, which he produced the other night, Dan Healy, one of Broadway's favorite sons, collaborated on these observations concerning the betterknowns who frequent New York's stay-up-late places. Healy is one of the reliables along the Grandest Canyon and even when he gracefully contributed to a Ziegfeld "Follies," he managed to find time to sponsor the floor productions for the Chateau-Madrid, Cotton Club and other local hotspots. They are jotted down here for your diversion so that when you visit the night clubs with your autograph album (you, pest, you!) you will recognize your heroes and heroines by these signs:

If she is wearing a Spanish shawl, it is Estelle Taylor.

If he yells for hot dogs, he is Johnny Weismuller, the swimming champ who came home with Olympic honors.

If she breaks out into the dance floor to greet a friend with a cigaret drooping from a corner of her mouth, it's Clara Bow.

If she climbs on a piano to sing, she's Helen Morgan, of course.

If she is eyeing the crowd through a lorgnette (and is at a corner table), she is Elinor Glyn.

If you hear a plump man shout "Hello Pal!" it's P. Whiteman.

RUDY OR TED

IF they are wearing large open collars, it is either Rudy Vallee or Ted Healey, and if he dances on his toes, he is Georges Carpentier.

The dashiest dressed woman in the [illegible] would be Peggy Joyce.

If he was with an arm on the back of his chair and breaks matches with one hand, it's a safe bet to wager he is Irving Berlin.

If a curley-headed man insists upon reciting something, or telling One Of Those Jokes from the center of the floor, it is Alex Carr.

If they are getting more attention and service than Pershing, Hoover or Jimmy Walker, then they are columnists.

If she has a mother with her, it would be "Peaches" Browning.

If he talks about Chicago, it's Ring Lardner.

SOME WILL BEHAVE

IF they are behaving themselves, they are West Pointers and pay their checks without a complaint.

If the most beautiful woman in the place is with a man, that man probably is Enoch Johnson of Atlantic City or Red Grange.

Army officers usually are in mufti and always keep quiet.

Naval officers are in gold braid and demand navy songs.

If, after two bottles of ginger ale, they start throwing clackers at the girl dancers in the revue, they are collegiates (ugh!).

If they flirt with the other feller's girl (when he isn't looking, of course), they must be collegiates!

AND SOME JUST WON'T

IF they squawk about the bill and tip the hat check girl a dime, they are positively collegiate, and if there is a fist fight in the place, it isn't a Broadway gunman, but a collitch itch.

If she sprays you as she talks, she is Texas Guinan.

If he is getting the biggest laughs, he is Jimmy Durante.

If he is protecting girls from obnoxious stews, he is Larry Fay.

If she displays a red spectacle case, she is Emily Vanderbilt.

If he is the only colored patron, he is Bill Robinson.

If he says he is bashful, but will sing, if you really want him to, then it is Sammy Mandell, the boxing expert.

THE ROUGH SPORT SCRIBE

IF you see a man who just sits and listens and never smokes or sips (unless it is coffee), then it is Damon Runyon.

If you hear a good looking brunette with a lot of beautiful large molars shout to Lou Holtz: "Ha'ya, Roy!" she is Frances Upton.

If you see a tall attractively gowned blonde giving A Certain Broadway Paragrapher a doity look, she is Edna Leedom.

If she has a stone on her hand that resembles a hunk of cracked ice, and keeps flashing it, it certainly is Mabel Boll.

If the woman with the poise and good manners fascinates you and isn't a bit affected, then it has to be Alice Joyce.

LOOK FOR BLUE SUIT

IF he has a blue suit and drinks absinthe, it is George White.

If she dances every dance with him, she isn't his wife.

If the guy with her limps and whistles for the talent he likes best, then it is Ruth Etting, whose records you adore.

If there is a long table surrounded by men, the guy who fingers a lock of his hair, and picks up the check, is the Variety editor.

If he pauses at every table, he is Morris Gest.

If everyone turns to admire her as she comes in, it must be Gladys Glad, Ziegfeld's highest paid charmer. The person with her would have baggy trousers and a depressing look.

If he passes his glass of brandy under his nose eight times before he drinks it and is busy getting other people plastered, it is Mark Hellinger, who this very moment is going crazy striving to think up a snappy comeback.

Recover Body Of Drowned Man

DOVER, O., Oct. 7.—The body of Irwin F. Stauffer, 27, of Dover, former member of the police force and a former deputy sheriff of Trumbull County, who was drowned in Tuscarawas River when the boat in which he and his stepbrother, Leo Byers, were fishing, capsized, was recovered by another stepbrother, Gene Byers, Dover.

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

(From Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

C. O. Ritchey, of Liberal, was granted a commission as notary public. Lately he was called on by a Mr. Vincent to perform a marriage ceremony. He readily assented and went through the performance to the satisfaction of all concerned. Returning home rather late his wife asked the cause of his late hours and he explained. She told him he had exceeded his authority. This startled him and the more he thought of it the more frightened he became. Finally he saw the walls of the penitentiary staring him in the face. He started to see G. H. Walser, and at the latter's office the following conversation took place. Ritchey: Has a notary public the right to marry? Walser: Certainly, if he finds a woman who knows no better and is willing. Ritchey: You don't understand me. Has a notary public the right to perform the marriage ceremony? Walser: No, sir. None at all. Ritchey: Is it a crime? Will I be sent to the penitentiary for this offense? At this point he fell backwards off the porch. It was finally settled that John Betz, justice of the peace, should be called on and that he should remarry the couple.

Citizen Committee to Aid Voting Machine Campaign

It is satisfactory to note that many persons politically prominent are active in the Citizens' Voting-Machine-Campaign Committee, just organized with State Senator Frank J. Harris, father of the voting machine act, as chairman. Senator Harris stated at the organization meeting that opponents of the voting machine were to be invited to a meeting at which Thomas Nichols, election commissioner of Rochester, would be present to answer puzzling questions that vex the minds of Doubting Thomases in the matter of voting machines.

It is perhaps natural that residents of this region, remote from districts where voting machines have been in use for years, should be a little hard to convince that the voting machine would be a remedy against crookedness, but former residents of New York and other states where voting machines are in use, and now living here, compare the cumberous hand-marked, hand-cast ballot in the same light that manual calculation of figures compares to that of a tabulator, or that of long-hand letter-writing to typing.

Looked at in that light Pennsylvania is a backward state, faltering at progress as represented in a method of voting that is an analogy to modern appliances that aid in the efficiency of large business offices, where mechanical helps assist in obtaining profit as well as satisfaction. In its marvelous system of good roads Pennsylvania is so far ahead of many other states that our residents look upon states less advanced in that respect with a superior eye. That's just the way New York, long user of the vote machine, looks at Pennsylvania on election day.

There is no way to cheat a voting machine. Votes must be cast separately and individually to be counted in its total for any candidate. There cannot be extracted from it a vote cast for one candidate with substitution of a vote for another. There cannot be alteration of the total cast for any candidate. The vote must be cast to count and when it is cast the record of it cannot be changed. Of course, it cannot reach out and shove back a "phantom" but it assures that every honest vote will be counted as well as that of the phantom, whose presence is a problem for the registration board and election board to take care of and has no bearing on the efficiency of the voting machine to keep elections clean and honest.

It assures prompt knowledge of the result of the balloting, doing away with the holding back of returns, such as has been frequent in some districts until it has been ascertained how many votes a certain candidate needs, and then to supply the lack in the tardy districts. Most honest voters demand it and the citizens committee should have little difficulty in winning others.

Symphony Season Here; Is Abundant in Promise

The increasing importance of the Pittsburgh Symphony Society in our musical life is indicated in the arrangements made for the programs to be presented by our own symphony orchestra this season. The first concert to be given—October 27—will have the veteran and beloved Walter Damrosch as guest conductor. Eugene Goossens, who has been here previously as guest conductor, will direct the orchestra in two concerts. Featured special artists are to include Pescha Kagan, Florence Austral and Albert Spalding. Our own Mendelssohn Choir is to co-operate with the orchestra in one concert and this should prove a happy combination from a local viewpoint.

Hence, it will be seen that for this, its third season, our orchestra brings a promise of richness that all its friends are confident will be abundantly fulfilled. The orchestra of the Pittsburgh Symphony Society showed improvement in performance during its first and second seasons, and for this it should be given the commendation signified in an increasing membership list, since the artist members have had to be both diligent and sacrificing of self-interest in their efforts to make their band one worthy of the pride of Pittsburgh.

The U. S. A. of Europe

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

PREMIER ARISTIDE BRIAND of France, is strong for the United States of Europe.

This is a splendid idea until you think it over.

"Bugs" Baer

By making Europe all one nation it would deprive ex-kings of a place to flee to.

It would simplify motoring. A Spanish traffic cop could chase you through France, Germany and Norway without changing his badge.

One good feature would be the elimination of baggage searching at international borders.

Our trunk was rifled so often by inspectors that every time it saw a gendarme it yawned.

A bad feature would be the election of a Pasha to the presidency of European states. He might bring his harem with him.

An extra session of an all-European congress would be great. Your A, B, C's would be coffs, buzzes and grunts.

They'd learn something about waterways and roads. The senator from Rumania would get sore because Norway grabbed all the harbor appropriations.

The distinguished colleague from Slovakia would hurl a testimonial inkwell at his esteemed contemporary from Portugal. It must be terrible to be a third-class postmaster in a Swiss avalanche.

They would also wise up about elections and campaign funds. It's getting so that you cannot even be sentenced to an electric chair without having some jealous opponent contest your seat.

Premier Briand discussed this matter with 28 delegates at a luncheon. Only the finest French cookery and rare vintage wines were served.

We do not know whether the cookery or the vintage was responsible for the idea.

So far as future results are concerned it might as well have been the wine.

The first battle will be over who's going to collect the taxes.

We pointed out once before that the constitution follows the flag and gets amended.

Europe might start out with a beautiful constitution and wind up with a handful of paper dolls.

Bible Passages

Be Just and Charitable

(Exodus 23; 1-13.)

THOU shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness.

Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil; neither shalt thou speak in a cause to decline after many to wrest judgment:

Neither shalt thou countenance a poor man in his cause.

If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again.

If thou see the ass of him that hateth thee lying under his burden, and wouldest forbear to help him, thou shalt surely help with him.

Thou shalt not wrest the judgment of thy poor in his cause.

Keep thee far from a false matter; and the innocent and righteous slay thou not; for I will not justify the wicked.

And thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wise, and perverteth the word of the righteous.

Also thou shalt not oppress a stranger: for ye know the heart of a stranger, seeing ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

And six years thou shalt sow thy land, and shalt gather in the fruits thereof:

But the seventh year thou shalt let it rest and lie still; that the poor of thy people may eat: and what they leave the beasts of the field shall eat. In like manner thou shalt deal with thy vineyard, and with thy oliveyard.

Six days thou shalt do thy work, and on the seventh day thou shalt rest: that thine ox and thine ass may rest, and the son of thy handmaid, and the stranger, may be refreshed.

And in all things that I have said unto you be circumspect: and make no mention of the name of other gods, neither let it be heard out of thy mouth.

New Day

HERE dawns another day . . .
Forget
All past days' folly and regret;
And only look ahead to see
How fair, how sweet new day can be!
Learn with what confidence ascend
The prayers that failed at twilight's end.

Now dawns the day that yet may bring
Your fairest hopes to blossoming.
Toil on in faith; by this day's noon
Life may confer the long-sought boon;
No more be downcast or forlorn,
New courage with new day is born.

The sunlight's glory richly lies
Along the grass, the new day's skies
Are tranquil as an inland sea
Cast off old bonds; be free, be free
To rise in strength of hope and will
And this day's promises fulfill!

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I OFTEN think of a fine hour I once had. I had been tramping over the mountains and night found me still ten miles from my mine, so I made camp.

It was pleasant sitting there by my little core of fire with the night stretching around me like a great tent and the smell of coffee and bacon mingling with the sharp odor of the breathing earth. Very quiet and peaceful it all was—

Presently an old prospector wandered into the circle of light. We had never seen each other before, but that does not matter in the mountains. He fished some hunks of corn bread out of his pack, I divided the bacon and coffee. For a long while we sat eating, resting after the hard day's tramp.

Then he lit a pipe, asked for a piece of rind to oil his boots and began to talk. In chance words at first . . . grunts and reminiscent chuckles . . . then in a steady stream. Talking becomes a luxury when you're cut off from it, weeks at a time.

Of course, he talked about himself. He was, I judged, about 60 and he had considerable to say. One could tell by the simple, detached way he told it that most of it was true. He'd gotten past the time when a man needs or wants to show off. He was telling his life as if it were a story he'd heard.

It had been a rough life. He'd been married twice. One wife had divorced him, one he had deserted. He had lived with another woman for six years without marriage. A good sort, she seemed, but one day he'd gotten restless and moved on. He had been a hobo, up to the usual hobo rascality. For some years he had shipped on freighters. He had stolen when it seemed necessary or desirable, and had served one short sentence.

Once, when he was still young, he had killed a man. Or he supposed he'd killed him. He hadn't waited to see. He had become frightened and run away. That was in Australia. He had never gone back.

But he'd done some good things, too. He had homesteaded a quarter section in Canada and farmed decently and steadily for some years. He had helped build a ship. He seemed to like the memory of that better than anything else. A ship was a fine thing to help build. You felt something when they launched her—! And he'd worked once, down in Arizona, to support a sick tramp he'd found in one of the "jungles" by the tracks. The man had crawled there to die but my visitor had kept him alive for almost two years more.

These incidents he told quietly, between puffs of smoke. Some of the incidents were pretty funny, som were fine, some were quite shameless. But he told them all in t same way. He did not analyze them. He made no excuse for them. They were things that had happened to him . . . they were part of the unwinding of the years . . . they were part of the unwinding of HIMSELF. He could not explain why they had happened. It was all a mystery. " simply let me look at the pictu e.

And, under the ., ll of that hour, I accepted his story exactly as he told it. Usually, I have decided enough notions about things, but it did not occur to me to judge this man. He was a stranger, passing by, and that was his story. He had a right to his story. He had made it and e would pay the price for it and get the good from it. That was all his business, not mine. If he could n t comprehend why he had done things, how could I? Why should I try? . . . Well, then, tnat was all there was to it. He ate my bacon and I ate his bread, we talked awhil then slept and in the morning shouldered our packs and went our separate ways.

Often since it has come to me that life would be quite a different affair if we could all take each other that way. As strangers, stopping for a while, ther passing on, each with his story—EACH WITH HIS MYSTERIOUS RIGHT TO HIS STORY.

Wise Words

A woman should always stand by a woman.—Euripides.

I remember that a wise friend of mine did usually say, "That which is everybody's business is nobody's business." —Walton.

The greatest object of the universe, says a certain philosopher, is a good man struggling with adversity; yet there is still a greater, which is the good man that comes to relieve it.—Goldsmith.

British Baby Automobiles

They May Replace Horses in the Army

TWO KINDS OF BRITISH 'CAVALRY'

The baby automobiles in this picture, recently tested by the British Army, may be used for scouting in place of cavalry. They are cheap, can go 10 times as FAR and five times as FAST as a horse and will stand rough ground, so it is said.

You can see how small the new four wheeled "cavalry" is, comparing it with a horse beside it.

Horses and automobiles both would amount to little in real war if a sufficient number of swift airplanes were used as low flying "scouts" by an invading enemy.

A row of horses and automobiles and men, such as you see here, if it were a mile long and a mile wide, would be wiped out instantly, men and horses killed, by dropping one single bomb with a deadly gas known to chemists.

Forgetting war, these little automobiles may interest you and interest especially the boys of the country.

An American inventor who has done important work in airplanes, has invented a small automobile of this type, an entirely new idea.

It is said that Gen. Wood, head of the Sears-Roebuck Company, will sell such little cars by mail for less than $200 each, shipping them in boxes that can be used for a garage. Each car will carry two people and do between 30 and 40 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

The result will be more complications in the way of congested traffic and a demand greater than ever for the higher priced automobiles.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up to feast on crumpets and jam and put on my new Norfolk to ride in an amphibian plane from the Hudson but at the last moment too craven and watched it take off with my dog aboard, barking joyously. Nor ever have I felt so spineless.

So on a bus top and put in to see Monta Bell's pent house on lower Fifth avenue. Then northward and prowled about the silk district on Fourth avenue and in a dog and bird store where I saw a Mexican dog weighing but 11 ounces, yet nipped me on the finger.

In the evening to a tavern for dinner and to a play meeting John J. Raskob, whom I had never seen before, and talked to Walter Howey, Col. Frank Knox and the ubiquitous Maury Paul. And at the curb Ring Lardner held out his hat like a beggar but did not fool me soever.

One of the gushing streets in the Ghetto's eternal boil is Ridge, trailing in disarray northward from the Delancey street bridge. It transplants slices of the old world with bearded patriarchs, wigged wives and shawled immigrants trying to adjust themselves to the new. Here modesty is stifled by necessity. Entire families on sultry nights move to fire escapes and sleep in loin cloths. An evening event is the arrival of street washers who turn the hose on naked shouting children, shrieking in a happy delerium. Narrow sidewalks are dotted with portable little stands selling penny drinks, penny ice creams and penny slices of watermelon. Woe betide the autoist who traverses the thoroughfare at more than snail-like speed. Streets are the children's playground and an offender will find himself in a shower of melon rinds, unripe fruit, sticks and stones. The Ghetto, displaying its acid little economics, asks no sympathy but refuses to be a target for curiosity.

A crack advertising solicitor in a small Jersey city was offered $300 to transfer his talents to a New York newspaper. He declined, saying he was receiving the same salary where he was. A week later the offer was jumped to $500 and he accepted. Until he received his first pay check he thought they figured on a monthly basis. It was by the week and he often sits up with a start in the middle of the night.

A musical comedy girl who, when the Flags of All Nations number is announced, walks out tautly in the manner of a tight rope walker, all wrapped up in the flag of Italy, was told the other day she had been selected to succeed the girl who had been Miss Columbia. Her artistic promotion overwhelmed her. She appeared for rehearsal next day carrying a lorgnette.

Fulton street is still the "deadline" for crooks. A Rogue's Gallery mug caught below Fulton is often whisked "up the river." And the most innocent person in the world idling too long in the Maiden Lane diamond district will find a bland and derbied gent on either side of him as quick as that.

In old Evening Mail days I used to stroll through Maiden Lane at the lunch hour and loiter before the jewelry windows. I had a nodding acquaintance with several of the plain clothes men, but they never lost their perpetual suspicion. When I loitered too long they always stood by.

New York doctors—at least two of them—are not prescribing so much rest and quiet to keep in condition. They are advising patients to live dangerously. One so advised must have sat back of me in the theater last night. He spent most of his time tapping time with his foot against my chair.

Fay King, the caricaturist, is devoting spare moments to studying whether the ear splitting motor horns sound like a gruff warning or a parting sneer.

And when she gets that all cleared up she might try to find out why waiters always flutter about a water carafe when you are not thirsty and look out the window when you are dying for a drink.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

SOME guys have got to cultivate the art of being kicked around. It wouldn't do, for instance, for a professional football referee to be too thin-skinned, or to get mad every time anybody calls him a fool.

There was a fellow in Chicago that was hired by some racketeers to beat up a person by the name of Smuth. The gangster come back to the office of the racketeers and turned in his gun and his card and his blackjack.

"I can't beat that little guy Smuth up. I tried it. You told me I had to start a quarrel with him and then wade in and beat him up. I can't start no quarrel with him. I called him a liar and a thief and a fool, and I told him he'd been caught stealing flowers in the cemetery, and even went so far as to mention that his grandmother stole the paper off the wall of the jail where she was locked up. He just looked at the floor and said, 'What can I do for you?' I can't get up much of a quarrel with a guy like that."

"No, that's a fact," says the boss racketeer. "I knew this bird would be a tough one to start anything with. He's the trouble adjuster at one of the big department stores."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

MOTHERS, are you requiring your daughters to assist you at home? Or do you follow the usual plan of mothers, and permit your girls to have a good time while you attend to all the work?

This is an injustice to yourself and harmful to the daughters.

Girls should have certain duties at home for which they are held responsible, and their good times should depend upon whether they attend to these duties.

There is no reason in the world why a mother should slave for a child.

It does a positive injury to the girl.

They are young and work will not hurt them.

The girls need experience to become good housekeepers.

Of course, you hope they may meet and marry some man who is able to provide help for them in the home. They may, but the chances are great that the man is not so well off. Even if they are so fortunate they should be familiar with every phase of the work in a home in order to direct valua

You thir kind to spare your daughters by allowing them to avoid housev you are not.

You are ng them to be lazy and not giving them opportunities to gain n they should possess.
